'OUR WAR NEAR AN END,' FINNISH RADIO ASSERTS

Hope Seen in Future Peace Parley.

BULLETIN.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 6.—Reports that fighting between Finnish and Russian troops had stopped some time during the day could not be confirmed at a late hour tonight. Opinion here was that such a development would be premature.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 6 (AP).—"Military operations are drawing to a close as far as our country is concerned," the Finnish radio announced tonight.

"Even tho war goes on between great powers, Finland will not carry on any longer than is necessary for her own safety and defense while it is realized that our frontiers cannot finally be determined until the coming peace conference," the announcement concluded.

Finland already has reconquered substantially all the territory she lost to Russia in the winter war of 1939-'40.

Deny Russia Presented Terms.

Earlier today the Finnish news agency had issued a denial of reports abroad that Finland had been presented Russia's peace terms on Aug. 12.

[American Secretary of State Hull said on Nov. 3 that he had told Finnish Minister Hjalmar J. Procope that the United States had learned Russia was prepared to discuss peace with territorial compensation for Finland.]

The United States on Monday had demanded that Finland get out of the war beside Germany against Russia or forfeit American friendship.

Yesterday this drew from the newspaper Sanomat the observation that the United States was thus seeking to open the Murmansk railroad to British-American supplies and release the Russian forces engaged by the Finns. The Finns hold a number of miles of the railroad north and south of Petrozavodsk.

Reports of Demonstrations.

[The British radio had reported 21 persons were arrested after a strong anti-German demonstration and that the Socialist minister of trade, Vaino Tanner, was asked by his party to withdraw support from the cabinet because of the continuing war.]

For almost two months there have been reports of imminent peace in Finland.

On Sept. 14, Vaino Tanner, minister of trade and communications and leader of the dominant Social Democrat party, broadcast to the nation that the republic was Germany's ally "only by accident and will not continue the war any longer than Finnish interests demand."

Never a Separate Peace.

In that same broadcast he asserted Finland never would make a separate peace with soviet Russia but that the country had "good hopes of peace in the near future."

He said that the Finns "are no party to a great war."

"It is for us an entirely defensive war," he said, "a defensive war with the aid of which we desire to secure our frontiers and a lasting peace. Whatever is needed to secure this must be done but there our task also ends."

After a trip to Berlin Tanner said once again that Finland would never sign a separate peace "with the present rulers of Russia."

Expect Reply This Week.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 [Special].—The state department would not comment tonight about the Finnish radio announcement of an approaching end of military operations against Russia.

Reports were received during the day indicating that the reply of the Finnish government to the suggestion of the United States that Finland make peace with Russia is to be made by the end of this week.

No Comment from London.

LONDON, Nov. 7 [Friday] (AP).—The foreign office declined to comment today on the Finnish radio statement that Finland's war with Russia is "drawing to a close."

Union Bosses Face 30 Year Prison Terms

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 6.—Union Leaders George E. Browne and Willie Bioff tonight were found guilty by a federal jury on all counts in the movie shakedown case. The jury deliberated less than three hours.

The two glum, red faced union leaders were led away by deputy marshals to spend the night in jail. Judge John C. Knox refused their attorney's pleas to continue their bail of $50,000 each pending imposition of sentence Wednesday.

Browne, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employés, and Bioff, his personal Hollywood representative and a former Chicago pander, face a possible maximum sentence of 30 years each in the federal penitentiary and a fine of $30,000. There were two counts of extortion and one of conspiracy in the indictment.

Judge Praises Jury.

Judge Knox praised the jury of 12 business men for their verdict and predicted it would have a healthy effect on the labor movement.

"It was a highly important case and I'm quite certain your verdict will let fresh air into a lot of union halls in this country," said the court. "All labor men will doubtless be glad to have their unions purged of such individuals.

"If union labor is to endure it must rid itself of men who stand ready to sell out labor when it suits their purposes."

Then the judge denied several defense motions to set aside the verdict and summarily dismissed the proposal to let the two convicted men out on bond. Martin Conboy, Browne's attorney, indicated he would address a plea for release of both men on bail to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Bioff Glowers at Jury.

Browne and Bioff heard their fate in sullen silence. The IATSE president reddened when the verdict was announced and looked up at the ceiling. Bioff glowered at the jury and nervously fingered a deep scar on his chin.

The jury went out at 2:47 p. m. [Chicago time] after hearing the plea of Mathias F. Correa, the 32 year old federal prosecutor, for a finding of guilty on all counts. The jurors filed in again at 5:04, their hats and coats in hand, with the air of men who had done a job and were ready to go home.

Each juror answered "guilty" in a firm voice when Henry Utterhart, one of Bioff's lawyers, demanded they be polled. The verdict had been announced first by the foreman, Paul D. Thorne, a telegraph company cashier.

Half a Million Extorted.

During the five weeks of testimony the government presented a number of moving picture executives on the witness stand to furnish a wealth of evidence that the two defendants squeezed more than half a million dollars tribute from four film compa-

Service Men's Hall Sparked by 1,000 Girls

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

One thousand hand picked Chicago girls, all with recommendations from their pastor, employer, or some reputable agency, swamped the Chicago Service Men's center at 176 West Washington street last night.

They stood happily in line in the rain, waiting to obtain their membership card and pin showing that they are entitled to enter the eight story building at any time. The building has a wide variety of recreational facilities. It also houses hundreds of eligible bachelors.

Get Two Photographs.

Miss Kay Nelson, executive secretary of the women's division of the center, said each girl will have two small photographs taken, one to paste on her membership card, the other for the center's records. This will serve two purposes:

Prevent possible saboteurs, moral or defense, from slipping into the center disguised as a lady.

Save Miss Nelson the necessity of looking the girls over each time they visit the center. On Wednesday and Saturday nights, when the big dances are held, from 400 to 600 girls attend.

Men Are Magnet.

The girls' chief interest is the men, of course, and most register merely as wishing to meet and entertain the soldiers, sailors, marines, and airmen. Others, however, volunteer as canteen or clerical workers or for some other task.

Terry Rose, executive director, said the center entertained 3,200 men last Saturday between 9 a. m. and midnight at dancing, archery, in the reading rooms, and so forth. The girls, ranging in age from 17 to 25 [none admit to being older than that], play a large part.

To date Cupid has chalked up a record of one wedding and at least six announced engagements at the center. Dozens of others are going steady. They do not include the young lady who refused to let a newspaper man take her picture last night because she was going steady with a civilian.

Wallflowers Are Scarce.

Girl wallflowers are few, since the men usually outnumber them, but the staff doesn't do anything about the few there are. Says it's the men who are supposed to be kept happy.

Here are a couple of endorsements:

"This works swell. The girls are exceptionally nice and get along very well with the fellows. All in all it's a good thing."

Miss Alice Canty, 17, of 8050 Honore street:

"It's wonderful. You meet fellows from all over the United States. Not that Chicago boys aren't nice, but we think it's swell."

She has visited the center at least ten times in the last month.

P. S. She goes steady.

SWEET NEWS INSPIRES PROSAIC TYPEWRITER TO METER AND RHYME

Press agent's note: "The Chicago Opera company will shoot a commercial perfume thru its ventilating system tomorrow night for the opening performance of its season."

BY MARCIA WINN.

To tell this simple tale in prose
Might be an insult to the nose
Of ladies fine and gentles rare
Who to the opera will repair.

For in the hallowed opera hall
[Of salmon plush and gilt]
The fragrance of a strange perfume
Thru air vents will be spilt.

[So wave the plume and sing the score and disregard all allergy;
You may not like the scent they spray, but, still, the stuff is free.]

O shades of Samuel Insull, Calvé, Garden, Patti, Duse!*
And what will John Charles Thomas
Think of this scented ruse?

[Abandon now your orchid, gardenia, and camellia;

O Melchior, Caruso, and Mr. Martinelli,
Melba, Galli-Curci, and Joseph Bentonelli,
Speak—can a singer hold that note
If perfume permeates the throat?

[Forbear to spray your hair, O men, with that sweet oil that shines;

O Verdi, O dolores!
O tempora, O mores!
Is vocal sweetness now so spent
It must come bottled thru a vent?

Spare Chicago Some Bundles, Charities Ask

The largesse which Chicagoans have distributed so freely and gladly in the last year to foreign war relief groups has proved a boomerang to Chicago charity this fall.

This was learned yesterday when what is known as the Big Five among the charitable agencies that collect old clothing and paper here reported that for the first time in their five histories they have united to counteract the flow of Chicago's gifts from Chicago to foreign causes. From their united effort, they hope to get a few bundles for Chicago.

These five are the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America, the Christian Industrial league, the Catholic Salvage bureau, and the Goodwill Industries.

58 Drives for Foreign Relief.

During the last year 58 separate organizations conducted Chicago drives for foreign relief, said Thomas H. Anderson, managing director of the Catholic bureau. These ranged from aid to China to aid for Poland, and aid for Britain to Red Cross aid for the world.

On top of these, which have caused a slump as great as 40 per cent in gifts of clothing and shoes to members of the Big Five, the Waste Consumers' organization now is conducting a national drive to get janitors and householders to sell their waste paper for national defense. This is reducing by 40 per cent the agencies' paper intake, thru which they give employment to more than 500 unemployed men.

League Supports Two Homes.

The Rev. William Seath, superintendent of the Christian Industrial league, blamed the plight of the local organizations on "bundles for everything under the sun." The league supports two homes for men, giving lodging to 450 men a night. He said its need now is critical.

"In our home we could use 100 overcoats right now," he said. "We need shoes, sweaters, and pants; need them badly."

William Harris, supervisor of collection trucks for the Volunteers of America, who collect clothing for Hines hospital and the Oak Forest Infirmary as well as for their home for men, substantiated this. He said collections have diminished by 35 per cent.

STALIN ACCEPTS ROOSEVELT'S LOAN; NEUTRALITY REPEAL FORCES WAVERING

Soviets Charged No Interest; At Least 15 Years to Pay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The state department tonight announced that the United States will make one billion dollars available to Russia under a loan negotiated in an exchange of communications between President Roosevelt and Josef Stalin.

The offer of the huge credit was made by Mr. Roosevelt in a letter to Stalin on Oct. 30. The letter was drafted by the President on the basis of the report he received from W. Averell Harriman, head of the American mission to Moscow.

Stalin's acceptance was prompt. He replied on Nov. 4. It is understood that Stalin stated Russia's need for the loan in the course of his conversations with Harriman during the latter's recent visit to Moscow.

Will Draw No Interest.

The loan is to be made under the lend-lease act. It will carry no interest and repayment is not scheduled to begin until five years after the conclusion of the war. Repayment is to extend over 10 years. Part of the payment will be in raw materials and commodities which may find a market here.

At present the United States has claims for almost 500 million dollars in public and private debts owed by the former czarist government of Russia. Under the terms of the soviet recognition agreement, concluded by the present administration in 1933, Russia promised to negotiate these claims, but closed the matter six years ago by rejecting the last American offer.

President Volunteers Loan.

Mr. Roosevelt broached the question of the loan in his letter to Stalin by stating that the delivery of military supplies to Russia, in the largest possible amounts, was being expedited in this country.

The President followed this assurance with the suggestion that, "in an effort to obviate any financial difficulties," one billion dollars be made available immediately under the lend-lease act "if approved by the government of the U. S. S. R."

The President's letter, according to the state department announcement, said the United States appreciated the coöperation of Stalin and his associates at the conferences with Harriman. The President gave "assurances that we will carry out to the limit all the implications thereof."

Stalin Expresses "Gratitude."

Stalin's reply expressed thanks for the President's remarks and accepted the offer of the loan "with sincere gratitude," according to the state department announcement.

There was no statement from the White House concerning the loan. However, the President continued his correspondence with the Red government today by sending a cablegram of felicitation to the soviet union on the eve of the 24th anniversary of the soviet revolution.

A year ago Mr. Roosevelt neglected to send a message of felicitation on the 23d anniversary of the revolution, his administration at that time regarding the soviets as an enemy.

Reversal of Aid Stand.

In making lend-lease aid available to Russia, the President reversed his position on help to the soviets. From the outset of the Nazi attack on Russia, he had insisted that lend-lease aid was not necessary for Russia because that country was well able to pay its own way. Under the original 7 billion dollar lend-lease appropriation, funds could not go to Russia.

The President reaffirmed this position at the time the 5 billion 985 million dollar supplemental lend-lease appropriation bill was sent to congress. Because of the President's statement, efforts to bar operation of the act to Russia under the supplemental appropriation received little attention and failed.

Beer Drinker Looks Thru Foam, Saves 5 from Sea

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—A pint of beer drawn at just the right moment won a coast guard inspector's thanks today for the keeper of "The Crown" at the seaside village of Sheringham. Landlord Charley Holsey held up the foaming glass for a critical look against the light. As he raised his eyes he saw a speck on the sea. Lifeguards, called as a result of his providential glance, rescued five exhausted Polish airmen from a liferaft.

'YOU ARE TAKING THIS COUNTRY TO HELL!'—WHEELER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), closed a two day address of more than eight hours' duration today with a solemn warning to his colleagues that if they voted to send armed American ships into the war zones "You men who follow blindly the administration's policy, you men who, under the whip and lash, are going to take this country to war—you are going to take it to hell!"

He continued: "I do not have any jobs that I can give, I have not any patronage, I have not any judgeships which I can hold out to any one. I have only the small power of my voice to speak to the senate from my soul. But I plead with the members of the senate today as I have never pleaded with them before; I appeal to them in the name of Americanism, in the name of constitutional government, and I appeal to them in the name of the mothers and fathers of this country.

"I am convinced that if the senate takes this step it will be taking a step that the members of the senate will regret the rest of their lives. As God is my judge, I say to the senate, do not do it! Stand up as United States senators! Stand up and vote your convictions!

"Senators are sent here to preserve the constitution of the United States; and the way to preserve it is to keep this country out of war!"

U. S. Pledged to Free World, Says President

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Sounding the ominous note that the American people have made an "unlimited commitment" to defeat Adolf Hitler and to rebuild the world afterward, President Roosevelt today declared the United States has not yet begun to make "substantial sacrifices" in the war.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke in the East room of the White House to 250 delegates of the International Labor Office, who had just closed their annual convention in New York City at which 33 nations were represented. The address was carried to the nation by radio.

In the course of his speech Mr. Roosevelt urged that labor and industry submerge differences and work three shifts a day for the defeat of the axis powers. He said world labor has a vital stake in victory over Hitler because the axis powers are enslaving labor.

All Must Work Together.

"The American people have made an unlimited commitment that there shall be a free world," the President declared. "Against that commitment, no individual or group shall prevail."

This declaration came at the close of a section of the speech concerned with "extremely limited sacrifices" which this country thus far has made. He said the country is beginning to feel the pinch of war, recalling that workers in some industries have been compelled to give up their jobs in order that essential raw materials may go to war uses.

"But with all this," he said, "we have not yet made any substantial sacrifice in the United States.

"We have not, like the heroic people of Britain, had to withstand a deluge of death from the skies. Nor can we even grasp the full extent of

A War Resolution!

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Rep. Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.] today introduced a joint resolution declaring a state of war to exist between the United States and the German government and authorizing the President to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and all its resources to carry on the war against Germany and to bring the conflict to a successful termination. Fish explained he wanted congress to vote directly on the issue and predicted it would end the actions of the administration which he contended were inching the nation toward war.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. M. E. Tydings has misgivings.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—With their slim majority threatened by uneasiness and wavering on the part of several senators, administration leaders today sought unsuccessfully to reach an agreement for a vote tomorrow on the bill to scrap the neutrality law and authorize an undeclared air and naval war against Germany and Italy.

Opponents of the neutrality repealer conceded that a final vote by tomorrow night is a possibility, but refused to enter into any unanimous consent agreement limiting debate or fixing the hour to vote. Some opposition leaders thought it would be well to postpone a final vote until next week because of the reported distress of half a dozen or more senators who have committed themselves to vote for the bill.

Feel Sure of 1 Vote Victory.

While publicly claiming a minimum of 53 votes and a majority margin of 1C in favor of the bill, administration leaders privately admitted that they feel absolutely certain of only 50 votes—one more than a senate majority of 49. One of the senators reported to be especially unhappy about his commitment to support the bill is Prentiss M. Brown [D., Mich.].

Another reason that some opposition leaders favor postponing a vote until next week is the belief that popular opposition to the measure is increasing and will have an important effect upon the house of representatives if given time to make itself felt. There is a possibility that senate committee amendments to the neutrality repealer, if passed by the senate, will be rejected by the house.

Senate Bill Opens War Zones.

The bill passed by the house would authorize only the arming of American merchant ships. Administration amendments adopted by the senate foreign relations committee would permit the sending of American ships, carrying American crews and war supplies thru forbidden combat zones prescribed under the existing neutrality act and directly to the ports of Great Britain and other belligerents.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.],

SLIM MAJORITY WAVERING; RUSH NEUTRALITY VOTE

concluding a two day speech, said he had "prayed to my God to give me wisdom and give me foresight to guide my footsteps along the right line, that I might not do anything to harm this great and powerful country of ours, which I love with all my soul."

Repeating his charge of yesterday that the people have been terrorized until they are afraid to speak out against war, Wheeler called attention to a dispatch in today's newspapers from Denver, Colo., which quoted Col. Early E. W. Duncan, commandant of Lowry field, the air corps technical school, as saying the 10,000 soldiers under his command would be forbidden to possess literature distributed by the America First committee or to attend churches whose pastors are opposed to war. The dispatch said military police had been assigned to enforce the commandant's orders.

Censorship of Church.

"Think of it!" said Sen. Wheeler. "Here in the United States an army colonel says to soldiers that they cannot attend church unless the preacher or the priest preaches what he wants them to preach! Is that Americanism?"

Sen. Bennett Champ Clark [D., Mo.] interjected that Col. Duncan's orders constituted an attempt to set up a censorship over the churches and condemned his conduct as "the most outrageous thing that has ever taken place in the military history of the United States."

"Col. Duncan should be tried by a general court martial and drummed out of the army," the Missouri senator said.

Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, assailed Col. Duncan's conduct as "intolerable." Referring to Duncan's statement that President Roosevelt is not in accord with the views of the America First committee, Sen. Walsh said:

Fears for "Freedoms" at Home.

"According to that doctrine, because the President is an Episcopalian, any one who talks Catholicism or any other religion ought to be barred from the camps."

Sen. Robert M. La Follette [P., Wis.] asked whether there could be any more dramatic demonstration of the proposition that "if congress breaches the neutrality act, instead of achieving the four freedoms elsewhere in the world we are going to lose all the freedoms here at home."

Sen. Wheeler quoted from a speech by Arthur Krock, chief of the Washington bureau of the prowar New York Times, who accused President Roosevelt of attempting to deceive the people by charging that German submarines attacked American destroyers when in fact the destroyers did the attacking.

"So, Mr. President, how can the American people put their faith and their confidence in the statements of their leaders?" Wheeler remarked. "How can there be unity in the United States when the American people are not getting information as to the facts, when conditions are being obscured, when they do not know how their money is being spent, whether it is being spent in Freetown [British base in West Africa], or in East Africa, or in India, and when they do not know where their submarines and ships are?"

Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] remarked that Constantine Brown, diplomatic correspondent for the prowar Washington Star, had well expressed the situation when he wrote that "Never in the history of the world has so much been kept from so many by so few."

Threatens to Quit Party.

Sen. Wheeler threatened to leave the Democratic party if it takes this country into war in violation of the solemn and repeated pledges made by President Roosevelt in the campaign a year ago. He charged that Frank Knox, secretary of the navy; Wendell Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential candidate, and Josef Stalin, the Russian dictator, all would "like to read me out of the Democratic party."

"Perhaps there are some Democrats who would like to read me out of the Democratic party, but so far as I am concerned, if you are going to take this country into war after making the promises that you have made to the people of this country you may not have to take me out or throw me out," Wheeler added.

Sen. Millard E. Tydings [D., Md.], who has not committed himself on the neutrality repealer, intimated in a colloquy with Sen. Wheeler that he has strong misgivings about voting to take this country into the war.

"We are not interested in saving the British empire or the Russian government per se, but we are interested in saving the United States of America," Tydings said.

"Thinking along that line, assuming that the Russian army should be defeated, or should make a separate peace with Hitler, and assuming that that would release a sufficient force to make a successful invasion of England a possibility, or an accomplished fact, for that matter—I do not say that would happen, but just making that assumption—what then would be the condition of our safety, with Russia and England out of the picture, and Hitler in full domination of Europe?"

Tydings said he believed and would bet that England could repel an invasion even if Russia should make a separate peace and the whole German army were free to attempt it. "But assuming, just for the sake of argument, that England would go down, are we subject to attack?" he asked. "That is the extreme picture and the only picture that would justify us getting into this war as a belligerent."

Roosevelt's Doubts Cited.

Wheeler replied that President Roosevelt, as recently as Jan. 6, 1940, said: "Even if there were no British navy it is not probable that any enemy would be stupid enough to attack us by landing troops in the United States from across thousands of miles of ocean until it had acquired strategic bases from which to operate."

Sen. Lister Hill [D., Ala.], who nominated Mr. Roosevelt for a third term at the Chicago convention last year, was the only speaker in support of the neutrality repealer today. The neutrality act, he said, "interferes with the delivery to Britain of the goods, the munitions, and the supplies which they must have if they are to survive and Hitler is to be stopped in Europe. It will interfere more and more with the delivery of the goods as our production more and more increases.

"How foolish it would be for the people of the United States to turn all our strength to forging weapons of war if, after forging them, we haul them to the seaboard and dump them into the sea! The only weapon of any value is the weapon at hand. We must forge and we must deliver.

"Needs No Invitation."

"Senators oppose the pending resolution because they say that to send our merchant ships into combat zones as now fixed under our neutrality law is to invite attack upon them by Hitler. What invitation does Hitler need? He has attacked our merchant ships in peaceful waters and when upon peaceful missions. Our merchant ships which he has attacked were not in any combat zone or either en route to or from such a zone."

Sen. Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.], previously regarded as leaning to the interventionist cause, told the senate that he would oppose the proposal to send American ships into war zones.

"Arming our merchantmen seems abundantly justified," said Brewster, "but sending them to the British Isles is a horse of an entirely different color.

"When, as, and if Britain is unable to man the merchantmen with which we are providing them to carry munitions across the Atlantic, then we must face the issue of our contribution of American man power, but it appears to me very little evidence has been presented as to why this step is necessary at this time."

COL. EARLY E. W. DUNCAN.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 6 (AP).—Col. Early E. W. Duncan, Lowry field commander, said today a mistaken interpretation had been placed on his remarks that he would class as out of bounds for soldiers any church whose pastor "continues to preach against true Americanism."

"I have issued no such order," Duncan said. "I might have to take some action if a church is used as a tool of political organizations or distributes subversive literature.

"My position is simply this: Any organization which undermines the morale of our soldiers is dangerous to our security, and I shall do everything in my power to prevent such organizations from indoctrinating my men."

Col. Duncan's order listing the America First committee headquarters in Denver as out of bounds for 10,000 soldiers at Lowry field and Fort Logan was made public yesterday.

TORTUOUS ROUTE OF 'NEUTRALITY' IN U. S. REVEALED

Act Originally Aimed to Aid Britain in War.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The first United States neutrality bill in 1935 was inspired by the British government to further its war aims, according to disclosures today in an authoritative quarter.

The Roosevelt administration caused the bill to be introduced in congress at the instance of the British foreign office but later abandoned an important feature of the proposal when threatened by dictator Mussolini of Italy with his acute displeasure.

The British, however, started something that neither they nor Mr. Roosevelt could stop. The neutrality bill as eventually passed and later expanded was satisfactory to neither Downing street nor the White House, because it contained the mandatory, non-discriminatory embargo of the export of arms to belligerents.

Ever since that setback the efforts of the British government and the Roosevelt administration have been devoted to whittling away the neutrality act.

Knocked Out Bit by Bit.

Their first big success was the repeal of the arms embargo after the outbreak of war in 1939. Their next victory was the lend-lease act which vitiated the credit and loan embargo of the neutrality act. They are now attempting the repeal of all the remaining vital provisions of the law.

In the summer of 1935 Mussolini launched his undeclared war on Ethiopia for thinly disguised imperialistic purposes. The British government was maneuvering in devious ways to check Mussolini's aggression, fearing the ultimate effect of an aggrandized Italy upon British interests in the Mediterranean region. The British deemed it vitally important to prevent Mussolini from obtaining oil and other military necessities from the United States.

A Blow at Mussolini.

There were conferences between the British embassy and the state department at Washington as a result of which a neutrality bill was evolved which was designed to prevent Mussolini from obtaining any war supplies from the United States.

At the same time the British were manipulating the league of nations to obtain similar sanctions against Mussolini by other powers. The aim was to bottle up Il Duce economically and wither his mailed fist.

The neutrality bill evolved by this Anglo-American collaboration was introduced in the house on Aug. 17, 1935, by the late Rep. Sam D. McReynolds [D., Tenn.], chairman of the house foreign affairs committee and faithful lieutenant of Secretary of State Cordell Hull. It provided that upon the outbreak of war between two or more foreign states the President was empowered to embargo the export of arms, ammunition, or implements of war "to such countries as the President may designate."

This was the discretionary arms embargo sought by the British and by President Roosevelt to line the United States up with the league of nations in imposing sanctions on a nation deemed by the league to be an aggressor. Under such legislation the President would be enabled to shut off export of arms to Mussolini while permitting continued export to Britain.

Before any action was taken on this bill in the house, however, the senate passed a neutrality bill containing a mandatory embargo provision. It allowed the President no discretion, but required him on the outbreak of a war to impose an embargo applying to all belligerents alike. Under this provision the President would be unable to withhold arms from Mussolini while continuing to supply Britain, if Britain should get into war.

The British didn't like this provision, nor did the President, who mustered all his influence against it. He soon, however, found himself beaten on the question. He couldn't stop the mandatory embargo.

An alternative was then proposed by the administration, again at the instance of the British. It was to limit the export of war supplies to belligerents to the peace time volume of each commodity. That would have meant that Italy, which had obtained only 6 per cent of its oil from the United States in normal times could have obtained no more than that amount to meet the vastly greater exigencies of war. The British, with an enormous normal importation of oil from the United States, would not have been greatly affected.

When Mussolini heard of this move he served notice on the Roosevelt administration that he would consider legislation of this character an unfriendly act, which is diplomatic language for a threat of war. Chairman McReynolds went to the White House to confer with the President on the crisis. He took with him Rep. Guy M. Gillette [D., Ia.], a member of the house foreign affairs committee, now Iowa's senior senator. This conference abandoned the export limitation.

An Undeclared War.

"At that time," explained Sen. Gillette, "Italy and Ethiopia were engaged in war—an undeclared war so far as Italy was concerned. England feared for her life line thru the Mediterranean. England, thru the League of Nations as it was then constituted, proposed the imposition of sanctions on Italy because of her conflict in Ethiopia; and Italy did not care a snap of her finger. The things that were vital to her were oil, gasoline, and motor fuel; and she could turn, and did turn, to the United States.

"Then the proposal was made—and I know what I am talking about—that in our neutrality law, which then had a hearing, we limit the amount of gasoline that might be purchased in this country by a belligerent to the percentage of motor fuel which that belligerent purchased in peace time, which in Italy's case was 6 per cent.

The Bill Is Rewritten.

"We were notified that if we passed that type of legislation Italy would consider it tantamount to a declaration of war. And we backed up and rewrote the neutrality act."

As eventually passed and signed by the President, the 1935 neutrality act contained the mandatory embargo—the antithesis of what he and the British set out to obtain from congress. Altho disapproving the mandatory feature, he did not dare to veto so popular a measure. He even took to citing the neutrality act as the shield and buckler of our immunity from war.

At the same time when the act came before congress in 1936 and 1937 for extension he endeavored to get the mandatory embargo removed and the discretionary embargo substituted. In 1937 he succeeded in getting some discretionary authority in applying the embargo, tho it remained applicable to all belligerents alike.

The British were greatly perturbed by the reverses they suffered in their attempt to get an act that would serve their war objectives. They sent Walter Runciman to Washington in 1937 to see if anything could be done to assure Britain a supply of arms and money from the United States in the event of a European war. Runciman reported the situation in congress hopeless, but that administration officials had suggested a means of circumventing the mandatory embargo if Britain got into war. Canada could remain neutral and therefore, being exempt from the embargo, could obtain military equipment from the United States and transfer it to Britain.

END OF AMERICAN WAY PREDICTED AS WAR RESULT

Attorney Walter F. Boye told a meeting of the Kiwanis club yesterday in the Hotel Sherman that if the United States is forced into a war that the people do not want, the conflict would mean the end of the American way of life.

Walter F. Boye.

He predicted such a war would mean the deaths of thousands of American boys in Europe and Africa, and, at the end, an exhausted world.

"I see indebtedness so terrific that it never will be paid," Boye said, "and repudiation in some form will follow. I see bitterness and intolerance in this country, and I see an economy which already is very much like the economy of Germany continued by our social planners in Washington for many years to come."

HUGH R. WILSON PREDICTS WAR IF GERMANS WIN

In the event of a German victory over England and Russia, the United States would be at war with a German controled world in a short time, Hugh R. Wilson, who was a career diplomat until his retirement last year, told an audience of 300 persons at Lake Forest college last night.

"It is inconceivable that we'd permit Nazi Germany to establish an economic hegemony in South America that would lead to political hegemony. We'd block it, the Nazi propaganda machine would be turned against us, and we'd be at war," Wilson said.

He served in the diplomatic service for 30 years and in 1938 was appointed ambassador to Germany. The same year he was recalled and served as an adviser to Secretary of State Cordell Hull until his retirement in December, 1940.

COLONEL'S LIMIT ON CHURCH GOING SHOCKS PASTORS

Say President Should Rescind Order.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Profound shock was expressed last night by Chicago pastors on learning of the order issued by Col. Early E. W. Duncan concerning churches of Denver, Colo.

Col. Duncan, as commandant of Lowry field, stated Wednesday, according to the Associated Press, that "if any pastor continues to preach against true Americanism by opposing the definite policy of the President, I will place his church out of bounds." Earlier in the week he put the Denver America First headquarters "out of bounds."

"If President Roosevelt, on hearing of Col. Duncan's order, does not have it recalled, then the Christian people of the United States will realize that the President himself has erased freedom of religion from his four points for the world of the future," asserted Dr. Charles F. Boss Jr., executive of the Methodist Peace commission, 740 Rush street.

"I cannot believe that President Roosevelt would permit such an order to stand which restricts soldiers of the United States in their exercise of free choice in the selection of a place of worship."

Dr. Albert Buckner Coe of First Congregational church, Oak Park, said:

"We in our denomination established a principle in general council two years ago that there is room for honest difference of opinion and declared that 'we agree to differ, but resolve to love.' We are not at war and have the right to express our opinion. Our people want us, as their pastors, to express our opinions."

Dr. Ernest F. Tittle, pastor of First Methodist church, Evanston, voiced amazement at Col. Duncan's order.

"It is hard for me to believe that Col. Duncan actually made the statement attributed to him," said Dr. Tittle. "If he did, he in the name of 'true Americanism' is violating one of the fundamental principles on which this nation has stood from the day of its birth."

LITVINOV NAMED AMBASSADOR TO U. S. BY MOSCOW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Appointment today of Maxim Litvinov as Russia's ambassador to the United States was regarded in the capital as a soviet move to promote a new era of coöperation between this country and Russia.

Maxim Litvinov.

It is expected the cool, crafty former foreign commissar, who came to Washington in 1933 to negotiate the treaty of American recognition of the communist state, will endeavor to lift the barriers of suspicion and lack of understanding which exist between the countries.

Litvinov's appointment was announced in Kuibyshev, provisional capital of Russia. He succeeds Constantin Oumansky, the youngest ambassador to the United States from Russia. The 39 year old Oumansky is now in Kuibyshev, where he will join in the management of Tass, the official soviet news agency. Litvinov is 65 years old.

New Deal Disillusioned.

The eight years of soviet-American relations opened by the New Deal recognition of the Red state are acknowledged within the administration to have been years of disillusion. The recognition failed to achieve the aims President Roosevelt had in sight: Growth of soviet-American trade and promotion of European peace thru amicable relations between Russia and America.

In the eight years relations between the United States and Russia have been stormy. The first sign that all was not well came when the governments began negotiations toward settlement of the public and private debts of 437 million dollars which were owed to Americans. Negotiations dragged for months and were broken off in 1935 by the Reds.

Trouble came in the same year when the Reds violated their pledge not to interfere in American internal affairs. The United States' protest against Red activities in America was rejected by Moscow.

Religious Pledge Violated.

The Russians also violated the promise of religious freedom given by Litvinov when the agreement was concluded. The latest evidence of the violation of this promise is the President's recent attempt to secure the same pledge from the Russian government, which also drew no coöperation from Moscow.

It was revealed during the investigation of un-American activities by a house committee that Litvinov never intended to keep any of the three promises on which he secured recognition of Russia. Dr. David H. Dubrowsky, former director of the soviet Red Cross, testified two years ago that Litvinov boasted he had put one over on the President.

Russian-American relations neared the breaking point when Russia concluded the agreement with Germany which gave the Nazis the go-ahead signal for the opening of the European war. Severance of diplomatic relations was considered when Russia attacked Finland in the winter of 1939-'40.

Now It's Against Finland.

On this latter question the administration has reversed itself. Now it threatens to sever relations with Finland unless she stops her war against Russia.

The state department has an interesting file on Litvinov which will not be brought to light to embarrass him during his forthcoming visit. The file contains data on his activities as a revolutionary, conspirator, agent provocateur, and the like.

Two Letters Are Exchanged—and It's a Billion Dollar Deal

Roosevelt's Offer

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Herewith is the state department announcement concerning President Roosevelt's proffer of a billion dollar loan to the soviet union:

"The following is a paraphrase of the text of a letter addressed by the President under date of Oct. 30, 1941, to Mr. Josef Stalin:

"I have examined the record of the Moscow conference and the members of the mission have discussed the details with me. All of the military equipment and munitions items have been approved and I have ordered that as far as possible the delivery of raw materials be expedited.

"Deliveries have been directed to commence immediately and to be fulfilled in the largest possible amounts. In an effort to obviate any financial difficulties, immediate arrangements are to be made so that supplies up to $1,000,000,000 in value may be effected under the lend lease act.

Suggests "No Interest."

"If approved by the government of the U. S. S. R., I propose that the indebtedness thus incurred be subject to no interest and that the payments by the government of the U. S. S. R. do not commence until five years after the war's conclusion and be completed over a 10 year period thereafter.

"I hope that special efforts will be arranged by your government to sell us the available raw materials and commodities which the United States may need urgently under the arrangement that the proceeds thereof be credited to the soviet government's account.

"At this opportunity I want to tell you of the appreciation of the United States government for the expeditious handling by you and your associates of the Moscow supply conference and to send you assurances that we will carry out to the limit all the implications thereof. I hope that you will communicate with me directly without hesitation if you should so wish."

Stalin's Acceptance

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Herewith is the state department announcement concerning Dictator Josef Stalin's acceptance of the President's proposal to advance the soviet government a loan of 1 billion dollars:

"The following is a paraphrase of the text of a letter by Mr. Josef Stalin under date of Nov. 4, 1941, to the President of the United States:

"First of all I would like to express my sincere thanks for your appreciative remarks regarding the expeditious manner with which the conference was handled. Your assurance that the decisions of the conference will be carried out to the limit is deeply appreciated by the soviet government.

"Your decision, Mr. President, to grant to the soviet union a loan in the amount of $1,000,000,000, subject to no interest charges and for the purpose of paying for armaments and raw materials for the soviet union, is accepted with sincere gratitude by the soviet government as unusually substantial aid in its difficult and great struggle against our common enemy, bloodthirsty Hitlerism.

Stalin Accepts "Completely."

"I agree completely, on behalf of the government of the soviet union, with the conditions which you outlined for this loan to the soviet union; namely, that payments on the loan shall begin five years after the end of the war and shall be completed during the following 10 year period.

"The government of the U. S. S. R. stands ready to expedite in every possible way the supplying of available raw materials and goods required by the United States.

"I am heartily in accord with your proposal, Mr. President, that we establish direct personal contact whenever circumstances warrant."

HARLAN BALLOT GUARD IS KILLED IN COURTHOUSE

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 6 (AP).—Bill Lewis, 60 years old, one of 15 men guarding uncounted ballots cast in Tuesday's general election, was killed by an unidentified gunman early today in the corridor of the Harlan county court house.

John McKinney, deputy coroner, said Lewis was shot five times in the abdomen and chest as he entered the courthouse upon returning from a restaurant across the street about 1:40 a. m.

As Lewis stepped into the corridor, some one fired upon him from the stairway leading to the courthouse basement, McKinney said. Lewis fell dead about 30 feet from the county court clerk's office where other guards were watching the ballot boxes.

U. S. Embassy Lacks Butter in Tokio; Shipment on Way

HONOLULU, T. H., Nov. 6 (AP).—They're short of butter at the American embassy in Tokio. At the request of Ambassador Joseph Grew, a consignment of butter was sent from here on the liner Taiyo Maru, which sailed for Japan last night with 456 Japanese returning to their homeland.

URGES KIWANIS TO FIGHT WASTE OF PUBLIC FUNDS

James P. Neal, public affairs chairman of Kiwanis International, urged Kiwanis officials yesterday to take the leadership in fighting unnecessary public expenditures. The council is holding its annual session in the Chicago Towers club to outline the 1942 program for its 2,200 clubs in the United States and Canada.

"We are in the midst of an all-out defense effort," Neal said, "and it is recognized that the tax burden will rest heavily on every one. Therefore, it is important that useless or unnecessary expenditures of public funds be avoided. Kiwanians should examine proposed budgets and attend and participate in public hearings."

Pointing out the importance of agriculture to the national preparedness movement, P. O. Davis, agricultural chairman, reported that more than 1,500 clubs were active in the improvement of urban-rural relations last year by promoting county fairs and stock and poultry shows. He urged that more clubs take up these activities, and also give programs on the conservation of soil and efficient farm production, coöperate with county farm agents and teachers of vocational agriculture and sponsor fall festivals and farmer institutes.

SEES LENIN'S CITY RED WITH FIRE ON BIRTHDAY OF REDS

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE LENINGRAD FRONT, Nov. 6.—From a 150 foot tower rising from a high hill in the midst of a pine forest on the old Finnish-soviet frontier I can see Leningrad burning. Without field glasses I can see a wide wall of smoke mounting from its southern suburbs. Thru an extra powerful pair of binoculars I can see tongues of flame eating up whole blocks of buildings.

The smoke is being carried by a light breeze along the southern shore of Neva bay. It partly obscures the great Orthodox cathedral in Peterhof, whose five slender, pear-shaped domes contrast with the five squat, round domes of another great church in Kronstadt.

As I watch from the tower, batteries of heavy German siege guns are bombarding both Leningrad and Kronstadt. There is no answering fire from the Russians.

Shell Holes Skirt Tower.

Kronstadt is only 11 miles away and shell holes around the tower upon which I am standing show that this spot is within easy reach of the heavy guns of both Kronstadt and Totleben, a small, heavily-fortified island northeast of Kronstadt near the Finnish side.

From the eastern point of Kronstadt, artificial fog [similar to smoke screen] spouts like a geyser and is carried down the bay, curtaining the island from the southern shore and screening a number of soviet warships, the remnants of the once powerful Red Baltic fleet.

Today, on the eve of the 24th anniversary of the bolshevik revolution, Leningrad is entering its third month of siege. In 1917 Kronstadt, upon which I gaze, supplied Nicolai Lenin and his little group of revolutionaries with the forces they needed to seize power in czarist Russia.

Sailors Killed Officers.

After running amuck off Kronstadt and killing all their officers, the sailors of the imperial Russian fleet steamed over to St. Petersburg—now Leningrad—and helped inaugurate the reign of terror which butchered the upper and middle classes of Russia.

Now, 24 years afterward, Kronstadt sailors, crews of ships put out of commission by the Finnish and German attacks, are fighting in the trenches before Leningrad. Prisoners from many naval units have been captured. They blame insufficiently trained and educated officers for the disastrous defeat suffered by the Red fleet.

It is reported here that supplies are running low in Leningrad. No bread is being sold to the civilian population. Soldiers in the front lines get only 600 grams [a little more than a pound] of black bread daily, supplemented solely by bean soup for breakfast and supper.

FLOUR MILL HEAD DIES.

Anna, Ill., Nov. 6 [Special].—William F. Bruchhauser, aged 67, senior member of the Phoenix Flour Milling company, operated by the three brothers, died here today following a long illness. His father, the late William Bruchhauser, a German immigrant who settled in St. Louis in 1873 established the milling firm here in 1885.

ARMY TO TRAIN ARTILLERYMEN AT FASTER CLIP

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—A great increase in the number of officers trained in the field artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla., was announced today by Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson.

Motor maintenance officers will be trained at four times the present rate, Stimson said, and battalion commanders and communications officers at twice the present rate.

The new program, Stimson said, was "an index to the change in the function of modern artillery, whose mobility has been increased along with coördination with attacking troops." Instead of taking fixed positions, he noted, artillery had become highly mobile, and anti-tank guns "particularly must move fast."

'FREE FRENCH' AIR RAIDS ON FRANCE BARED BY VICHY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 6.—Two planes bearing the French emblem and the De Gaulle cross have twice bombed trains and villages in Normandy, killing two persons, it was announced tonight. The planes were said to have destroyed a passenger car. The attacks on the villages were reported made from a low altitude.

Marshal Petain sent a message today to a French unit which has joined the German army in the war against Russia. The message said the French volunteers were defending France and French military honor in a German-led "crusade."

"In participating in this crusade," he said, "you are contributing to our avoidance of the bolshevik peril."

SPANISH WAR VETERAN DIES.

NAZIS INTENSIFY NIGHT RAIDS ON 2 ENGLISH AREAS

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—German raiders in greater numbers than for several weeks attacked East Anglia and southeast England tonight. Casualties were said to be few and damage slight. Other raiders were reported over southwest England.

The air ministry said British flyers lost three planes and shot down the same number in a daylight offensive against German barges and gun positions near Dunkirk. Last night eight bombers were lost in a raid on German shipping off the Frisian islands.

Germany's largest warship, the Tirpitz, one of three battleships remaining to the reich after her sister ship, the Bismarck, was sunk by the British last May, was damaged in a Russian air raid on Danzig last Monday, according to a British press report from Stockholm.

Four Planes Bagged; Nazis.

BERLIN, Nov. 6 (AP).—DNB, official German news agency, reported that four British planes had been shot down today in fighting over the English channel. Eleven were said to have been bagged yesterday, after which German planes bombed the port of Falmouth.

RETIRED GRAVEL MAN DIES.

Cites Absence of British and U. S. Armies.

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—Russia's setbacks at the hands of the German army were laid by Premier Josef Stalin today primarily to the fact that no second front had been opened in Europe by Great Britain—or the United States.

"What is the cause of the temporary lack of success of the Red army?" Stalin inquired in a speech before the supreme soviet on the eve of the 24th anniversary of the bolshevik revolution. Then he said:

"One of the causes is definite lack of a second front in Europe against the German Fascists. The matter is that at the present time on the European continent there are no armies of Great Britain or the United States conducting war against the German Fascist armies.

Keeps Nazis Intact.

"Therefore, the Germans need not divide their forces to conduct a war on two fronts—on the west and in the east. This situation enables the Germans to send all their forces and the forces of their European allies to the east against the soviet union, because they consider their rear secure in the west.

"This situation is such that our country leads a war of liberation alone against the united strength of the Germans, Rumanians, Italians, Finns, and Hungarians. . . . There is no doubt that lack of a second front in the west considerably improves the position of the German army.

"Neither can there be any doubt that establishment of a front on the European continent, which under the present circumstances would undoubtedly be effective, would considerably ease the position of the Red army."

Vows Destruction of Hitler.

Stalin conceded the importance of increasing British and American material aid, however, and defiantly vowed that the Red army would yet destroy Adolf Hitler's Nazis "to the very last man."

Stalin next listed as reasons for Russian reverses a numerical insufficiency of tanks and planes. With enough of these, he said confidently, "the Red army would have defeated the German army long ago."

Already 4,500,000 of the invaders have been killed, wounded, or captured, he declared, compared with Russian losses of 350,000 killed, 378,000 missing, and 1,020,000 wounded, and, "it is unnecessary to add that the blitzkrieg has failed."

Promises War of Destruction.

"If the Germans want a war of destruction, they will certainly get it," he stated as he denounced the "Hitlerite madmen" who were Russia's official friends from August, 1939, to last June 22, when the German invasion began.

Stalin acknowledged the grievous losses of Russian territory, saying:

"The enemy has taken a large part of the Ukraine, White Russia, Moldavia, Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, and a number of other parts of our country. The German Fascist invaders are plundering our country. They are seizing the best lands of our peasants and our women and children.

"The enemy is throwing ever new forces into the front, making every effort to seize Leningrad and Moscow, for he knows that winter will be bad for him."

Sees Russia Unlike France.

Clearly, he said, "any other state having the losses in territory that we have had at the present time would not have withstood it, but would have fainted away."

This, declared Stalin proudly, was just another case of the Germans' miscalculation of "having overestimated their own strength and underestimated our resistance."

Russia, he went on, was not like France.

"The French government allowed themselves to be frightened by the specter of revolution. They went on their knees to Hitler and refused to defend their own country."

In tanks and planes the Germans are numerically superior, he admitted, but attributed this to use of factories in conquered countries. In quality, he said, Russian tanks, planes, and personnel had proved themselves superior to the Nazis.

Says Morale High.

The Red army's morale is infinitely higher than that of the German army, Stalin asserted, and the soviet rear has never been so strong as it is at this moment.

"Our army operates among its own people, it enjoys the continued support of its rear, which insures it supplies of arms, munitions, and foodstuffs," Stalin said, while the Germans have been forced to build new bases on unfriendly soil.

"It appears that the German policy of frightening with the specter of revolution has exhausted itself and is no longer of any use in the new situation. And not only is it of no use but it is also dangerous in some respects. War will have a directly opposite result. Hitler's position is not stable; his rear is not stable because of the firm stand of our Red army. Here, also, Hitler miscalculated."

Comparing Hitler's régime to that of the czars of old Russia, Stalin said, "Hitlerism is the replica of reactionary régimes which have existed thruout centuries. It is a party of robbery, reaction, and obstructionism.

"Hitler's instructions to his people are: 'If we can only achieve our aims by killing and plunder, we will kill and plunder.' No moral reasons restrain Hitler.

"Hitler tells his people that if his imperialistic plans are to be successful they must crush the soviet people."

No Territorial Aims.

Russia, on the other hand, "does not aim at conquering other territory," he said.

"Our first aim is to free our own territory.

"Our second aim is to free the enslaved peoples of Europe and then allow them to decide their own fate without any outside interference in their internal affairs. . . . We are for the deliverance of all oppressed peoples from Hitler's tyranny."

Stalin asserted that the flight of Rudolf Hess, deputy Nazi Fuehrer, to Scotland last May was an attempt to bring Britain and the United tSates into a war against Russia.

"Despite the efforts of Hess," he said, "not only did Britain and America not join the campaign of the German Fascist invaders against our country, but on the contrary found themselves in the same camp as the soviet union, against Hitlerite Germany."

As heard in London, Stalin's opening remarks were drowned out by applause of the supreme soviet and by interference which listeners said was from the German radio.

In this session the soviet reëlected Stalin, Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, and others of the present ruling group to the presidium, chief governing body of the U. S. S. R.

Street Cars Collide in Tunnel

Brakes Let Go

Eight passengers were injured and more than 100 others were shaken up yesterday morning in a collision between two street cars in the Washington street tunnel between Franklin and Clinton streets. Both cars were east bound on the Milwaukee avenue line.

The first car had reached the top of the incline at Franklin street when it was halted by traffic. The motorman, George Mueller, said that he tried to set his brakes, but they failed to hold and the car started sliding back into the tunnel. Patrick Hoban, motorman of the second car, which was some 200 feet behind, reversed his controls and was moving to the bottom of the tunnel when the first car crashed into the second.

Thomas Farrell, conductor of the first car, had sent passengers from the rear platform to the forward part when he saw the imminent crash. The rear end of the first car and the front of the second were smashed in the collision.

SERBS' PREMIER ASKS GUERRILLAS TO STOP FIGHTING

ZAGREB, Axis-Occupied Jugo-Slavia, Nov. 6 (AP).—Serb Premier Milan Nedic has appealed to Serbs hiding out in forests and mountains to put down their weapons because "we know that for every German head hundreds of Serbs are executed." The appeal was made in a radio address at Belgrade Nov. 3, word of which reached here today.

Nedic listed seven Serb towns which he said were destroyed as a result of fighting with rebellious Serbs, mostly in an area some 60 to 90 miles south of Belgrade. They were Kraljevo, Kragujervac, Krusevac, Rudniak, Pocerina, and Macva.

Claim 340,000 Serbs Slain.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 4 (AP).—[Delayed.]—Officials of the Serbian Orthodox church have issued a written statement asserting that about 340,000 Serbian men, women, and children have been massacred in Croatia and Bosnia since the German occupation of Jugo-Slavia. [These figures have not been confirmed by other sources.]

British Warcraft Manned by 'Crew of Heroes' Sunk

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The British corvette Gladiolus, which had a ship's company of heroes, has been sunk, the admiralty announced today. Among her crew were the holders of one distinguished service order, two distinguished service crosses, four distinguished service medals, and six officers and men had been mentioned in despatches. She was commanded by Lieut. Comm. H. M. C. Sanders, twice decorated for bravery for fighting German U-boats. The Gladiolus destroyed two enemy submarines and participated in many other encounters.

200,000 Poles Reported Joining Army in Russia

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Prof. Stanislaw Grabski, former Polish minister of education, recently released after two years in a soviet jail, told newspaper men in London today that 200,000 Poles are joining the Polish army now being formed in Russia. "When I was leaving Russia for Britain," he said, "Wladyslaw Anders, Polish commander in chief, had many thousands of fully trained if undernourished and exhausted men at his immediate disposal. Their spirits are fine."

Britain Opens 'Forbidden' Areas on South, East Coasts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—"Forbidden areas" on Britain's south coast from Hastings to Little Hampton and on the east coast between The Wash and the Thames river have been opened to visitors until Feb. 15. Observers believe this indicates that officials have no serious fears of invasion.

'SUPERMEN' FAIL IN CABINET, SAYS BRITISH PAPER

Renews Clamor for 'New Blood' in Government.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Britain's cabinet of "supermen" appears to have "fallen down on the job," the weekly newspaper Cavalcade declared today in a renewed demand for the appointment of a single minister to take over all wartime production and for other drastic changes in Prime Minister Churchill's war team as well as in parliament.

Despite the fact Churchill already has turned down the proposal to name a production chief, the newspaper said the prime minister is "inclined to agree that one man could hardly do worse than has been accomplished by the lot."

Dissatisfied with Parliament.

Advocating the introduction of younger men into parliament, which has voted itself into power for the duration of the war and now is reported considering a plan to keep office for three years after the war, the paper said:

"There can no longer be any denying that the country is profoundly dissatisfied with the parliamentary setup. The present parliament is now entering its seventh year, and as the party truce prohibits the importation of new blood, the older it gets the more helpless it becomes. It was dim-eyed and doddery even before the war. Had the members been informed and alert there would probably have been no war."

Average Age 51.

To support its contention that there are too many old men in the cabinet and in parliament, Cavalcade asserted that the average age of the leading ministers is 51.

"The average age in the house of commons, whence the opposition should come," it declared, "is even higher than in the cabinet. Men of this age cannot infuse democracy with the vitality necessary to surmount its greatest task."

The Evening News also joined in the criticism, declaring that the cry for new blood in the government has taken on a tenseness during the last two weeks "which the government could not ignore even if it wished to."

MASONIC LEADER DIES.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6 [Special].—Harry M. Belt, 76 years old, grand master of Iowa Masons in 1927, a retired interior decorator and designer, died here yesterday. He had served as commander of two Des Moines Masonic orders. One sister survives.

F. D. R. ON SOVIET DICTATORSHIP

President Roosevelt in an address to the American Youth Congress in Washington on Feb. 10, 1940, said:

"The soviet union, as a matter of practical fact, known to you and known to all the world, is a dictatorship as absolute as any other dictatorship in the world. It has allied itself with another dictatorship and it has invaded a neighbor (Finland) so infinitesimally small that it could do no injury to the soviet union, and seeks only to live in peace as a democracy, and a liberal and forward looking democracy at that."

GOEBBELS TO TELL NAZIS THEY FACE RELENTLESS WAR

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The German people must resign themselves to a "hard and relentless" war, and if it is lost, the Germans will face an "inferno besides which all past hardships will pale." Thus Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister, will paint the German future in an article to be published here next week.

Banishing the once popular notion of a quick and comfortable victory, Goebbels' essay will demand "a gigantic expense of national strength from which no one can be spared" for the continuation of hostilities.

The article already is the subject of comment by informed German circles, who call it the "most realistic" and "most sober" outline of German prospects since the war began.

2 TURKISH SHIPS SUNK BY SUBS IN BLACK SEA RAIDS

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Nov. 5 [Delayed]—(AP).—Shipping circles said today a Turkish cargo ship of 125 tons, carrying products to Burgas, Bulgaria, for transshipment to Germany, was sunk Monday by a Russian submarine operating in the Black sea off the Turkish coast. Another ship was reported sunk on the same route since that time, but no particulars were given.

[The Ankara radio reported Wednesday night that the Turkish torpedo boat Kenah Dere had been sunk by an unidentified submarine in the Bosporus straits after the crew had been put ashore.]

The cargo ship was sunk by shellfire from the submarine after its crew of five had embarked in a lifeboat.

BRITISH PRESS SAYS IT ALSO WANTS 2D FRONT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 7 [Friday].—Comment on the speech of Josef Stalin in this morning's British newspapers is rather weak, altho newspapers carry long front page reports under streamer headlines emphasizing his demand for a second front.

Referring to this point, the Daily Telegraph says:

"We also have wished for the war to be fought on two fronts, and if it had been a two front war from the first spring of the Nazi wolf, it's end would have come sooner."

The Daily Mail said that "if we look elsewhere than in the west, it may well be that his expectations may soon be fulfilled."

The Daily Herald stresses the need of America and Britain keeping Russia supplied. "Our part and America's," it states, "is that of the donor in a blood transfusion."

The News Chronicle declares that "when the time comes, we must help Russia make good the material losses she has suffered in the joint cause."

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, on behalf of the government pledged the country's utmost support in a message to Russia on the occasion of the soviet's 24th national day.

REDS PUSH MAJOR COUNTER-DRIVE BEFORE MOSCOW

Claim Big German Force Thrown Into Retreat.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, Nov. 6 (AP).—The Red army was reported tonight to be pressing a major counterattack in the direction [area] of Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of Moscow, advancing as much as three miles at one point and throwing a large German force into retreat.

Military dispatches said the German 10th tank division and the 69th and 86th mechanized regiments were falling back, leaving position after position in the hands of the Russians. The pressure of combined infantry, cavalry, artillery, and air force attacks was said to be forcing the German retreat.

The Russians launched the counterattack at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, the dispatches said. The Red troops were reported to have continued the advance after occupying a number of towns.

[A Moscow communique said 56 German planes were destroyed on Thursday against a loss of 17 Russian planes, 34 of the Nazi planes being shot down near Moscow. The Germans said that in a 24 hour period the score was: 55 soviet planes shot down to 3 German.]

Hear Nazis Reduce Planes.

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—Adolf Hitler has withdrawn most of his planes from the Moscow and Leningrad fronts for the winter, thus substantially confessing his failure to take those major objectives, informed sources declared today.

Moreover, it was added, he faces the necessity of bleeding his southern armies heavily against a strong Russian defense that is likely to hold Sevastopol in the Crimea indefinitely.

This was the most hopeful estimate of the Russian position to come from London quarters in weeks.

Reports of the departure of the majority of Hitler's aerial squadrons from the Moscow and Leningrad theaters, leaving the German ground forces there probably limited to a mere defensive winter campaign, coincided with indications that, particularly before the capital the Nazis were being hard put to hold what ground they had.

Beat Back Swarms of Tanks.

General soviet counterattacks on the Moscow front were said to have put German communications, one of the greatest objectives of such a drive, in chaos.

Specifically in the sector 57 miles west of Moscow, about Mozhaisk, Russian artillery fire was declared to be beating back swarms of German tanks.

On the left flank of the Moscow front, that is somewhere to the southwest, the strongest of all these Russian drives apparently was reaching the proportions of a sustained counteroffensive. It was said that for the fourth successive day the Nazis were being pushed back and that the rear guard of their retreat was being annihilated.

The soviet likewise apparently held the initiative in the Donetz basin, presumably somewhere north or west of the approaches to Rostov on the River Don.

[A British broadcast heard in America said the German advance was being held up short of Voroshilovgrad, described in the broadcast as the "most important industrial city of the Donetz basin." Voroshilovgrad, 70 miles east of the German-captured Stalino and Makeevka area, is almost directly north of Rostov.]

SUSPECT SEIZED FOR QUESTIONING IN GANG MURDER

Carmen [Blubber] Carducci, 1022 South Winchester avenue, was seized by Racine avenue police last night for questioning about the murder of Tony Christiano, 21 years old, who was shot four times and thrown into an alley on Oct. 23.

Christiano, a neighborhood tough, told police "Blubber shot me" before he died in the county hospital. He lived at 1112 South Winchester avenue. He was found in the alley at the rear of 1820 Erie street.

Policemen Edward Mangan, Frank Czech, and John Sammons arrested Carducci at Taylor street and Western avenue. He refused to make a statement and will be questioned at the state's attorney's office today.

President Asks 30 Million More Bonneville Funds

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today for an immediate appropriation of 30 million dollars for additional construction for the Bonneville power transmission system. He said the funds were needed to accelerate construction of the distribution system to provide power to meet arms industry demands.

REDS WITHDRAW TO MOUNTAINS OF CRIMEA—BERLIN

Take to Trenches for Fight Against Germans.

BERLIN, Nov. 6 (AP).—Russia's Crimean defenders retired into the fastnesses of the 80-mile-long Yaila mountain range tonight, pursued by German and Rumanian troops "who defeated isolated forces and pushed thru on a broad front to the Black sea coast between Yalta and Feodosiya [Theodosia]," the German high command announced.

"In the mountains east of Sevastopol the enemy resistance also is broken," the communique added.

Thus, for another day, German reports focused attention on the Crimea. Other operations were mentioned only in the report of a light air attack on Moscow, on Gorki, 250 miles to the east, and on Leningrad.

Bomb Far Northern Town.

On the far northern front German dive bombers were reported to have carried out heavy attacks in the neighborhood of Kandalaksha. The soviet fortifications there were hard for ground forces to reach. Kandalaksha is about 150 miles south of Murmansk.

[A dispatch by another agency said reports to private quarters in Berlin were that Tula, munitions city 100 miles south of Moscow, is in German hands. Tula is the southern anchor of Moscow's outer defenses and fighting has raged in that area for a month. The Germans have made no official claims of the capture of Tula and the Russians a day ago declared the Reds still held it.]

The southern Crimea was described as a hopelessly entangled Russian flight, and the impressioin was given that the mountain cleanup would be a short operation preceding a major German swing eastward toward the Caucasus.

Honeycombed with Trenches.

But these same dispatches admitted that the Yaila mountains extending from Sevastopol on the west almost to Feodosiya in the east were honeycombed with entrenched Russians. Dive-bombers ripped these forces with bombs and machine-gun fire.

Nazi planes were pounding every soviet ship spotted near the peninsula. An authorized military commentator said 20 Russian fleet units and 34 merchant vessels totaling 157,000 tons had been destroyed since Sept. 15. Thirty-six additional merchant ships and six Red fleet units were reported damaged.

"At Leningrad," the war bulletin said, "the opponent's attempts to break out were repulsed. The heaviest army batteries battered war vital objectives of Leningrad and enemy ship traffic in the Finnish bay. Two warships and one freighter were hit severely."

BRITAIN ACTS TO CALL ALL ITS MEN UNDER 25 INTO ARMED FORCES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Tightening of the conscription of British man and woman power was indicated by two developments today.

Labor Minister Ernest Bevin announced that no further deferment of the call to the armed forces will be granted to men under 25 years of age.

For the second time in two days a British court fined a girl munitions factory worker $8 for failing to obey the ministry of labor's order to take a job in a shell filling factory in another part of the country.

NAIL SHORTAGE PUTS CRIMP IN BUILDING JOBS

Stores, Contractors Tell of Difficulties.

A gloomy future for private construction work in the Chicago area was seen yesterday unless something is done to relieve the shortage of nails. National preparedness contracts, sidetracking of steel into other channels, and rulings laid down by the Office of Production Management were blamed.

"We have thousands of kegs of nails on order," said S. H. Mazel, president of Mazel & Co., wire and nail concern at 647 North Green street, "and our warehouse is completely out of nails. Our customers are clamoring for delivery, but I don't think any one has any nails.

"I believe construction work has been curtailed to a certain extent. After the first of the year the city will be up against it unless there are new rulings made in Washington. OPM has allotted us 70 per cent of what was shipped us during the last quarter of 1940, and the demand is 50 per cent greater than it was during 1940."

Out of Many Sizes.

James Gavin, member of the firm of Clark and Barlow, hardware concern at 123 West Lake street, said the company was out of 4, 6, 8, 10, 16, and 20 penny sizes. In good times, he said, the concern would move 300 kegs of nails per week.

"Wire used in defense work is partially responsible for the shortage," said Gavin, "and a certain amount of overbuying. We have repurchased a few nails from customers."

An official of a leading Chicago hardware concern, who asked that his name be withheld, said that if the company had taken all business available there would not have been half enough nails to meet the orders.

"I do not like to overdraw the picture, however," he said, "as I believe the situation will improve when the present building program is completed. Chicago construction has been bothered because contractors have had to scramble for nails."

Nail Mills on Other Jobs.

He said many nail mills had given up the business because their owners found other types of production more profitable. Steel commonly used for nails has been turned into other channels in government contracts, he said.

Miss Jennie Nagurski, bookkeeper for J. R. Jones & Co., general contractors at 1746 Madison street, said the concern had been told by several supply house representatives that "there are no nails on hand, and we do not know when there will be."

"We have been able to pick up some nails in small lots from neighborhood hardware stores," said Miss Nagurski. "While we have had enough nails for our business to date, I believe the supply is just about exhausted."

BRITISH TO HOLD 1,000 SEIZED ON FRENCH CONVOY

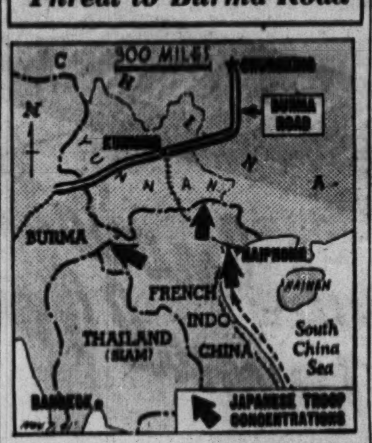
CAPETOWN, Union of South Africa, Nov. 6 (AP).—Nearly 1,000 persons, including army and navy officers and women and children, were landed at a South African port today from the five French merchantmen seized last Sunday by the British navy in the Indian ocean.

They are classified as "prohibited immigrants," and as such are being placed "under proper control."

U. S. Aid Helps Blockade.

LONDON, Nov. 6 (AP).—An authoritative source declared today that the naval aid the United States now is giving Britain would make possible an intensification of the British navy's blockade against axis and French shipping and possibly permit more activity in the Pacific ocean.

Threat to Burma Road



Arrows locate points at which Japanese military forces are believed concentrated for possible assault on Burma road.

TOKIO, Nov. 6 (AP).—Japan's patience has "reached the point of exhaustion" and her army may strike at the Burma road to cut off American supplies to China unless the United States comes to terms with her special envoy, Saburo Kurusu, the foreign office organ, Japan Times and Advertiser, declared tonight.

Kurusu's trip by plane across the Pacific was described as "a last opportunity [for the United States] to make amends for aggression and restore the occasion for an amicable settlement."

Jap Envoy Boards Clipper.

HONGKONG, China, Nov. 7 [Friday] (AP).—Saburo Kurusu, special Japanese envoy to the United States, left here early today for San Francisco and Washington, D. C., via Manila by Clipper plane. Kurusu, accompanied by a secretary, arrived at this British crown colony from the Portuguese port of Macao, near Hongkong, and immediately transferred to the Clipper, which had been held for him.

350 CIVILIANS DIE IN OCTOBER AIR RAIDS ON MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, Nov. 6 (AP).—Civilian air raid casualties on this British Mediterranean island during October were 350 killed and 348 seriously injured, it was announced today. Homes occupied by 2,500 families were damaged severely.

Rome Claims Six RAF Planes.

ROME, Nov. 6 (AP).—The high command reported today that six British planes were shot down yesterday, one in an air raid on the Italian submarine base of Augusta, Sicily, two by an Italian torpedo boat in the Mediterranean, and three in Libya.

Sink 86 Axis Ships: British.

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Nov. 6 (AP).—Eighty-six axis vessels trying to run supplies to Libya were sunk and 61 were damaged by British and allied submarines and planes in the Mediterranean during the three months ended Oct. 31, an authoritative naval source reported tonight. The ships totaled 600,000 tons.

In Cairo today the middle east command announced widespread air raids on targets from Bardia, near the Egyptian frontier, to beyond Bengazi in Libya. Fuel stores, axis transports, infantrymen, and airdromes were bombed. One axis merchant ship was left sinking in the Gulf of Sirte, the communique said, and another was straddled by bombs.

IL DUCE REPORTED SHOT; 2D RUMOR IN WEEK DENIED

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The Associated Press has found no confirmation of a rumor that Premier Mussolini has been slightly wounded in an assassination attempt in which two pistol shots were fired.

In Rome the rumor was authoritatively denied and called "an invention." It was stated in Rome that a similar report was denied two days ago and that since then the premier has received several persons at his office.

The rumor was published in London by Exchange Telegraph, which quoted the Moscow radio as its source.

REVISION SHOWS 100 LOST LIVES ON REUBEN JAMES

List of Atlantic Battle Victims Grows to 125.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—The navy, still checking and rechecking the list of casualties and survivors on the torpedoed destroyer Reuben James, reported tonight that its records showed 100 officers and men were lost.

The addition tonight of one name to the list of men known to have been aboard the destroyer was the third revision in the casualty-survivor list.

The first two revisions removed six names from the list of those previously reported lost and one name from those of the survivors. The navy department explained that the seven men had been erroneously reported on board the ship when a torpedo hit it on the night of Oct. 30-31.

Another Survivor Named.

One man was also added to the list of survivors altho he had previously not been reported aboard. He was Kenneth C. Oaks, radio man third class, Oshkosh, Wis.

The navy added to the roster of dead the names of nine men who had not previously been reported aboard.

These changes raised from 122 to 125 the total of army and navy men who have lost their lives in the battle of the Atlantic. The total dead in the Reuben James torpedoing alone was placed at 100, the total of survivors at 45 and the total of the ship's company at 145 compared with 142 previously reported.

The navy said that nine lost, whose presence on the ship had not been previously reported were:

William James McKeever Jr.—Seaman, second class, Detroit, Mich.

Kenneth Cecil Neely—Seaman, second class, Cunard, West Virginia.

Charles Chester Hayes — Seaman, second class, Akron, O.

A list of 17 other Americans missing and presumed dead in the war on the Atlantic was given out here yesterday by the British Press association. These were among 19 civilian technicians en route for service in Britain, who were aboard a ship missing and considered lost.

Vichy Forbids Jews to Get Profit from FirmsTheyOwn

VICHY, France, Nov. 6 (AP).—The Petain government, in what observers believe to be the first of a new series of measures against Jews, decreed today that they may no longer acquire any profit from businesses they own in most cities.

HIS OWN BOOK TRAPS NOEL COWARD AGAIN ON CONCEALED ASSETS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 6.—For the second time within a week Noel Coward, actor-playwright, has been found guilty of concealing American assets from the British treasury. Today he was fined $6,400 as against $800 last week. He was charged with failing to register with the Bank of England securities valued at $24,776 and United States treasury bonds worth $5,032.

It was revealed that a passage in Coward's own book, "Present Indicative" [an autobiography published in 1937] aroused the suspicion of the authorities. The passage, referring to his business manager, reads: "Jack, having already invested a lot of my money in American securities. . . ."

Coward testified that the moment he learned about the regulations he had violated he took steps to rectify the situation. The lord mayor, in passing sentence, accepted Coward's statement that he took no interest in financial matters, but insisted that "this does not release you from your obligations as a citizen."

PUBLISHER TURNS LAWYER TO FIGHT REHIRING ORDER

O. C. Lightner, magazine publisher, yesterday acted as his own lawyer in fighting a contempt of court citation brought for alleged failure to comply with a National Labor Relations board order to rehire six men of a group of employés who conducted a strike at his printing plant, 2810 South Michigan avenue, four years ago.

Appearing before Francis J. Benda, commissioner for the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, at 1212 Lake Shore drive, Lightner cross-examined witnesses himself, and then took the stand in an attempt to introduce copies of 1938 income tax returns he said showed his concern's income declined $5,000 the year following the strike. He ran into technical troubles because the copies were not properly certified.

If the Circuit court eventually holds against him Lightner may be sent to jail until he agrees to rehire the six men involved in the case.

4 ARMY, 2 NAVAL FLYERS KILLED IN BOMBER CRASHES

One Ship Falls 300 Feet; Other During Dive.

Six service flyers were killed in bomber crashes yesterday. Four died at Augusta, Ga., and two were killed near the Mexican border in California. The dispatches follow:

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP).—Four army flyers in a plane of the 37th bombardment squadron were killed when their ship crashed and burned at the army air field here today.

The dead:

Maj. William C. Mills, commanding officer at the field, said the bomber was in a flight of six taking off on a routine training mission.

Falls from 300 Feet.

The plane used all of the runway to get into the air, while the other five went up in about half that distance, Maj. Mills said.

At a height of about 300 feet, he continued, the ship fell and burst into flames. The bodies were badly burned.

Crashes During Dive.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—Lieut. Jack C. Ferguson, 28, Palestine, Tex., and Carl W. Rude, 23, Milwaukee, Wis., were killed today in the crash of their navy scout bomber near the Mexican border during dive bombing practice.

The plane, attached to a bombing squadron of the aircraft carrier Saratoga, burst into flames after crashing about 400 yards from an auxiliary field.

Victim's Mother Stricken.

JAPS PROTEST SHIP SINKING; MOTIVES OF RUSSIA QUESTIONED

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, Nov. 7 [Friday].—The Japanese government gravely doubts the sincerity of the soviet government and, pending a reply to the protest lodged yesterday on the sinking of the Japanese steamer Kehi Maru by a mine near Corea, fears that the whole aspect of soviet-Japanese relations may be seriously affected, spokesman Koh Ishii declared today.

The soviets have assured Japan that they wish to be on friendly terms, but Tokio cannot help but gravely doubt their sincerity now, Ishii said. He explained that despite Japanese protests a large number of mines continue to be picked up in the vicinity of Japan. The Japanese government, he declared, is very near the limit of its patience.

He added that he believes the American government will support the Japanese stand for freedom of the seas.

Rescuers picked up 247 passengers from the Kehi. One hundred and forty-three are missing and at least 17 are known dead.

TWO GAS STATIONS ROBBED.

Three Negro bandits riding in an old car early yesterday obtained $15 in the holdup of a filling station at 6661 South State street and $14 in the robbery of a station at 2551 South Park way.

U. S. COMMITTED TO FREE WORLD, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Raps 'Limited Sacrifices' Made to Defeat Hitler.

Lauds Russian Defenses.

"We have in amazement witnessed the Russians opposing the Nazi war machine for four long months—at the price of uncounted dead and a scorched earth.

"Most heroic of all, however, has been the struggle of the common men and women of Europe, from Norway to Greece, against a brutal force which, however powerful, will forever be inadequate to crush the fight for freedom.

"As far as we in the United States are concerned, that struggle shall not be in vain. The epic stand of Britain, of China, and of Russia receives the full support of the free peoples of the Americas. The people of this country insist upon their right to join in the common defense.

Assails "Misguided" Few.

"To be sure, there still are some misguided among us—thank God they are but a few—both industrialists and leaders of labor, who place personal advantage above the welfare of their nation. There still are a few who place their little victories over one another above triumph over Hitler. There still are some who place the profits they may make from civilian orders above their obligation to the national defense. There still are some who deliberately delay defense output by using their 'economic power' to force acceptance of their demands rather than use the established machinery for the mediation of industrial disputes."

Mr. Roosevelt disclosed that he will seek to have the United States undertake the same rôle of "world rebuilder" which it undertook, without success, at the conclusion of the last war.

Reveals Victory Goal.

Near the end of his speech he said:

"In the process of working and fighting for victory, however, we must never permit ourselves to forget the goal which is beyond victory. The defeat of Hitlerism is necessary so there may be freedom; but this war, like the last war, will produce nothing but destruction unless we prepare now for the future. We plan now for the better world we aim to build.

"If that world is to be one in which peace is to prevail, there must be a more abundant life for the masses of the people of all countries. In the words of the Atlantic Charter, we 'desire to bring about the fullest collaboration between all nations in the economic field with the object of securing, for all, improved labor standards, economic advancement, social security.'

"There are so many millions of people in this world who never have been adequately fed and clothed and housed. By undertaking to provide a decent standard of living for these millions, the free peoples of the world can furnish employment to every man and woman who seeks a job."

Mr. Roosevelt urged labor to be realistic and make its sacrifice now in the form of "three shifts a day; the fullest use of every vital machine, every minute of every day and night."

ANOTHER JUDGE —FRANKHAUSER— QUITS BAR ASS'N

Judge E. I. Frankhauser, one of the winners in the Superior court election last Tuesday, resigned yesterday from the Chicago Bar association. The organization's committee on candidates had reported that, because of his 80 years, he should not be reëlected.

"I wish for the members of your committee," his letter read, "that each member upon reaching the age of 80 will find himself as vigorous in mind and body as I was on the day the committee decided I should not be reëlected on account of my age."

Judge Frankhauser's action followed by 24 hours the resignation of Judge M. L. McKinley, another Tuesday winner. In a poll on Aug. 25 the association voted, 723 to 420, that McKinley should retire on pension. Another judge, Oscar Hebel, resigned in October when the bar committee on committees said he should not be reëlected "by reason of physical infirmities." He also was reëlected.

British Amused at Antiwar Pickets at White House

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 [Special]. —For the second day women pickets paraded in front of the White House carrying banners labeling Britain as the nation which is trying to get the United States into war. British sailors in the capital grinned at the marchers. There was no disorder.

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—Anna Lisa Dobat, former film star in Germany, returned home today with a Bible in her hand and a story of fainting on the brink of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado last Tuesday as she was about to plunge into its depths in an attempt to end her life.

"I guess God didn't want me to die yet," she said as she sobbed out her story.

CLERKS' EX-CZAR AWAITS HEARING TODAY ON INCOME

Former Unionists Seek $900,000 Accounting.

A demand that Max Caldwell, ousted czar of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' Protective association, tell a more complete story about the sources of his income will be the subject of a hearing today before Judge Cornelius J. Harrington.

Caldwell, a former Indiana bootlegger sentenced to prison in 1926 [there are no records to show he ever served time] is defendant in a suit brought by his former union members. They have requested that he and his associates account for more than $910,000 collected in dues and fees between 1937 and 1941.

Admits Buying Mansion.

In hearings last summer before a master in chancery, Daniel Covelli, Caldwell denied that he had any income other than his salary as business manager of the union—$125 a week. He admitted that he had purchased a mansion in Florida from the gangster Frank Nitti, and was to pay him $450 a month on the debt.

Later the state's attorney's investigators found and opened a safe deposit box belonging to Caldwell, containing thousands of dollars worth of jewelry, more than $7,000 in cash and bonds, and documents showing his wife had title to property in Chicago worth more than $25,000.

In view of this Caldwell was summoned to testify again before the master in chancery. He refused to answer questions on the ground that he might incriminate himself.

Right to Silence Challenged.

It was the contention of Francis Heisler, attorney for the ex-union members, that since Caldwell had already made answers about his income he had no legal right to claim constitutional exemption on the same subject. Attorney Harold Marovitz, for Caldwell, insisted his client could refuse at any time to answer questions.

The Caldwell régime received notoriety in June when a group of rebel members filed the accounting suit and withdrew from the international, which dismissed Caldwell from its ranks.

Checked Up by State.

During the next few weeks Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford learned, he said, that Caldwell had been a heavy spender, that his friends and family rode airplanes with their fare paid from union funds, and that automobiles for the union's officers had cost members many additional thousands.

Search for the funds and the records of the union has so far been a failure . Only $62 of the funds were in a bank account. Caldwell asserted that the records were all in the possession of Michael Savachka, secretary of the union at a salary of $37 a week. Savachka has been missing since June and his friends have expressed fear he has met with harm.

Nazis Order Alsace Census to Determine Citizenship

VICHY, France, Nov. 6 (AP).—German language newspapers in Paris and Metz today printed an order by District Gov. Joseph Buerckel for a census of German administrated sections of Alsace-Lorraine to determine "which of the inhabitants were worthy of receiving German citizenship." Those able but unwilling to speak German "show their incapacity to think as Germans," Buerckel said.

TEACHERS ASSAIL SUPT. JOHNSON'S NOV. 11 BULLETIN

See Implied Requirement to Back Warlike Policy.

Capt. William J. Grace, head of the Citizens Keep America Out of War committee, last night disclosed that many high school teachers had brought protests to him against an Armistice day bulletin which carried the signature of Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools. The teachers said they regarded the bulletin as war mongering and an invasion of their freedom of thought as it implied they must indorse the Roosevelt administration's belligerent foreign policy.

The bulletin contained suggestions for Armistice day activities and was sent to about 100 teachers of social studies in the city high schools.

Tells "Confidence" of 1917.

The paragraph to which the teachers particularly objected read:

"The young men of 1917 had confidence in their President and the Congress of the United States of their day. They left their homes, a life of peaceful serenity, to cross stormy and turbulent waters, to represent a nation unified, solidified in thought and deed. The boys who lie in Flanders' fields would today approve and indorse the foreign policy of the President and the congress. They would urge all Americans to join in a united, wholehearted and unswerving support of our government's foreign policy, to the end that the American way of life may survive in a world of free men."

"The superintendent of schools has no business trying to impress his private ideas on foreign policy on his teachers or their students. Capt. Grace said. "His attitude is a parallel to the dictatorship that comes out of Washington. Indorsement of the foreign policy is not the attitude of the men who served in the trenches in the last war. They were betrayed and the heirs of those betrayers are now in the seat of government."

Admits Approving Bulletin.

Dr. Johnson said he had not written the bulletin, altho the mimeographed sheets bore his signature in a foreward urging principals and teachers to confer on the Armistice day activities suggested.

"I'll have to admit I approved the bulletin," he said, "altho I try to stay neutral in these matters. We're trying to please the American Legion, which took a stand in support of the President's policy at the Milwaukee convention. The Legion coöperates with us in the Armistice day celebration."

Dr. Johnson said the material for the bulletin was prepared by a teachers' committee working in conjunction with the Legion. The head of this committee is Clarence Lineberger, an elementary school district superintendent, who is active in Legion affairs.

Lineberger also said the bulletin followed the Legion convention stand. He was asked whether he was trying to impress that stand on school teachers.

"I don't think the bulletin does that," he replied.

The Keep America Out of War committee is holding its regular weekly meeting tonight in the La Salle hotel. Capt. Grace said a resolution condemning the bulletin would be introduced.

AMERICANS MAY BE ASKED TO VOW TWO NEW OATHS

One Indicates Work; Other, Scarcity.

Two voluntary oaths of scarcity and work are in store for Americans. Both stem from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President.

Mrs. Roosevelt hinted at one Wednesday when she told a New York audience, "Many of you soon will be asked to sign a consumer pledge." The second, ready for signatures next week, is the civilian defense oath.

To the latter oath, more tangible than the consumer pledge because it already is printed on government forms, several Illinois women already have taken exception. However, all who wish to sign will have an opportunity next Thursday when a nation-wide sign up for defense day is held as part of Civilian Defense week.

Terms of Oath.

This oath, as printed in the form suggested by Mrs. Roosevelt's Office of Civilian Defense in Washington, D. C., is:

"I faithfully pledge my devotion to my country, the United States of America. When called upon for civilian defense service I agree to put myself under orders. I solemnly promise to perform satisfactorily the tasks assigned to me until such time as I am relieved of my responsibility. I will strive unceasingly to do my duty to the best of my ability as long as my services are needed."

One woman has complained of this that it is the equivalent of signing a blank check. "To say you'll do unspecified duties under orders until relieved seems a strange way to do things," she protested. "It's a blank oath."

A Personality Record.

The volunteer enrollment card which contains the oath contains blanks for name, address, age, vision, and other physical attributes; skills and hobbies, languages, education, and work history record. It also asks for a weekly calendar of available time.

For purposes of civilian defense, Illinois is divided into two autonomous areas — metropolitan Chicago and downstate. Mayor Kelly is chairman of the Chicago Defense commission, with Barnet Hodes, assistant corporation counsel, as executive vice president. Gov. Green is chairman, ex officio, of the Illinois State Defense council, with Murray M. Baker of Peoria as vice chairman, and a nonpartisan Committee of Fifteen.

The two groups do not have the same enrollment cards. The Green group is using the suggested Washington form, complete with oath. The Chicago group is using a form of its own devising; this does not contain the oath.

It's "Purely Voluntary."

"There's no oath on our form," Hodes said. "I haven't even heard of one. Anyway, the signing is purely voluntary, you understand."

A spokesman for the state council said it would not solicit signatures until next Thursday, but that signing of the oath is a matter of personal volition.

"That's our happy privilege in this country," he said. "We just used the regular government forms."

ARKANSAS KEEPS 7 HOUSE SEATS IN BILL UP TO F.D.R.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Congressional action was completed today on legislation allowing Arkansas to retain its seven house seats in the next congress instead of losing one to Michigan.

The bill was made ready for President Roosevelt's signature when the house concurred in senate amendments to provide that the equal proportions method be used in all future reapportionments of house membership.

The bill as passed by the house in March simply sought to use the equal proportions method for apportioning seats under the 1940 census.

The revised bill discarded the previously used major fractions method under which Arkansas stood to lose a seat to Michigan, increasing that state's total to 18.

All other states win or lose seats alike under either method.

TAX BOOST PLEA OF MORGENTHAU MEETS REBUFF

House Group Refuses to Consider It Now.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The urgent proposal of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau for immediate consideration of a new tax bill, estimated to provide for an additional 4 to 6 billion dollars in levies, was rebuffed today when the house ways and means committee decided that action on the request will be "temporarily deferred."

This decision was made by the congressmen because of reluctance to foist another heavy tax bill on the public so soon after voting 3½ billion dollars in new levies, which have not yet been felt by the American income tax payers, altho some of the levies on consumer goods are in effect.

Morgenthau yesterday met with the ways and means committee in executive session and made a personal appeal for consideration of a new revenue raising measure.

Doughton Announces Delay.

Announcement of the house committee's action was made by Rep. Robert L. Doughton [D., N. C.], committee chairman, who said that the treasury plan had not been finally turned down, but made it clear that congressmen would have to see further indications of inflation and need for extra taxes for financing before they would rush thru such a tremendous tax bill before the year end.

Doughton explained to newsmen that consideration of a tax bill of such vast proportions required time. Morgenthau had wanted a tax bill within two months, it was reported.

At the other end of Pennsylvania avenue, Secretary Morgenthau maintained silence on details of his tax plan and the committee's action, despite one of the most severe drubbings ever taken from a belligerent press by a cabinet officer. Morgenthau was subjected to a hammering of questions and requests for an explanation of the policy of secrecy on taxes, on the ground the subject was of public interest.

Morgenthau admitted that the public was entitled to accurate information on the proposed tax plan, but he declared that he was "invited"—he later said he had asked to have a hearing—before the committee and appeared in executive session, which meant "our lips are sealed."

Silent on Details.

It was emphasized to Morgenthau by reporters that all of the information available so far on his plan was in the form of conflicting reports obtained from various congressmen who didn't have the tax plan in black and white. Since these congressmen had broken the pledge of secrecy supposedly bound upon an "executive session" it was suggested to Morgenthau he should feel free to talk, but without result.

It was believed that Morgenthau became alarmed over recent estimates that there is "excess buying power" of between 5 and 8 billion dollars for goods which cannot be obtained under the rearmament restrictions, saw an inflationary threat, and therefore pressed for action now to absorb buying power thru taxes.

A new super income tax of as much as 15 per cent of wages and income, supposedly after personal exemptions, the tax being withheld from wages at the source of income.

A similar tax on the self-employed, such as doctors, lawyers, and other professional men, who would be required to file quarterly reports.

Social security tax increases from 1 to 2 per cent each in pay roll taxes paid by the employer and employé, and a 1 per cent assessment on employés for unemployment compensation. Employés pay nothing now, but the employer pays 3 per cent of wages.

Estimates of new revenues from these taxes range from 4.8 billion to 6 billion dollars.

THE QUESTION.

What do you intend to be when you are grown up? [Asked of children.]

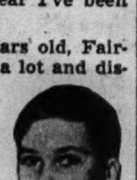
WHERE ASKED.

Kenwood Public school.

THE ANSWERS.

Barbara Jean Cross, 9 years old, 5019 Blackstone avenue—I intend to be a stewardess on the United Air Lines. I've watched their big planes come in at night and then watched the stewardesses in their nice uniforms get off the shining planes and I know that's what I want to be. I'll like taking nurses' training first, too.

Clifton Raynor Webb Jr., 10 years old, 5003 Blackstone avenue—I intend to be a professional baseball player in some big major league. I wouldn't even mind starting out as fielder and then working up to pitcher. I usually try to get in more practice, but this year I've been pretty busy.



Kenneth Meyer, 10 years old, Fairfax hotel—I've traveled a lot and discovered something that has to be done and I think I'll be the one to do it. That's to establish railroads and air lines in sections of the country where there aren't any. I'd like to draw the maps of the new routes when the job is all finished.

Donald Goodman, 10 years old, 5113 Kimbark avenue—I want to be a star football player on the Chicago Bears. I like all sports like football. Right now I'm getting in some good practice on our club team. I think there's a real future for a good football player.

Barbara Susan Cady, 6 years old, 4819 Kimbark avenue—I've thought for a long time that I was going to be a nurse. Even after my baby brother destroyed my nursing kit and tools it didn't make any difference. I haven't changed my mind. I like to bring flowers to sick people and do other nice things for them.

Howard Karoll, 10 years old, Chicago Beach hotel—I definitely intend to be a scientist and combine chemicals to see what will happen. I'd like to work with metals, too. Maybe I could invent some new plastics, or combine something that the ladies would like as much as nylons. I've had a chemistry set ever since I was 8.

GREEN APPOINTS EDWARD LARTZ STATE LABOR AID

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP).—Gov. Dwight H. Green announced today the appointment of Edward W. Lartz of Springfield as supervisor of benefits in the state department of labor.

Lartz, who was president of the Springfield federation of labor in 1938 and 1939, succeeds Martin Ness of Chicago who resigned, effective Nov. 9, to take a federal position.

The governor also announced the appointment of John Nuveen Jr., of Chicago, as a member of the state board of public welfare commissioners to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles H. Schweppe of Chicago, and the reappointment of four other members of the body.

TELLS HOW UNION FORMED 'ARMY' TO OVERTHROW U. S.

Witness Offered Big Job, Come the Revolution.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 6.—Testimony that the defense guard set up by the drivers' union, local 544, three years ago was planned by leaders of the Socialist Workers' party, disciples of Leon Trotsky, as nucleus of a military force with which eventually to overthrow the federal government, was given today in the sedition trial of 28 defendants. The government witness was Roy F. Wieneke, a former member of the Socialist Workers' party, now an AFL organizer.

Wieneke, a former soldier, said he became a member of the defense guard in 1938, and that Ray Rainboldt, a defendant, who was in charge of the guard, told him he would be made a captain. He said he was excused from target practice in the basement of union headquarters when he told Rainboldt that he was an expert with rifle and pistol.

Start of a "Militia."

"Rainboldt said the idea of a defense guard had come from Trotsky," said the witness. "Rainboldt said the guard would cover up under guise of defending the union from the Silver Shirts, but in reality it would be first part of a militia for the Socialist Workers' party."

Other defendants, Max Geldman, Emil Hanson, Myles Dunne, Oscar Coover, and Jay Cooper, the witness said, talked with him about the defense guard and kindred matters.

Wieneke declared that Geldman told him that, come the revolution, he could be one of the big leaders, while Cooper told him the only way to overcome capitalism was by armed force. He said he joined the National Guard after leaving the army, and in September, 1938, asked Myles Dunne how he might get out of the Guard, in which he was a radio officer,

Told to Keep Radio Post.

"There was a radio station on the fourth floor of the armory," said the witness, "and Dunne said it would be good for me to be in a position like that where I could relay orders to them, so they could send out instructions."

Wieneke said he had been at Fort Snelling, Minn., and that Oscar Coover and Max Geldman told him he could "talk to the fellows at Fort Snelling, agitating about food conditions, etc., and trying to get them into the Socialist Workers' party."

Cross-examined by Albert Goldman, counsel for the defense and himself a defendant, Wieneke said none of the party leaders themselves tried to conceal their membership.

Union Grab Attempted.

Earlier, testimony was introduced charging that the Socialist Workers' party had attempted to gain control of the drivers' union at Omaha, Neb., and that five of the union's seven executive board members had joined the party.

Walter Stultz, former president of local 554, in Omaha, was chief witness. He was brought here from a federal prison where he is serving a term for interference with interstate commerce.

The burden of Stultz' narrative on the stand was that Alfred Russell, one of the defendants, went to Omaha in 1937 and became identified with the union there. Stultz said that as head of the union he felt Russell, whom he said was not a truck driver, had come into the union to further the interests of the Socialist Workers' party more than the union members.

Calls Self Ultra Left.

One night in 1939, Stultz said, he talked with Russell about socialism—this was before the Socialist Workers, who are Trotsky followers, split with the Stalinists in the Socialist party and formed their own organization.

"He said he was an ultra left," said the witness. "He said the bosses and the captains of industry were in control, and the only way to get socialism was by force."

Attorney Goldman picked up a phrase that had been floating rather vaguely in the testimony of Stultz.

"Did he say the way to get socialism was to grab a rifle and get it?" he asked.

AMERICAN BOYS HELD PAWNS TO F.D.R. WAR AIMS

Elkhart, Ind., Nov. 6 [Special].—American boys are being sent into combat zones to be killed for the clear purpose of inflaming the American people with an hysterical passion for war, Dr. John A. O'Brien, Oxford scholar and University of Notre Dame professor, charged in an address here tonight.

He urged that the great masses of people opposed to this country's involvement in another foreign war should thunder their protests against the administration's present policies, particularly the efforts to change the neutrality law.

"The neutrality act was erected while the American people, congress, and the administration were sane," Father O'Brien told an antimass-meeting sponsored by the America First committee at Roosevelt High school.

Don't you believe it
Rochester-tailored Overcoats are NOT always expensive!

That's the way it used to be. But no more—if you know your way around! Not so far back, MR. BIG was the only citizen who could afford that luxury—a Rochester-tailored overcoat. He selected it in red plush surroundings, payed plenty, and wore it with a proud swelling of the chest. And rightfully so. A Rochester-created overcoat was—and still is—the masterpiece of tailoring art. Well, this year you and you and I are going to join Mr. Big in the enjoyment of Rochester's suave style and skillful needlework. And we're going to do it at Bond's—without fancy prices! You see, Bond is the only retail clothier in America with a plant in Rochester. The Bond store near you is part of that plant. Every business man knows such a streamlined system cuts costs. So why go overboard, for a taste of Rochester's famous quality? Go to Bond's, instead!

Extra Power to Wash Clothes Whiter and Cleaner—Yet So Gentle You Use For Finest Washables . . . Rayons, Silks or Wool!

Made by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Co., Makers of Fine Soaps for 135 Years.

ACTUALLY 1/3 MORE SUDS to wash clothes, sheets and towels to dazzling whiteness! All that deep-down-dirt soaks out of clothes in jig time . . . without hard scrubbing. You get 1/3 more suds, cup for cup, than the average of 8 popular soaps tested.

YET THESE SAME SUDS ARE RAYON-SAFE! Unlike many old-time "no-scrub" soaps, Super Suds is really safe. Proved 100% safe for the finest rayons even, by America's leading rayon experts, Better Fabrics Testing Bureau. Use Super Suds for silks and woolens, too—anything that's safe in water is safe in Super Suds!

THINK OF IT! At last you can have a whiter-washing, "no-scrub" soap that's really safe for everything. One soap now will do for all your wash, from grimy work shirts to finest rayons, silks and wools!

TRY SUPER SUDS FOR DISHES TOO! If ordinary soaps give you "dish-pan hands"—use Super Suds for safety! Quick, soft suds—that cut grease fast—leave dishes sparkling—hands smooth and soft.

FABRIC EXPERTS RECOMMEND SUPER SUDS!

Here's How to Wash Rayons, Silks and Wool

1. Test a small patch in plain water for color-fastness. If color runs, it's not washable. (Test woolens in soapy water.)
2. Wash garments separately, by hand.
3. Use lukewarm suds as follows: Dissolve Super Suds completely in warm water, then add cold water to get lukewarm suds.
4. Do not soak. Wash quickly and gently. Do not rub, wring or twist. Woolens especially shrink from rubbing—avoid any excessive handling while wet.
5. Rinse thoroughly, gently, in clean, lukewarm water. Roll in towel, but don't leave there. Never dry woolens in excessive heat or direct rays of sun.
6. Shape garment over ironing board before ironing. Use a moderate iron.
7. Certain types of weaves and prints should never be washed. Many makers guarantee washability. Look for this when you buy.

ILLINOIS TROOPS LOOK AHEAD TO INTENSIVE WORK

New Schedule Will Begin Within 10 Days.

BY JACK THOMPSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Nov. 6 [Special].—With the fall maneuvers behind them, troops of the 33d division from Illinois are preparing to settle down here for the winter and concentrate on the work of becoming soldiers.

The new training schedule, however, will not begin until Nov. 17 when the division will have returned from its Armistice day parades in Chicago and Springfield. About 5,500 of the division's 16,800 men will leave by motor convoy Saturday morning for Chicago where 1,100 others there on furlough are expected to join them on parade in honor of the World war dead.

In keeping with the criticism of high ranking officers at the maneuvers, the division from now on will emphasize unit training. The fighting troops, said Maj. Gen. Samuel T. Lawton, commanding officer, will be worked into closely coördinated combat teams, by squads, platoons, companies, battalions, regiments, and finally brigades.

General Praises 33d Troops.

"I have the utmost admiration for the American soldier, particularly these boys in the 33d," Gen. Lawton declared. "They have demonstrated a willingness to learn and a capacity to take it when going gets tough."

Gen. Lawton estimated that six months of concentrated training should make a man a "fairly well trained" soldier. The job, he said, could be completed in nine months to a year, at which time a man's usefulness as a warrior really begins.

To a layman's eye these former National Guard troops and draftees seem to have come thru the first eight months of their training in first rate physical shape. Today, out of the entire divisional strength, only 317 men were in the hospital, a hospitalization rate of less than 2 per cent.

All Camp Roads Paved.

The camp site itself presents a vastly different appearance than when the first troops arrived in a wilderness of mud and sand. With the advent of the rainy season at hand the camp seems well prepared. All roads have been paved. Sidewalks of crushed rock are in and deep drainage ditches are ready to carry off the torrential downpours.

Physically the hardening process seems to have agreed with most of the officers. There are still some paunches among the older, gray-haired men, several of whom are over age for their grade.

Professional observers have remarked that the progress of the division, particularly in officer training, would be further advanced had there been any regular army officers stationed here to advise the Guard and reserve officer personnel.

Contend Testing Days Ahead.

While admitting the usefulness of such guidance, the division staff believes that the proper evaluation of an officer's worth should begin now. They contend that the officers, particularly the younger men, learned much during the early days of intensive training and crowded school hours and while on maneuvers. The days to come, they say, are those for proving whether an officer is a misfit.

Discussed alike among officers and men, in addition to the usual idle speculation about the division's position in any possible overseas expeditionary force, are two unverified reports regarding the division's future:

1. That northern troops, such as the 33d, encamped in the south, will be shifted to camps nearer home. 2. That the division is to be split in half and reformed, with the addition of more soldiers, into two of the new streamlined triangular divisions.

Tools and automobile equipment valued at $228 were stolen by burglars early yesterday from the Cross Town Motor company, 4635 Madison street.

CHEMICAL PLANT BLAST KILLS TWO, INJURES OTHERS

South Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 6 (AP).—A localized explosion at the biggest plant in the Great Kanawha Valley's multi-million dollar chemicals industry today killed at least two men, injured five others, and started a fire which was still burning four hours later.

Officials of the Carbide and Carbon Chemicals corporation plant, which normally employs approximately 4,200 men in manufacturing important armament items, withheld comment about the damage, and no official list of dead and injured was made public.

Flames prevented entrance to the three story distillation unit building and it could not be determined whether any other workmen besides the dead and injured had been in the structure. Unofficial reports placed the customary crew in the unit at between 18 and 30 men. Some workmen said, however, that only unit operators are on duty at lunch hour when the blast occurred.

2 ABORTION RING SUSPECTS TO GO ON TRIAL DEC. 2

Mrs. Ada Martin, alleged head of a loop abortion ring, and her receptionist, Mrs. Josephine Kuder, were ordered yesterday by Judge John F. Haas in Criminal court to stand trial Dec. 2 on a charge of conspiracy to commit abortions.

Judge Haas upheld in part a defense motion to have the state's evidence suppressed on the ground that it was obtained in illegal raids last spring on Mrs. Martin's loop offices and her home. The court ruled, however, that evidence obtained by the state in subsequent investigations could be used as trial evidence.

Judge Haas ruled against the defense contention that the prosecution should be barred from using as witnesses women patients of the alleged abortion ring, whose names were found in records seized in the raids, but said they cannot be compelled to testify.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Destruction of National Fabric.

Before entering upon so grave a matter as the destruction of our national fabric, with all its benefits, its memories, and its hopes, would it not be wise to ascertain precisely why we do it? Will you hazard so desperate a step while there is any possibility that any portion of the ills you fly from have no real existence? Will you, while the certain ills you fly to are greater than all the real ones you fly from—will you risk the commission of so fearful a mistake?

Abraham Lincoln

Washington, March 4, 1861.

THE AMERICANS ALREADY DEAD.

The debate on the amendment of the neutrality act proceeds as if that act were, as it should be, the law of the land. The 11 dead on the torpedoed destroyer Kearny, and the 100 dead on the sunken destroyer Reuben James are evidence enough that Mr. Roosevelt has himself violated the law he asks congress to repeal, the law which, by his oath of office, he is bound to uphold. Every argument he used to pass the neutrality act in 1939 thru congress he has repudiated and denounced.

Freedom of the seas has never meant that a neutral could convoy munitions of war to a belligerent. Our warships are engaged in sea warfare with the Germans. Our naval vessels are under orders to protect war shipments in the zones far outside the western hemisphere. By subterfuge, deceit, and direct violation of the law our war administration has made the United States a belligerent, altho the law to the contrary stands upon the books and until amended or repealed should be paramount.

Already Mr. Roosevelt has ordered men of the armed forces to their death in violation of the law, of his own law; a law which he said would prevent the very things which he is doing. He now seeks a sanction for these acts in which he, as commander in chief, has nullified himself as President. He seeks to arm American merchant ships and later to send them into all war zones and all British ports knowing that in consequence there will be more American lives lost.

It is the expectation of the Roosevelt war party that when the toll has mounted and the casualty lists are longer, there will be no further resistance to the sacrificial entry of the United States into a war wherever it may be found. Thus Mr. Roosevelt seeks to wipe out his promises and justify his course of conduct.

THE STATISTICS AND GEORGE BAKER.

George Baker, a convict admitted to parole on March 4, is back in jail. He shot two policemen who went to arrest him after he became involved in a saloon brawl. The policemen, at the last report, have about an even chance of recovery.

Baker is a dangerous man. His record shows that, and it should have demonstrated it to the parole board. He was sentenced to prison in 1934 as a member of a gang of armed robbers. Before that he had used his gun to obtain control of a Chicago union. He is on his way back to prison and that should be the last the public hears of him for the rest of his life.

The lax parole system in Illinois has been defended upon the ground that sentences served by convicts in this state are on the average longer than in most other states. Baker has been in prison seven years. He is part of the statistics.

Statistics are fearful and wonderful things, but there are a lot of propositions they don't prove. One of those propositions which they don't prove is that George Baker should have been considered eligible for parole because he had served a term for robbery somewhat longer than the average served for that crime. He was sentenced to serve from one year to life. When he entered prison he had given ample proof that his way of life was the way of the gun. Parole boards should give no consideration to men with records as clear as his. For them the sentence for life should be taken literally.

LAWYERS AS WAR LORDS.

Perhaps the most astounding of all the irrationalities in the drive to put this country into war is that the Wall street corporation lawyers who are running the United States army are taking no effective action to make it a good army. To be a real fighting force the army must have weapons, training, and leadership. It has none of them. The war department clique, while anxious to get the country into war, displays little eagerness to obtain an army that can perform in war.

The army's most serious defect—more serious than lack of proper weapons or of proper training—is its lack of leadership. There is an acute shortage of competent officers in all departments. For 1,500,000 men there are only about 12,000 regular officers. Of this number some 2,000 are described as competent to hold responsible commands.

The army has adopted mass production and speedup methods in an attempt to remedy the deficiency. Infantry officers who used to receive 9 months' training are now being rushed thru Fort Benning in 13 weeks. The 9 month course at the field artillery school at Fort Sill has been cut to 12 weeks. It is admitted at Fort Riley that a year is the minimum within which a cavalry officer can be properly trained, but the course there has been reduced to 13 weeks. The general staff and command school at Fort Leavenworth, which formerly offered a 10 month course, now grinds out staff officers in 9 weeks.

The army in the World war suffered far higher casualties than could have been expected had its leadership been more seasoned. The recent maneuvers in Louisiana demonstrated that many of the older officers are not capable of meeting the new conditions of warfare. A weeding out is in process, but the outlook under the 13 week replacements can hardly be called heartening.

Washington dispatches have shown who is running the war department. Secretary Stimson, the slippered septuagenarian, has surrounded himself with Wall street corporation lawyers and investment bankers. These men have big money connections that make them internationally minded. Their stake in the war is a big one. They are in Washington representing interests that certainly are not the interests of the whole nation, and least of all the interests of the American boys whom they would convert into cannon fodder.

These men are not only willing but eager to send an American army abroad to fight under 13 week officers. The army would face the seasoned Nazi legions on terrain of Germany's choosing. The Germans would be led by men whose years of careful training have acquired a final polish on the battlefields of a dozen campaigns. What the Wall streeters in the war department are headed for is the wholesale murder of American boys, who will go into the fight with hardly a chance on earth. And this will come because of the European interests and corporate commitments of the war department cabal.

THE PRINCE OF PEACE IS "OUT OF BOUNDS."

The fire breathing Col. Duncan, United States air force commander in Denver, has extended his personal blitzkrieg against the America First committee to include any of the churches in the city whose pastors feel that their vows to serve the Prince of Peace prevent them joining in howls for blood. If the colonel doesn't like the pastors' sermons he won't let his men attend their churches.

"If I am convinced that any pastor continues to preach against true Americanism by opposing the definite policy of the President, I will place his church out of bounds," says Col. Duncan.

Col. Duncan has a strange idea of the American army. He sees it as the personal army of the political head of the government, bound not merely to obedience to his military orders as commander in chief, but bound as well to follow and propagandize any political program the President may propose. This Nazi concept of the Fuehrer who can do no wrong has no place in a free republic.

Thru his bootlicking of his political superiors the colonel no doubt imagines himself as on his way up. He should be on his way out. His remarks of recent days have shown that he is as ignorant of the constitution as he is of the Americanism of which he prates. His type makes armies odious to whatever people they may serve. He should transfer to the Prussian forces, which have use for talents such as his. The American army has not.

THE DILEMMA OF DECENCY.

Alfred Noyes' highwayman who came riding, riding up to the old inn door, is a phantom of an older and gentler time. Mr. Noyes lives on. He looks unhappily on an unhappy world. "Somehow," he says, "we've all gone wacky and crazy with killing each other and destroying everything that made the world worth living in." The sense of ethical continuity that supplied reason and meaning to the lives of men has somehow been lost. The highwaymen who ride thru the world today bring with them the new barbarism.

Mr. Noyes' dilemma is the dilemma of all sensitive persons. They look about them and find no one concerned with justice, and truth, and the ends of man. Almost every one is caught up in the present madness. Even those to whom reason has not yet been lost begin to act unreasonably. It is easier for them to see the leprous light descending on faraway lands than upon their own. They would mount their steeds and ride wildly off in all directions at once to bring salvation while their own houses fall into ruin.

As a people we are not so well fortified with the virtues that we can afford to dissipate our stock. The madness is spreading, but it is not yet universal. We can still keep out the alien pestilence, we can preserve the virtues that we have, and we can attempt to recover those that we have lost. In that way we can keep our own soul and we can help to heal the sick soul of the world. That is the only way we can do it. The time is growing short, but there is still time to make the decision.

RENDER UNTO CAESAR—

At a seminar conducted by the Charles R. Walgreen Foundation at the University of Chicago, it was stated that 90 per cent of American Lutherans oppose this country's entry into the war. It was also stated that the Lutheran churches teach obedience to civil authority and if war were declared would give complete support to the war effort.

Some 78 per cent of all Lutherans live in warring lands. They have been persecuted and placed under restriction both by Nazi Germany and Red Russia. Yet American Lutherans feel a primary responsibility to the welfare of their own country. That is why they stand for peace.

The religious and peace minded people of this country labor under a handicap that is not shared by their opponents. It is becoming fashionable for the war makers, the communists and the New Deal radicals to say that we are already in the war, so that all opposition to their designs must cease. What success has been attained in the drive for war is at least partly due to the fact that the churches teach Christian duty first, and after that submission of the individual will to the good of the state. Neither duty to God nor obligation to their fellow citizens acts as a check upon those who are bent upon plunging this country into the horrors of another war.

Editorial of the Day

A FAMOUS LADY'S BIRTHDAY.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

One of this country's most celebrated women had a birthday yesterday. She is a native of France, but nevertheless a thoro American. Her figure isn't exactly girlish, and her costume certainly can't be called chic, yet her popularity is in no way impaired. In fact, her charm becomes all the greater as the years roll on. She is more than ever an inspiration to her millions of admirers, the toast of a nation, the inspiration of poetry and prose and gallant deeds. Our heroine has detractors, to be sure, but they are people who don't really know her; their jeers and slurs only strengthen the devotion of her loyal friends. She remains unperturbed, a symbol of faith and steadfastness, her torch still lighting a way thru the darkness.

We are, of course, talking about the Statue of Liberty, 55 years old yesterday and still standing firm on her pedestal on Bedloe's Island.

Many happy returns of the day!

However, a fellow who gets killed in an undeclared war is just as dead as one whose parting was marked with due formalities.—Indianapolis News.

WHEN THE WELL RUNS DRY.

Finley Peter Dunne, the creator of "Mr. Dooley," would spend hours and hours reading newspapers in search of ideas for his essays. [See "Mr. Dooley's America," by Elmer Ellis.] So do we, but———. The ideas seem to be getting scarce because of the ideologies.

We once knew a famous artist who was much given to conviviality; in fact, he looked and drank like a Russian grand duke. Occasionally he would turn over a new leaf and then he would complain, "When I'm drunk I can't get commissions for portraits; when I'm sober I can't paint."

We are sure that smoking is not a direct aid to the process of writing, for thousands of nonsmokers have written millions of immortal words. Nevertheless, no matter how sour the pipe tastes and how unbreathable the air becomes, without smoking we cannot write.

The appearance upon the international scene of Mr. U. Saw of Burma, quaintly asking Winston Churchill for some of the freedom that is being passed around in the war aims, is a standing invitation to the gag-men of the world, but perhaps his name is a lily that should not be painted. Our own despairing efforts to tuck Mr. Saw into a wisecrack resulted only in the following sentence, submitted off the record:

"I saw U. Saw and Esau."

SHEDD AQUARIUM.

In regimented tanks are hid away;
Within their prisons lazily they sway,
Or spend the endless idle days in sleep.
But might a flash of inward vision keep Alight the memory of some far bay,
A coral bed or cave where mermaids play,

Take this odd specimen with the bulbous face. . . .
His I. Q. rating surely must be low;
See how he stares at me across the space!
Do you suppose that such a thing could be . . .
That I'm as queer to him as he to me?

Mystery in a Mountain Pass.

In the days of single track railroading, about 1900, an eastbound transcontinental train of four or five cars left San Bernardino at dusk to climb Cajon Pass. The old high-wheeler was chugging vigorously up the hill when the conductor noticed a lessening of effort in the exhaust. The exhaust became a whisper and the train drifted to an easy stop, no brakes applied, and just as gently started coasting backward. The conductor and brakeman jumped to the ground, caught the engine grabirons and climbed aboard. The engineer and fireman had disappeared! Mystery in a mountain pass. The skipper applied the brakes and examined the firebox. The fire was just about dead and lowered steam pressure had caused the strange stop.

The shack got steam up again and the skipper threw the Johnson bar back and started backing down the hill. By now it was dark, and passengers and crew flashed lanterns along the track, seeking the missing engine crew. In about two miles they heard a cry in the dark and stopped the train. Here they found the engineer on one side of the track and the fireman on the other side. The train crew picked them up, both badly injured, and backed hurriedly down the hill to San Bernardino. The fireman recovered, but the engineer lost a leg.

Some old desert rat with a load of firewood had his wagon fall apart on the tracks. He had hung a reflector lantern on the wagonside, unhitched his team, and gone for help. The engineer, rounding a curve, saw the lantern, thought a train was coming at him, yelled at the fireman, and both jumped. For the next 25 years Uncle Jim Lumsden was the only peglegged hoghead in the country.

CHEERS FOR AN UNDERDOG.

"Don't send my boy to Harvard,"
The familiar song begins;
Don't send him to Northwestern;
The team too often wins.

Just send him out to Illinois;
Their football team may bog,
But he'll learn to be a partisan
For a darned good underdog!

An Evening with J. Wesley Jones.

(In the style of the Negro spirituals.)

An evening with J. Wesley is more than a song service,

For here we see the theater of God.

Old southland's here, and so is Jericho.

And those vocal trumpets rise above the sordid news of the day and promise that they will keep on tooting until all the walls of greed are fallen.

SULFANILAMIDE PREPARATIONS IN BLOOD POISONING.

UNFORTUNATELY, the caution, "Do not squeeze a pimple or a boil" is disregarded all too often. Pressure will force some of the pus in all directions, crowding bacteria deep within the tissues. Furthermore, many of the organisms may actually enter fine capillaries or lymph spaces, and thus invade the circulation.

What follows? Chills and fever ensue and blood poisoning is in full swing. This malady is termed "septicemia"—meaning "putrid blood." In other words, the fluid is no longer pure and clean. It is contaminated with growing microbes which multiply rapidly within vital organs.

This explains why abscesses may develop almost anywhere. Many of these nests of infection may be quite out of reach of the surgeon's knife. No wild flight of the imagination is required to understand that the victim usually is seriously ill, and that the chances of recovery may be slight.

Our first thought in treatment is antitoxin. But, strangely enough, laboratory experts have found the greatest difficulty in preparing this type of antidote against the staphylococcus—the most common invader of the skin. Recently, however, the use of rabbits as a source of supply has been advocated, and their product has received some support.

Now comes the suggestion that even in severe cases, large doses of sulfamethylthiazol—a derivative of sulfanilamide—may be effective. This again emphasizes the fact that many of our dangerous maladies, including pneumonia, are yielding to this special group of chemicals. The hopeful part of it all is that the end is not yet. New modifications of the original drug are being manufactured and are finding a wider application in the healing art.

One of our most distressing infections is osteomyelitis. Here, the staphylococcus may be responsible and it would seem the part of wisdom to use this germ destroying remedy vigorously, allowing surgery to wait until the full effects can be determined.

Especially in children, when these organisms attack the kidneys—with the urine loaded with pus and the temperature high—the employment of this dye may change the picture abruptly and start the patient on the road to convalescence.

The case is reported of a 2½ year old tot who put up a valiant but apparently losing fight against a general septic condition involving the middle ear spaces, the sinuses, the covering of the brain, and the bones.

From the very beginning, little hope was held out for recovery. As a plan of last resort, the chemical was given as the only measure likely to be of value. The youngster was fed 15 grains every four hours until the blood became thoroly saturated. When the substance was stopped for a short interval, the fever rose and it was again necessary to prescribe the medicine. Improvement thereafter was continuous and steady.

As we would expect, good nursing was an important factor in sustaining strength. Nourishment was pushed—as many edibles were utilized as the digestive tract would tolerate. On several occasions, small transfusions of blood were administered.

In this instance, the "starter" was a throat infection which was thought to be mild at first, but which gained the headway of a hurricane. While no one of us would knowingly let our children reach such a desperate state, nevertheless, it is comforting to realize that in such circumstances we may have recourse to this powerful destroyer of bacterial life.

COLON CUL-DE-SACS.

T. H. writes: Can diverticuli be cured?

REPLY.

Small outpocketings from the colon wall do not require treatment. On the other hand, when a large sac develops and becomes the seat of inflammation, surgical removal may be demanded. To hold these excrescences on an even keel, avoid constipation, straining at stool, and irritating elements in the diet.

NERVE PAIN.

J. D. K. writes: What causes neuralgia?

REPLY.

The word means "pain in or along a nerve." There are hundreds of possible causes, such as infection with inflammation, pressure, anemia, metal poisoning, etc. A well known type is tic douloureux—affecting the face.

HERE'S A REAL MENACE.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—There can be no more important matter to the citizen than the personnel of the judiciary, yet in Tuesday's election only four in ten of the voters were sufficiently interested to go to the polls and vote.

Six judges on the coalition ticket who failed to receive the indorsement of the bar association, the only body in a position to really know anything about the qualifications of the candidates, were elected in spite of that failure.

In my opinion this apathy is more of a menace to democracy than all the "totalitarians" in the world.

Why not take the ballot away from these six in ten folks who do not think enough of it to use it?

JAMES R. HARRIS.

TWO PLANE PROBLEMS.

Marquette, Mich., Nov. 3.—I have traveled quite a bit by transport planes the last few years, but the news that 34 persons were killed within a day or two on planes belonging to Northwest Air Lines and American Air Lines rather disheartens me. It seems that with all our scientific knowledge about flying that two problems—how to get out of a plane after it has begun to burn, and the other, how to keep ice from forming on the wings—could be settled.

I have often been nervous when we jumped about while going over mountains like the Rockies and some of the larger mountains in Pennsylvania, but the thought of being burned alive never entered my mind. I am not so sure that I'll take another chance in a plane. And it's too bad, because the plane has come to stay, especially as an indispensable factor in successful defense.

One must fight the devil with fire, so the saying runs. And it is inconceivable that America could keep Hitler or any other potential enemy off our shores without the use of planes. So, for the sake of commercial flying and the brave lads who fly for our country, get busy, you aeronautical experts, and find a remedy for trapped passengers in a plane, when it's once down, and trapped passengers in buses and other forms of vehicles. That's one of the burning questions of the day—and I do mean burning.

A TIMELY CARTOON.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Last Sunday there appeared in your publication a cartoon for which St. Xavier's Alumnæ association wish to go on congratulatory record. Whether by coincidence or not, it appeared on the Feast of Christ the King. Your recognition of the importance of the Prince of Peace in his approach to the White House caused the alumnæ meeting, on that day, to pass a motion of appreciation, which I, as secretary, have been delegated to acknowledge.

[MRS.] MADOLYN F. LAWSON,

WHENCE THE BILLIONS?

Chicago, Nov. 5.—I have a question I would like some one to answer: Why is it that the billions of dollars now being spent in the name of defense couldn't have been spent about eight years ago to get us out of the depression? Where is all of this money coming from all of a sudden?

M. W.

MATERIAL COSTS IN WPA.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—In today's TRIBUNE appears an article on the failure of WPA workers to receive a fair share of the WPA appropriation in wages. The article is a fine example of what can be done with figures. It shows that WPA workers receive only 59 cents of each dollar appropriated and that 41 cents goes for overhead. In that overhead they include all costs of material.

Now if a man was building a house he would not include the bricks and lumber among the overhead costs. And this material still exists in the shape of the roads, airports, hospitals, and city streets which WPA has built for the nation.

The federal government appropriated 1 billion 300 million dollars. Of this there was spent for administration, supervisory personnel, and skilled workers, the sum of 178 million dollars. And that WPA relief project workers received the balance, or 82⅓ cents of each dollar appropriated by the federal government.

And that the state and local governments contributed $440,000, which was spent for materials for building the WPA works.

The only way that WPA workers could do any work without material costs would be to sweep leaves and count inaccuracies in Tribune WPA reports.

HELP RUSSIA; A PARABLE.

Joliet, Ill., Nov. 5.—If you stepped out of your front door some morning and found a tramp dog fighting a rattlesnake who had bitten some 14 of your neighbors, all of whom had died, you'd get yourself a club or a gun and you'd help the dog to kill the snake. You wouldn't be concerned whether or not the dog had the mange, or even if he had fleas.

What is more, you'd be thankful to the dog that he had cornered "the rattler" long enough to give you a chance to kill him, particularly if you had good reason to believe that you would have been the next one the snake might have bitten. That is the answer as to whether we should now help Russia.

THE FINNS AND THE BEAR.

Mount Prospect, Ill., Nov. 4.—When in 1940 the big Russian bear was chewing up little Finland the Roosevelt administration did not dare to move a finger.

Now that the conditions are reversed and the bad big bear got a good licking Mr. Roosevelt is moved to tears and tries to protect the animal. Finland ought to let go its hold, he says.

LOOK OUT FOR CYCLISTS.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—One of the great dangers in traffic is automobiles and bicycles on the same streets and roads.

I am glad to see that many bicycle riders are learning to obey the traffic rules, but there are still many who do not think and that places a double duty on the motorist to think for them and protect them.

Even where bicyclists obey the traffic rules motorists should use great care not to run them down.

Motorists should be very patient with boys and girls on bicycles and realize that each one is a human life to be protected.

A. L. POTTER.

GERMANY COULD SEIZE IT.

Riverside, Ill., Nov. 6.—American citizens should feel disgraced over the action of our secretary of state in demanding that Finland cease war with Russia. Isn't this the same Finland which a year ago was gallantly fighting for its existence against the barbarous aggression of Russia, as our President stated?

Suppose they do cease fighting as Mr. Roosevelt demands, this will give Germany an excuse for taking over Finland for "self-protection" making one more small country doomed by the meddling of our so-called statesman.

DIVORCE DECREE.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A man sued for divorce and the court granted it.

1. No papers were ever issued to him. He won an uncontested divorce. He never finished paying his lawyer.

2. The divorce was published in the papers. Shortly after he remarried but in applying for his license he swore he had never been married before as he had nothing to show he had been divorced. This was 12 years ago.

3. Was his divorce final or legal?

4. Is his present marriage legal?

5. If not, could a charge of bigamy be brought against him?

6. Does the passage of 12 years make any difference?

D. H.

1. We assume that you mean merely that he did not obtain a certified copy of the decree rather than that no decree was signed.

2. It is not clear whether you mean the signing of the decree.

JURY CONVICTS BIOFF, BROWNE; BOTH GO TO JAIL

Sentence Wednesday; 30 Years Possible.

nies, Loew's, 20th Century-Fox, Warner Brothers, and Paramount.

Delivering his summation of the government's case early in the afternoon, Prosecutor Correa asserted Browne and Bioff not only disrupted the movie industry but betrayed their trust with working men. The two wielded absolute power over the right to earn a living of 125,000 moving picture machine operators, studio workers and stage hands, the prosecutor reminded the jurors.

RECORD IN GANGLAND

Browne and Bioff were intimately connected in years gone by with the Chicago labor rackets and with the Capone gang.

Browne in the early prohibition days was a stagehand, and by 1929 had risen to be a business agent of the theatrical union's Chicago local. At that time Thomas E. Maloy was the head of the local and the real power in the international.

It is believed that Browne acquired the support of the Nitti and Capone gang adherents while he was a loop saloonkeeper, about 1931. He was made president of the international a couple of years later, and it was reported this advance was made possible by money spent by Frank Nitti.

Has 400 Acre Estate.

In 1935 Maloy was shot to death, supposedly by Nitti gunmen. Browne immediately took over the local and has since administered it along with the international. He has a 400 acre estate a few miles northeast of Woodstock. In the last two years it was reported by reliable sources that much of the union's money was spent in the purchase and operation of the Colony club on Rush street by Browne and one of his less savory aids, Nick Circella.

Bioff as a youth lived on the west side and developed into a hoodlum. In 1922 it was proved that he was a pander and he was tried, convicted, and sentenced to six months in the Bridewell. It is one of the mysteries of local gang history how he escaped serving his sentence at that time. He was questioned several times by the police in the lush Capone era.

Mike Galvin's Chauffeur.

In 1932 he was a chauffeur for Mike Galvin, president of the teamsters' union. Later he was an organizer for the packinghouse teamsters' local and for the theatrical union. Brown, elevated to the leadership of the stage union, sent him as personal representative to the west coast in 1936.

It was not disclosed until late 1939 that Bioff still had the pandering sentence to serve. A hot legal fight followed, with State's Attorney Courtney the final victor. Bioff was brought back from Hollywood and placed in the Bridewell. He was released in September, 1940, and went back to his Hollywood activities.

SURVEY REVEALS MORE PAY MAKES GIRLS UNHAPPY

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—A girl making $18 a week is far more likely to be satisfied with her lot than are her better paid sisters. This finding was disclosed today by the University of Southern California's bureau of business research.

Dr. Thurston H. Ross, the director, said 5,000 California working women in all forms of occupation—about half of them industrial—were surveyed.

Eighty-eight per cent, he continued, were satisfied with their incomes, and of those claiming need of more money, 92 per cent already were in the higher brackets. The group's average wage was $18.21 a week.

The survey made no effort to predetermine a desirable standard of living, leaving the answer to each individual. How was the annual average wage of some $950 spent? Here are the major items:

Board, $286.52; room, $247.52; transportation, $46.12; dresses, $33.75; amusements, $20.40; stockings, $19.32.

RETIRES SUNDAY AFTER 33 YEARS ON POLICE FORCE

Policeman Thomas M. Hayes, whose 33 years on the Chicago force included service at the old Harrison street station, will retire Sunday, his 63d birthday, under the compulsory retirement act. At present, Policeman Hayes, who lives at 3921 West Monroe street, is assigned to the Austin station. Two years ago, while stationed in the loop, he disarmed and captured a robber who held up a theater near State and Congress streets. One of his four sons, Thomas, is a deputy sheriff at the Willow Springs county highway police station.

LANGER ACCUSED IN NORTH DAKOTA RAILWAY TAX CUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—Sen. William Langer [R., N. D.], under investigation on charges that he is unfit to retain his senate seat, today was accused of getting $25,000 from a railroad attorney for a block of worthless stock after aiding the particular railroad to get a tax reduction in North Dakota.

The charge was made by former Sen. Edward R. Burke, counsel for a group of North Dakota petitioners who request Langer's ouster. The hearing is being conducted by the senate privileges and elections committee.

Burke declared Langer obtained $25,000 for the block of "worthless" Mexican land stock a short time after helping the Great Northern railroad obtain a state tax reduction of $150,000. Langer formerly was governor of North Dakota.

Burke said the stock was bought by Thomas V. Sullivan, special counsel for the railroad in 1937 and 1938, when the carrier sought a reduction in the assessed value of land it held in North Dakota.

ACQUITTED PEANUT MACHINE SALESMAN FIGHTS EXTRADITION

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP).—W. J. Woolums of Chicago, one of 24 men acquitted in federal court in Chicago on charges of defrauding middle westerners who invested in peanut vending machines, today appeared before a special examining board to oppose extradition to Milwaukee, where he is charged with violating the securities law.

A. W. Brunhart, assistant district attorney of Milwaukee, urged the extradition of Woolums, a former vending machine salesman. Brunhart contended Woolums was not licensed under Wisconsin securities statutes in 1937, when he sold 100 peanut vending machines to Gus Weber, the complainant.

John T. Conlon of Chicago, Woolum's attorney, argued against the extradition and said the selling of vending machines was not covered by the Wisconsin securities law. The board took the case under advisement and planned to make a recommendation to Gov. Dwight Green.

THE Capital of each of the 48 States of the United States will be pictured in this series. Can you name them?

Note Puzzle No. 5 printed above. For previous puzzles get back copies of the Daily Tribune.

This offer is open to every man, woman, boy and girl, regardless of age or residence. There are no subscriptions to solicit. Just entertain yourself solving the puzzles.

★ THE RULES ★

Who Can Enter? This offer is open free to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and members of their families. It does not matter where you live.

What To Do? Each week-day a Puzzle Picture representing one of the State Capitals of the United States will be printed in the Daily Tribune until 48 have appeared. You are invited to cut out these Puzzle Pictures, solve them, name the State Capitals they represent, and give the names of the States. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 48. Do not send them in separately. You may send facsimiles if you wish. It is not necessary to solve ALL correctly. Prizes will be paid for entries ranking highest.

Where To Send? Mail your entry by First Class Mail to "State Capitals," Chicago Tribune, Post Office Box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. With your entry send a letter, giving your name and address, and stating in 50 words or less the name of your favorite State—the one you like for your home and tell why you like it best. Letters will be considered only if two or more persons submit equally correct solutions to the puzzles; in which event, judgment will be based on sincerity and originality. Entries must be in by midnight one week after the last picture has been published.

No extra consideration will be given to elaborate entries. Therefore make your entry simple. Accuracy is the prime requirement.

Judgment: Entries will be judged by a committee appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Entrants agree to accept the judges' decisions as final. 728 Cash Prizes, totaling $10,000, will be paid to the persons who send in the nearest correctly named, complete sets of puzzles in accordance with these rules. (See Prize List.) No one shall be entitled to more than one prize. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid.

In fairness to all, the Chicago Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject.

ONWARD MARCH THE BRIGADES OF WAR BALLYHOO

It's Not Propaganda They Spread, but—

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The "psychological war" is on, and the noninterventionists in congress wonder whether it's directed against them and the American people or against the axis.

Since the first of the year three new government agencies—don't call them "propaganda agencies," please—have come into existence. They are Lowell Mellett's Office of Government Reports, with a staff of 527, which is asking an appropriation of $1,444,333; Col. William J. Donovan's Office of the Coördinator of Information, with a staff of 100, which asks an appropriation of $1,500,000, and Archibald MacLeish's Office of Facts and Figures, so new that the extent of its personnel and the amount of money it will spend are not yet determined.

Agencies Already on Scene.

To these must be added the countless agencies already in existence. There is Nelson Rockefeller's Office for the Coördination of Cultural and Commercial Relations among the American Republics, which has a publicity staff of 72 and is seeking an appropriation of $7,331,000 and the right to contract for an additional $3,000,000. There is the public relations division of the Office of Emergency Management, with a staff of 249 persons, which submits a budget of $750,000 and asks an additional $122,400 for press releases. In a single month the OEM publicity division issued 197 handouts and distributed 3,960,000 mimeographed pages.

The army and navy used to have press officers. Now they have publicity factories—the navy with a staff of 211 and the army with 259. These service information bureaus are budgeted at $75,000 a year each, but the guess is that they are spending about 1 million each. National defense posters alone are costing $20,000 and a weekly national defense magazine $26,000.

But, Not Propaganda.

Add to all these the autonomous but high powered and heavily staffed public relations organizations of every government department, if not every government bureau, and you have a formidable army engaged in something which is, please, not propaganda.

The eight government agencies chiefly concerned with defense are spending 10 million dollars a year to distribute information and employing 1,436 persons to do it. Twenty-six other agencies in no way concerned with defense are spending more than 20 million a year on their own information services. They hire 208 full time and 641 part time publicity writers, 35 full time and 264 part time script writers and specialists on radio publicity, and 292 persons to develop material for the movies. Thus 4,876 persons are helping get rid of more than 30 million dollars.

All Out for Party.

One Republican congressman who surveyed these typewriter, blue pencil, and mimeograph machine battalions said: "Call them what you will, these are all party agencies. They are promoting the administration and its policies, particularly the war policy. As in Germany, the party has become synonymous with the government. And what have we Republicans got to counteract all this?"

One and all of the multitudinous "information coördinators," however, will insist that there's nothing sinister in what they're doing.

Take Col. Donovan, for instance. Col. Donovan is a New York Republican politician. He is a Wall street lawyer. He is the protége of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, who releases trial balloons before the administration takes its next lurch toward war.

Colonel's Multiple Service.

One of Col. Donovan's duties makes him the Col. House of this administration. Another makes him the American minister of counterpropaganda. A third function makes his office the American equivalent of the Geopolitical institute in Berlin, which maps the long range plans for the German strategy of expansion thru aggression.

As a Col. House, Col. Donovan coordinates all that the axis is doing and saying and synthesizes the far-flung activities of the Washington government, then tells President Roosevelt what the score is.

While Rockefeller beams his short wave broadcasts at Latin America, Col. Donovan carries on "psychological warfare" with the axis thru short wave programs giving Europe the Roosevelt slant on world affairs. Col. Donovan has 10 short wave transmitters going night and day and Rockefeller 11. Recently a survey has been made to determine the advisability of placing a transmitter in Iceland or Britain.

Geographers, historians, economists, and psychologists are included in the Donovan stable. The psychologists look into the inner meanings of Nazi propaganda broadcasts. The economists draft blueprints for economic warfare and assist the geographers and historians in attempting to divine future steps in axis policy and new directions of the march of conquest.

The diplomatic service and the faculties of the universities have been denuded to man the research division. Among the brain trust are Douglas Miller, former commercial attaché of the American embassy in Berlin and author of "You Can't Do Business with Hitler"; President James Baxter of Williams college, John Wiley, former American minister to Austria, Latvia, and Estonia; Prof. Calvin Hoover of Duke university, and Prof. Edwin Earls of Princeton.

The master minds behind the propaganda campaign are a motley collection of journalists and "specialists" in foreign public opinion. The No. 1 script writer is Robert Emmett Sherwood, head of Col. Donovan's New York office, who also helps "ghost" Mr. Roosevelt's speeches.

Some of the Talent.

Among the rest are Wallace Deuel, former Berlin correspondent of the Chicago Daily News; Irving Pflaum, former foreign editor of the Chicago Daily Times; Joseph Barnes, former foreign editor of the New York Herald-Tribune; Edmond Taylor, author of "The Strategy of Terror," an account of how the Nazis conduct a "war of nerves"; Capt. James Roosevelt, world traveler and eldest son of the President; Edd Johnson, former head of Columbia Broadcasting system's short wave monitoring department; Murray Brophy, formerly with the Columbia Artists' bureau; James P. Warburg, Wall street banker; Nelson Poynter, publisher of the St. Petersburg [Fla.] Times and business manager of the Washington Daily News when its editor was Lowell Mellett, now head of the OGR, and many lesser lights.

The Rockefeller broadcasts to South America are drafted after consultation with Michael J. McDermott, chief of the state department's division of current information. Among the policy makers and script writers are Francis A. Jamieson, a former Pulitzer prize reporter for the Associated Press; Harry Frantz, a specialist on South America; Don Francisco, former president of the Lord and Thomas advertising agency; Guy Hickok, formerly with National Broadcasting company's short wave department, and Duncan Aikman, on leave from Marshall Field's New York tabloid, PM.

Service for the Latins.

In addition to broadcasting, the Rockefeller office sends out a weekly news letter to Latin American business men and public officials, releases a weekly defense news reel shown in Latin American theaters, and plans to publish a Spanish language magazine on progress in rearmament.

Mr. Mellett's province is domestic public opinion. So far he has not attempted to influence or limit press expression, but only to clip it and "weigh" it. "Weighing" may be briefly described as the process of determining whether news treatment and editorial comment is "for us or against us"—"us" meaning Mr. Mellett and the administration.

Mr. Mellett's office sprawls over several floors of the Commercial National bank building. One branch is the Division of Press Intelligence, a high pressure clipping bureau which snips up something like 256 newspapers every day. A report compiled on all news references to the government, with an index to page and column in the particular papers, is sent to each department, as is a mimeographed sheet giving quotations from editorials or news stories.

The Office of Facts and Figures is ostensibly designed to coördinate the information of the various government departments so that one agency will not be saying something that contradicts the pronouncements of another.

A more realistic view is that the OFF will provide the administration with a means of bringing recalcitrant congressmen into line. It is explained that "members of congress often have not had available facts and figures which were needed to answer untrue and half-true statements made in the daily debates on defense and foreign policy. It is planned that the OFF will make these facts available quickly so that inaccurate information may be put in its proper proportion before it leaves Capitol Hill."

Workers in the OFF.

Among those engaged in the worthy undertaking of the OFF are Capt. Robert E. Kintner, who formerly collaborated with Joseph Alsop, a relative of the President, in a column which other journalists regarded as having the unfair advantage of a White House pipeline; Russell Davenport, editor of Fortune magazine, Wendell Willkie's campaign adviser, who is part time consultant; Lieut. Barry Bingham, son of the late Robert Worth Bingham, ambassador to the Court of St. James, who owns the interventionist Louisville Courier-Journal; Dr. Frank Kingdon, former college president, member of the American Guild for German Cultural Freedom, author of "When Half-Gods Go," and chairman of the New York Fight for Freedom Committee to Defend America, and W. B. Lewis, vice president of Columbia Broadcasting system, who heads the OFF radio division and is trying to coördinate radio programs now being prepared by 17 government departments.

You can call the complete setup anything you like, just so long as you don't mention propaganda.

A Flustered Hero

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Tom Harmon, a bit flustered, as he was met by Elise Knox at Burbank airport.

Burbank, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—Tommy Harmon, the football player, flew in today to talk about a movie contract and, he intimated, something a bit more personal.

He was a bit flustered when pretty Elise Knox of the films met him at the airport.

He acted as if he wasn't sure whether to kiss her.

She acted as if she wasn't sure whether to let him—so they didn't.

But Tommy hinted that before he left he'd have a serious question to ask Miss Knox. Just what it was he didn't say.

Harmon enlisted as a cadet in the army air corps yesterday. However, he has from four to six weeks before assignment to training if he is accepted.

Ex-Mate Pays $100

Mrs. Violet Glasner in court yesterday.

John Glasner, 30 years old, an auto mechanic, told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday that he was $600 in arrears on support payments to his divorced wife, Violet, 30, of 10101 Wood street, because he was not aware that he was divorced.

"That's strange," commented Norman Becker, who with Joseph H. Becker represented Mrs. Glasner in her petition to have Glasner ruled in contempt. "It is indeed strange," he added, "in view of the fact that Mr. Glasner remarried a month after he was divorced in 1939."

Glasner quickly gave Mrs. Glasner $100 on the arrears, offered to bring another $100 today, and $400 more in two weeks. The judge continued the case. Mrs. Glasner was originally awarded $7.50 a week support for her daughter, Shirley, now 12.

CAMPAIGNER FOR WILLKIE IN 1940 CALLS HIM UNFIT

HouseCheers Rep. Short's Attack on Nominee.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for the Presidency last year, was called a "fifth columnist," a "Trojan horse" and an "imposter" today by Rep. Dewey Short [R., Mo.], who campaigned for Willkie in 1940.

Short referred to Willkie as a "belligerent, bellicose, bombastic blowhard," and accused him of having been once a Democrat, then a Republican, and now a member of the war party.

Short prefaced his remarks with the statement his subject was "a very unpleasant" one.

"Crusader" a Year Ago.

Asserting that "a great change has come over Mr. Willkie since he was leading a 'holy crusade' a year ago," Short asked: "What kind of a crusade is he leading now?"

"This latecomer in our midst," he said, "has declared war on lifelong Republicans. Utterly lacking in humility, he sets himself up to 'purge' those who differ with him.

"Vindictive, intolerant, and conceited," Short shouted, "he is unfit to be a leader of any party."

Chides Democrats.

Striding to the Democratic side, Short chided his colleagues for having "loaned Willkie to us long enough to ruin us."

"There are a lot of things I'd like to say about him that I can't because the rules of the house prevent it," he concluded. "And, besides, there are ladies in the house. I hope I have made my position on Mr. Willkie clear."

Applause from both sides, mingled with shouts for "more," greeted Short as he finished.

Iceland to Open Legation with Consul for Minister

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 [Special].—The government of Iceland will open a legation here soon with Thor Thors, formerly consul general in New York, as minister. He will be Iceland's first diplomatic representative in Washington. The legation was considered necessary because of the various problems that arise incident to American occupation of Iceland.

WOMEN PICKET LA GUARDIA HOME IN CRIME WAVE

Demand Life Be Made Safe in N. Y. Parks.

New York, Nov. 6 [Special].—A group of housewives carrying placards picketed the home of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia today as public indignation mounted over a wave of crime in the north end of Central park and nearby Harlem. At least one murder and numerous robberies and rapes have occurred there recently.

Fourteen Harlem women comprised the group. Their picketing finally was halted within 150 feet of the mayor's home, which is near the crime area. The women, who said their lives would be endangered if their names were revealed, carried signs which read: "Are Dollars and Cents Worth More than Our Lives?" and "We Have a Park; Why Can't We Use It?"

Other residents of the neighborhood were outspoken in criticizing what they described as inadequate policing around Central park.

Three Boys Held in Stabbing.

The picketing was in protest against the slaying of James O'Connell, 15 years old, who was stabbed fatally Sunday night as he was returning home from church. Police said Jerome Dore, 12 year old Negro, admitted wielding the knife and named his companions as Norman Davis and Robert Allen, each 16 and also colored. All three are in custody.

Another death being investigated is that of Joseph Keelan, 32, whose body was found in Morningside park this morning. It was stripped, except for underwear and shoes. A bruise appeared over one eye.

Complaints from civic groups over the increase in crime prompted Mayor La Guardia to make a written answer, his usual course, in which he explained that the city's concern over the situation is shown by the record of arrests. He admitted, however, that the situation "is indeed a bad one."

Young Hoodlums Arrested.

"What makes it all the more difficult," he added, "is that the crimes are committed by young hoodlums—from 12 to 16 years old. Many of the cases have been solved and a majority of the culprits were mere youngsters."

The mayor said he personally took charge of a case in which 8 or 10 boys were arrested. One of the boys was barely 8 years old, he said, and only two were old enough to be taken into Criminal court.

Police said that detectives dressed in women's clothing have been assigned to roam Central park in an effort to halt rape cases.

ANOTHER DAY IN THE RAIDS ON LOOP'S BOOKIES

2 Sets of Police Descend on Same Places.

Capt. Thomas J. Duffy of the Central police district raided a handbook at 27 South Wabash avenue on Wednesday and discovered it doing a brisk business, altho a squad of the gambling and morals division, which is headed by Capt. Martin McCormick, had raided the same place two hours earlier and supposedly had closed it.

Yesterday Capt. Duffy's policemen raided six horse parlors in the loop—two of which had been raided by Capt. McCormick Wednesday.

Meanwhile Capt. McCormick's men were disrupting business in seven loop handbooks—four of which Capt. Duffy had raided Wednesday.

Raids Made Yesterday.

The alleged handbooks raided by Capt. Duffy's squads yesterday were [black face type indicates place was raided Wednesday by Capt. McCormick's men]:

411 South Wabash avenue, 108 North Dearborn street, 141 North Clark street, 128 West Lake street, 29 South Dearborn street, and 1219 South Wabash avenue. Eight men were arrested.

Places raided by Capt. McCormick yesterday were [black face type indicates place was raided by Capt. Duffy on Wednesday]:

Result of Complaints.

Both Capt. Duffy and a member of Capt. McCormick's raiders said all raids were made on complaints received by Commissioner Allman's office. Capt. Duffy said State's Attorney Courtney usually forwards the complaints to Commissioner Allman. None of those arrested yesterday was freed before 6 p. m., to prevent the men from rushing back to resume business.

"No ill feeling between myself and Capt. McCormick is indicated by the duplication of raids," said Capt. Duffy. "We both received lists of complaints and I appreciate Capt. McCormick's coöperation in cleaning gambling out of the 1st district.

"I will tolerate no fooling from bookies who think they can take a raid each day and laugh it off. If these raids do not break up handbook operations in the 1st district I will begin to arrest the customers as well as the keepers and employés."

Four Men Fined.

Judge Oscar S. Caplan in South State street court fined four men on gambling charges yesterday. Raymond Taylor, arrested at 219 West Van Buren street, paid $10. Ralph Raymond, 4111 South Wabash avenue, and Louis Cohen and George Martin, 632 South Wabash, paid $5 each.

Judge Caplan also issued a search warrant for the apartment of Joseph Nicholas, 3437 Lakewood avenue, after being told that a telephone number obtained by Detective Anthony Eckert of the Hyde Park station as that of a slot machine repairman led to that address.

The grand jury yesterday began hearing testimony in its investigation of charges that there is a widespread syndicate headed by Jack Guzik and Frank Nitti operating slot machines and other gambling games in the county outside Chicago.

Two of the witnesses, whose names were not divulged, told of finding the July ledger sheets of the gang, showing a $221,000 profit, which were recently printed in THE TRIBUNE. Others who appeared were Bertram J. Cahn, head of the Chicago Crime commission, and W. D. Maxwell, city editor of THE TRIBUNE.

CLOSE TWO AUTO SAFETY LANES; LACK WPA HELP

Lack of WPA help yesterday resulted in closing one automobile testing lane in a park drive near 31st street and another lane east of Marine drive between Wilson and Lawrence avenues.

John A. Szumnarski, public vehicle license commissioner, said seven lanes will remain open. They are at 5140 Lawrence avenue, Marquette park [68th street and St. Louis avenue], 2019 Fullerton avenue, 701 North Sacramento boulevard, 20 North Carpenter street, 6934 Cottage Grove avenue, and 1747 East 95th street

'Tell Baby's Death

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Stallas as they described death of baby at inquest.

Angeline Stallas, 7 months old, who died Wednesday night in her father's car, parked at the rear of 5558 Diversey avenue, was suffocated in her blankets, a coroner's jury was informed yesterday. The parents, Gust and Viola Stallas of 5436 Berteau avenue, found the body when they returned after a brief absence. Police at first believed the infant was fatally injured by her sister, Eugenie, 18 months old, when the latter jumped on the car seat.

W. R. JOHNSON'S CONVICTION HELD VOID FOR 2D TIME

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday denied the government a rehearing on the court's recent ruling that the conviction of William R. Johnson and five co-defendants charged with income tax evasion was void. District Attorney J. Albert Woll said an appeal to the United States Supreme court would be taken.

Reversal of the original conviction was based on the ground that Johnson's association with the gambling industry was overstressed and that improper testimony was given.

The Court of Appeals modified its former ruling concerning the testimony of Frank J. Clifford, an accountant. He had been referred to as volunteering information to the jury. The court opinion yesterday stated that Clifford had only answered questions, some of which were improper.

RAIN, WIND, COLD —OR YESTERDAY IN CHICAGOLAND

"Total precipitation in the 24 hours ended at 6:30 p. m.: .57 of an inch; lowest temperature: 38 degrees at 11 p. m.; highest wind velocity: 30 miles an hour from the north at 2:57 p. m.

Weather Forecaster P. H. Kutschenreuter predicts chilly weather today and over the week-end; but adopted an optimistic note regarding sunshine—there will be "considerable" Saturday.

DRIVERS BEATEN; GOONS BLAMED; DAIRIES ASK AID

Accuse Union of Attacks, Destruction and Theft.

Two independent suburban dairies sought police protection and began convoying deliveries yesterday after an outburst of violence in which drivers were beaten and trucks damaged. They blamed the attacks on the Milk Wagon Drivers union, local 753, AFL. Officials of that union denied the charge.

The dairies are the Maywood Farms, Inc., of Maywood, and the Crystal Lake dairy, Crystal Lake, McHenry county. Attorney William H. Sloan, representing the Maywood dairy, filed a petition before Superior Judge John C. Lewe yesterday asking that Local 753 be forced to show cause why it should not be held in contempt of court. Judge Lewe set a hearing for Monday. The union has been enjoined against acts of violence.

Story of Attacks.

According to Oscar E. Miske, head of the Maywood concern, the violence broke out Wednesday when two drivers were slugged. One, Art Humphrey, employed by the Farm Food Stores, Inc., was dragged from the cab of a truck loaded with Maywood Farms milk when he halted for a light at 65th street and Cicero avenue, Cicero. He was knocked out and the keys to his truck stolen by 12 men.

At about the same time, Miske said, a dairy driver, Clarence Haff, was halted in Irving Park road near Itasca, Du Page county. He was struck and his glasses broken, and six men then ripped the ignition wires of the truck loose, stole the key, and took some fog lights.

Yesterday, Miske said, stones were thrown thru the windows of a driver's car. In a second incident a truck driven by Fred Lemke was caught when he stopped in Harlem avenue at 31st street and the windows broken with an iron bar. Both Lemke and Humphrey, Miske said, obtained license numbers which were traced to the Milk Wagon Drivers' union.

The Crystal Lake Case.

Lester Spencer, manager of the Crystal Lake dairy, said about 35 men were hanging around opposite that establishment in an apparent intimidation attempt.

Spencer said he had asked for police protection and had given the license numbers of loitering automobiles to the Crystal Lake police. Miske said the Cook county sheriff's police had assigned two cars to guard against violence to Maywood Farms trucks in this county; that Maywood police also were on guard, and that he intended to ask Du Page county authorities for protection there.

Miske said the union was trying to force his firm to join only so that it would have to raise the price of milk.

WOMAN DRIVES CAR IN LEFT LANE; GETS 6 MONTHS' PROBATION

Judge Erwin J. Hasten in Safety court yesterday placed Mrs. Marguerite Swanson, 28 years old, 1339 Madison street, on six months' probation after she denied she was intoxicated while driving in the wrong lane on Washington boulevard near Racine avenue Wednesday night.

Mrs. Swanson, a bride of two weeks, explained she was relieving her husband, Theoron, at the wheel. She said she was driving on the wrong side of the street to avoid striking another car. She admitted having taken a "couple of drinks" earlier in the evening. Judge Hasten ordered her not to drive her car during the probationary period.

Walter Collins, 40 years old, colored, 2952 Monroe street, Gary, Ind., was sentenced to 20 days in the Bridewell for driving his car while intoxicated. His driving privileges were suspended for a year. Robert Mandley, 42, of 1953 Maypole avenue, was sentenced to the Bridewell for 10 days and his driving privileges suspended for a year on a charge of reckless driving.

FIVE MASSAGE PARLORS LOSE CITY LICENSES

Mayor Kelly yesterday revoked the licenses of five massage parlors on the basis of police reports of indecent practices. The license holders and locations of the parlors were: Valborg Wikstrom, 30 North Michigan avenue; Martha Kernes, 2901 North Clark street; Diana Keegan, 55 East Washington street; Dagmar Bartelsen, 5 South Wabash avenue, and the American Institute of Massage and Therapy, 162 North State street.

The mayor also revoked the food license of Walter E. Stafria, operator of a grocery at 1802 West 17th street, on a charge of selling "moonshine," and he canceled the cigaret and food licenses of Ira Rhodes, operator of a sandwich shop at 531 North Wabash avenue.

Rhodes, 32 years old, a parolee from the San Quentin, Cal., penitentiary, was arrested in September. Police said he confessed he had robbed 15 loan company offices to obtain money to buy two sandwich shops.

Board to Hear Appeals of Ousted State Workers

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP).—The State Civil Service commission announced today that a trial board will meet here Nov. 12 to hear appeals for reinstatement by 17 state civil service employés ordered dismissed on charges of illegal political activity in last year's elections. Among those charged with political activity in violation of civil service rules was Dr. C. L. Johns of Bluffs, a district health superintendent. Two other district health superintendents previously charged with political activity were reinstated.

DISMISSES DEATH CHARGES IN AUTO KILLING OF TWO

Judge Victor A. Kula in Boys' court yesterday dismissed manslaughter charges against Clarence McDonald Jr., 20 years old, a student in the Illinois Institute of Technology, and continued until Nov. 21 his ruling on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

On Oct. 5 McDonald's car struck and killed two men at Western and Devon avenues. The victims were John P. Grady, 64, of 1508 Rosemont avenue, and John Doles, 59, of 2746 North Artesian avenue. McDonald and four companions had had several beers in taverns earlier in the evening, but all denied the driver was intoxicated.

Drives Away After Accident.

After the accident McDonald stopped the car, let his companions out, and then drove off to his home at 314 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park. Police said he was sober when they arrested him there a short time later. Several witnesses testified the two pedestrians were crossing the street against the traffic light and one witness said the lights were changing at the time.

McDonald was exonorated by a coroner's jury of blame for the deaths. At a previous court hearing Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said he did not believe there was sufficient evidence to support manslaughter indictments.

Accused of Fleeing Accident.

August Schuster, 65, of 605 Fullerton parkway, tool and equipment superintendent for the Commonwealth Edison company, was booked by Hudson avenue police yesterday as a hit and run driver. He was accused of injuring Miss Nellie Hudy, 31, of 2026 North Clark street, at Armitage avenue and Clark street.

Witnesses took the license number of the hit and run car and traced it to Schuster, who was arrested at work. Schuster said he had felt a jolt at the intersection, but had not believed he had hit any one. Miss Hudy, a nurse, was taken to Augustana hospital.

Miss Eva Wiebe, 40, of 1155 North Dearborn street, a waitress, died in Henrotin hospital a few hours after she was struck by an automobile at La Salle and Goethe streets. The driver was Herman Ceplitz, 66, of 451 Melrose street.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 795 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 550 were killed in Chicago, where 22,022 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

BELIEVE SLAYER OF GIRL, 20, HAS SCRATCHED FACE

Hunt for Little Man as Rapist-Killer.

Saginaw, Mich., Nov. 6 [Special].—Belief that the rapist-slayer of shy Wandamay Wheatley, 20, a "lovers' lane" victim, is a man of small stature who probably bears scratches she inflicted on his face, neck, and arms provided new clews tonight in a widening hunt for him.

Police also learned that the girl's octagon shaped wrist watch and her red leather purse are missing. In addition to these clews they have taken plastercasts of a man's footprints found near the body and tire marks of an automobile in which it is believed the girl was driven to the scene of her slaying.

Body Found in Thicket.

The body of Miss Wheatley, a small town girl who had come to the city to work three weeks ago, was found in a thicket near here yesterday morning, only a few days after she had rebuffed a masher who had repeatedly tried to pick her up in his car on a Saginaw street.

The theory concerning here assailant's size and the scratches grew out of a study of marks on the ground near the scene of the crime and her torn clothing.

Sheriff Hugo Muehlenbeck said that blood stains spread over a relatively wide area and kicked up dirt in a road near the scene indicated that the girl had struggled fiercely before she was dragged or carried 200 feet into a thicket where her body was found.

Skull Fractured by Club.

A coroner's jury, which conducted an inquest this morning at the courthouse, returned a verdict that the girl died from being beaten about the head by a person or persons unknown.

Coroner William E. Honey announced last night that an autopsy showed she had been raped and that her skull had been fractured. The fatal blows apparently were struck with an 18 inch birch club which lay near the body.

Light Snow Added to Two Northern Iowa Blizzards

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6 (AP).—Light snow was falling tonight in northwestern Iowa—already hit by two early season storms of near blizzard proportions. A heavy coating of ice clung to many telephone and electric wires and repairmen were working to restore normal service. Interruptions in communication and light service were noted at Storm Lake, Carroll, Ida Grove, and Lake City.

ARMS PROGRAM RAISES SUBWAY COST $1,000,000

Completion to Be Delayed About a Year.

BY LAURENCE BURD.

The cost of Chicago's 8¾ mile subway system will be raised at least a million dollars above estimates as a result of the national rearmament program, Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, said yesterday.

Harrington predicted also that construction delays on the subway caused by armament priorities will push the completion date about a year beyond the original goal, which was "some time in 1941." The first spadeful of dirt for the subway was turned Dec. 16, 1938.

Expects 10 Per Cent Increase.

"Fortunately, most of the subway contracts were let and the work was completed before priorities and higher costs hit us," Harrington said. "About 46½ million dollars has been spent or placed under contract. According to our earlier estimates, another 11 millions would have been enough to complete the job. Now we estimate a 10 per cent increase in future costs, or about a million dollars."

The direct causes of the rising costs—all traceable to the armament drive—are higher materials prices, shortages of skilled labor, and scarcity of competitive bids by contractors, according to Harrington.

The cost of building the subway tunnels on the basis of Harrington's latest estimates will be $58,400,000. The million dollar increase will have to be paid by the city from its traction fund. This will increase the city's share of the cost to $35,270,000. The remaining $23,130,000 is a grant from the Federal Works agency.

Original Plans Revised.

As originally planned in 1938, the subway was to be 7.7 miles long and its cost was estimated at 40 millions, of which 18 millions was a federal grant. In 1939, the city increased its cost estimate to 46 millions. Last year the project was extended to 8¾ miles and certain additions to the basic construction were undertaken by the city, boosting the cost to $57,400,000. The transit companies are obligated to pay an additional 6½ millions for track, signals, and other equipment under the city's transit unification ordinance adopted June 19.

Harrington said several changes by subway designers have been required to hold the cost increase of the remainder of the subway to 10 per cent. All use of aluminum, which had been planned to dress up the 29 stations, was eliminated. Painted steel is being substituted for stainless steel. Painted concrete will be used instead of tile and structural glass.

Steel for "L" Links.

The city recently was able to obtain 1,500 tons of structural steel needed to make the two connections between the "L" and the 4½ mile State street subway. An A-3 priority was granted on this order.

Construction of the two connections is to be started before Jan. 1. The State street tubes will join the north side "L" at Clybourn avenue and Willow street and the south side "L" at 16th street.

Completion of the 4¼ mile Dearborn street subway is expected to lag six months to a year behind the State street tunnel, Harrington said. The proposed extension of the Dearborn tunnel under Congress street to the Chicago river has not been started. In addition, no cars are available to run in the Dearborn tubes. It is planned to use all of the "L" lines' steel cars—455—in the State street subway.

56 IN TOY PLANT FIND THEIR PAY IN JOY OF GIVING

A toy factory whose employés hope for no compensation other than the wide wonder in a delighted child's eyes, has been established above the restaurant of Louis L. George at 1759 West 69th street. George, whose hobby is making toys, supplies the materials, and his 55 employés—from head waiter to bus boys—toil enthusiastically.

By Dec. 22 George hopes to have about 175 horses, wheel barrows, wagons, rocking ducks, sleds, and other toys finished down to the last coat of bright, shiny paint.

Then neighborhood children, selected by George and by the priest of St. Mary of Mount Carmel church, will be invited to a party in the restaurant, where the toys will be distributed.

Manner of Sisters' Death Validates Terms of Will

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6 (AP).—Wills of two elderly sisters, Miss Elizabeth and Miss Agnes Guerin, provided for specific disposal of their property should they die in a common disaster. Both were struck and killed by a street car last Sunday night.

LOCKPORT TWP. HIGH SCHOOL IS FREED OF DEBT

The Lockport Township High school yesterday became one of the few schools in Illinois to be entirely free of debt when the school board retired the last $10,000 in bonds against the institution.

It was the first time the school had been debt free since 1911, and yesterday's payment was the last of $250,000 borrowed in 1929 when the school was remodeled.

Glenn Miller, secretary of the board, said the school has a tax rate of $1.19 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation, 18 cents below the legal maximum of $1.37. There are 550 students in the school.

DIVORCEE'S DEATH CALLED SUICIDE.

A coroner's jury yesterday held that Miss Maxine Estinger, 23 years old, divorcee who shot and killed herself Wednesday night in her home at 742 East 80th street, committed suicide while temporarily insane because of unemployment resulting from ill health.

FANS OF W-G-N OPERETTAS FORM LISTENING CLUBS

Charters already have been sent by W-G-N to a group of chapters scattered from New Jersey to Colorado. The distinction of organizing the first chapter goes to Miss Lucille Fosh, 4225 North Meade avenue. She is the first person to bring together a group of friends to listen to the musical presentations on Saturday evenings.

Tomorrow evening when "The Fortune Teller" is presented the clubs will gather earlier than heretofore. Henceforth the operettas will be presented from 8 to 9 p. m. Marion Claire, Igor Gorin, and Attilio Bagglore will sing the leading rôles.

JURORS INDICT EX-CONVICT AS BOY'S MURDERER

Morrison, Ill., Nov. 6 [Special].—A Whiteside county grand jury, called in special session to consider the razor blade killing of 5 year old Warren Snyder of Fulton, today returned an indictment of murder against Leo Jordan, 23 year old ex-convict and confessed slayer of the boy. Five counts are contained in the indictment.

Immediately upon notification of the indictment, Judge A. J. Scheineman ordered Jordan held without bail. He is now a prisoner in an undisclosed jail, Sheriff Roy Crook reporting he had moved Jordan from the jail here because of high feeling against him.

Jordan was arrested Monday night and confessed the slaying.

Gas on Stomach

may excite the Heart

Gas trapped in the stomach or gullet may act like a hair-trigger on the heart action. At the first sign of distress smart men and women depend on Bell-ans Tablets to set gas free. No laxative but made of the fastest-acting medicines known for symptomatic relief of gastric hyperacidity. Betty couldn't believe it when I said... DINNER'S READY!

"Here we were just getting home at 5:15—and we promised the men folks we'd have dinner ready at 6 o'clock. Betty was sure it couldn't be done. But I insisted it could."

"As fast as we prepared the food I put it on the electric range. First potatoes, then the beans, the steak, the pudding and finally at 10 minutes to 6 the biscuits went into the oven."

"Just as we finished setting the table, Dom and Paul came walking in. Betty thought we had failed. But when she turned to say 'I told you so', I shouted 'Dinner's ready!'"

"Well, dinner was on the table at 6 sharp, and Betty was the most surprised person you ever saw. Even to this day, she can't get over the speed of electric cooking."

An electric range cooks food as fast as food can be cooked

Yes, today's electric ranges are marvels for speed. The efficient electric units, accurate temperature control and complete oven insulation on sides, top and bottom, direct every bit of intense heat right into the foods. They start to cook quickly and continue to cook as fast as foods can be cooked properly.

You'll find, too, that electric range cooking is easier, cleaner, and remarkably low in cost. It's the up-to-date cooking method.

American Flyer Killed While Serving British

Carbondale, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP).—Charles W. Bush Jr., 23, of Carbondale, a pilot officer with the royal Canadian air force in England, was killed Nov. 2 "while on active service," his parents were notified last night. The message from the Canadian government gave no details but said a letter would follow. Bush enlisted in the Canadian air force in October, 1940, and after completing his training last July was assigned to active duty at Nova Scotia. After ferrying a bomber to England he entered a school for further training.

BARGAINS? AHAH! TRY BEEF, LAMB, GREENS AND FRUIT

Honest—There Are a Lot of Lower Prices.

BY MARY MEADE.

The price is not much lower—but beef and lamb cuts are on the downward price grade on the wholesale market. It also is encouraging to find a greater variety of all kinds of meat cuts on the bargain counter this week.

Smoked pork cuts and beef steaks, particularly from the round, are sale priced at many stores. Prices in retail stores lag behind the wholesale market, but you will find a penny or two difference on steaks in some stores. Pork prices have not changed much.

Grapefruit is piled high on the fruit counters this week-end and is now really cheap. Quality is improving and will be up to standard in a month. Most of the grapefruit now on the market comes from Texas and is largely the marsh seedless variety. The few pink fruits around cost a little more than the white ones.

Apples Are a Good Buy.

Apples are the next best buy, altho the price is up a trifle on Jonathans and Rhode Island Greenings. Other varieties are selling at last week's prices. There are many apples from which to choose.

Oranges from Florida and Texas are reappearing. It is early for them and these first offerings are low in juice and flavor, but are quite a bit lower in price than California oranges. California Valencias are high priced because it is near the end of their season.

Grapes are not available in such liberal quantities as they were a few weeks back, tho most varieties can be purchased. The price on all grapes is up somewhat this week-end.

Avocados from California and Florida are good buys. Those from Florida are lower priced. Cranberries are a trifle higher this week-end. Winter pears, d'anjous and Boscs, are moderately priced, and honeydews, casabas, and Persians are the best bet in melons.

Here's Something New.

If you like to try unusual foods, buy some of the lovely orange colored persimmons and bright red pomegranates now on the market. The astringent persimmon is right at home in salads, and makes wonderful steamed puddings. Extract the pomegranate juice with your orange reamer and use it in gelatin salads and for a wonderful fruit juice cocktail.

Some rhubarb, lemons, and limes are available, too. Limes still are cheaper than lemons.

The best vegetable buys line up about the way they did last week. They include cabbage, celery, iceberg lettuce, dry onions, sweet potatoes, squash of all kinds, and the topped root vegetables. Dry onions are somewhat higher, but still are a top-notch bargain. Pascal celery is not as cheap as the Michigan celery, but all celery is reasonable.

Among the reasonably priced greens you will find chicory, escarole, mustard and turnip tops, collards, and dandelion greens.

Not so common vegetables on the market include leeks and celery root for soups and chayote. Chayote resembles summer squash, except that it has only a single soft seed. It is cooked like summer squash.

Green beans, potatoes, and tomatoes are higher priced. The beans have been fluctuating in price but are far from cheap. Tomatoes are only slightly higher and potato prices are still not out of line. White cobblers are the best buy in potatoes.

Shallots, a member of the onion family, are a little cheaper, as are green peppers, cauliflower, and Brussels sprouts. Green peppers will have to drop to be considered a good buy. Green peas are high.

Pumpkins, so popular a week ago on Halloween, are rather scarce, but they are attractively priced. Mushrooms are a little cheaper and are in the reasonable group.

Sausage Casserole.

1 pound pork sausage links
2 tablespoons water
2 cups milk
1½ teaspoons salt
½ cup cornmeal
½ cup shredded bran
6 eggs

EVERYONE LIKES A STEW
... and how thrifty it is to make

To make a Super Meat Stew, ask your meat-man for 2 lbs. of beef, lamb or veal stewing meat cut into 2-inch cubes.

Now try this recipe: Brown meat in a hot, dry pan. Add a No. 2 or 2½ can of tomatoes, one-inch pieces of celery, small carrots, salt, pepper, bay leaf and cloves. Cover and simmer one hour, or until meat is tender. Add partially cooked onions and slices of green pepper. Cook 20 minutes more.

Cooked potatoes, cauliflower or Lima beans may be added (cook 10 minutes longer). Serves six.

"No Light Came On"

SYNOPSIS.

Gay Ripley, in Paris to buy antiques for her New York firm, is staying with her cousin, Mrs. Rentrew, a rich widow, when her cousin is taken to the hospital, ill, and dies that night, presumably of a stroke. That same night Gay hears some one in her room after she retires and the next morning, her cousin's valuable antique necklace has disappeared out of the wall safe. Horace, Mrs. Rentrew's brother-in-law, who is an antique dealer, demands an inquest into Mrs. Rentrew's death and the coroner finds that she died of an overdose of benzedrine. In the meantime, Gay again hears some one in her room and is overpowered by ether. When she awakes, the necklace has been returned. Tho the police are not sure the thief and the murderer is the same person, the principal suspects are Raoul de Chabenil, an unscrupulous gigolo; Estrella, Mrs. Rentrew's dressmaker, Miles Dorsey, a junior partner of Geoff Macadam, whose firm looks after Mrs. Rentrew's affairs, Mrs. Rentrew's servants, Manx and Hortense, and Alixe, Mrs. Rentrew's dismissed maid. Gay likes Miles but finds him bossy. She fails to heed him when he advises her against trying to solve the mystery. She gets a number of pointers about Raoul from Catherine Macadam, Geoff's wife. Gay learns that Raoul and Estrella are lovers and that Estrella's brother, Dr. Borosh, sells drugs illicitly. She overhears Alixe sell Estrella a seemingly important letter. Hortense falls from a window while Gay and Horace are playing backgammon, and the police find that she was murdered before she fell. Alixe disappears, and Dr. Borosh is found drowned. When Gay asks Raoul about a rosary she found in her cousin's possessions, he acts upset. Estrella sends for Gay and tries to force her to tell the name of the murderer. Raoul enters, and tortures Gay, trying to make her tell what he thinks she knows. Gay is in agony when Horace and the police break in and arrest Raoul. A record has been found of his and Mrs. Rentrew's marriage. He admits the jewel theft but denies the murder. As Gay is packing to leave Alixe arrives. Gay feels she is about to reveal a new murder suspect, when something crashes on Gay's head. Miles, arriving to make an inventory, meets Horace and they decide to make it together. They find Manx with a pistol, insisting he has seen a pool of blood. When they open the service lift, Alixe and Gay fall out—Alixe, dead, and Gay, unconscious. When Gay revives, Miles tells her he recognized Horace's handkerchief around her head and knew the murderer was Horace. He killed Mrs. Rentrew before he knew she had married Raoul. When he found out about the marriage, he tried to pin the murder on Raoul. Hortense, Borosh and Alixe were killed because they suspected Horace.

INSTALMENT LIII.

REAL SOLUTION.

"Manx began, like you and me," Miles continued, "to think that Alixe Jourdain had gone the way of Hortense. He went on hunting for her just the same.

"Let's trace Rentrew's reactions as you observed them. On first hearing of your cousin's death how did he behave?"

"Horace? Why, he burst into tears!"

"That was the big relief. He'd been on a terrific strain. No criticisms at that time of the medical verdict?"

"Not one. Not till next morning. That's what I couldn't possibly understand."

"Till next morning! You've said it. It was next morning, Wednesday, that he ran into Alixe. In two seconds he realized the shattering truth. A year's labor thrown down the drain! He, Rentrew, had committed murder—go by with it only to learn all he had schemed for was now the legal property of a young French fortune hunter. We can't wonder his face showed his state of mind. I rather suspect that in the chaos of the moment he made the supreme blunder of giving Alixe money—of begging her to tell no one she had let him read the caretaker's letter. It would explain Alixe's terror from the instant she rang up here and found out what had happened to the cook.

"Rentrew, tho. . . . He takes rapid stock of the situation. Sees the one means of saving it. By the time he reaches Passy he knows exactly what to do. No whisper of possible foul play! To breathe a hint of it will mean mentioning his sister-in-law's marriage—which he is not supposed to know about. Call Hornton a charlatan, insist on an inquiry into the cause of death.

"When the benzedrine is found, pretend stupefaction. The police will do all the rest. There is no need whatever to plant false evidence on de Chabenil. Everything necessary is already there. Nothing is surer than that sooner or later the secret marriage will come to light. The husband who would have benefited gets the guillotine instead—and automatically Hiram Rentrew's money reverts to Brother Horace.

"Now, do you see how a death designed to appear a perfectly natural affair must suddenly be shown up as murder?"

"I do, only—well, it's so terribly hard to disentangle this version from the inspector's. Who gave drug No. 1? Was it de Chabenil, or——"

"The A. T. 10! Horace—only Horace. All the preliminary drugging was exclusively his job—tho in practice the actual administration of dyhydro tachsterin had been delegated latterly to Hortense. I'll give you the run of it, beginning with a few facts now known to the police.

"Right after Hiram departed this life, Horace happened in some café to hear Louis Borosh expounding a new drug to a pair of medical students, one of whom has been dug up. It seems Horace, calling himself Mr. Parker, showed interest, stood them drinks, and took Borosh's card.

"Next move: Horace gives up his flat, parks himself here. From now on we must theorize; but it'll be fairly accurate, I think. At some time or other Hortense catches Monsieur pouring drops into madame's especially prepared dishes. I'm right, am I not, in assuming there were especial dishes?"

"Lots of them! It was her slimming diet, you know."

"Splendid! I knew Manx was right. I daresay Horace spun a yarn about supplying vitamin deficiencies, not wanting madam to know he was always worried about her health. All that concerns us is that he felt obliged to entrust the good work to Hortense, trusting to luck she had swallowed his tale.

"The original idea, we may assume, was simply to prevent remarriage. For this purpose the drug Borosh supplied was ideal—only it did require time. From your remarks I deduce that one or two suitors had to be dealt with. They were shown up as the gold diggers they probably were, so all goes well. However, Mrs. Rentrew begins to get huffy.

"I noticed signs of this in her conversations with me. This past winter she doesn't ask Horace down to the villa. She even stymies him altogether by packing her cook off home. Hortense reports the Frenchman. Horace falls into the very devil of a stew. Mrs. Rentrew returns, is taken ill; but the note in the table drawer warns Horace there isn't a moment to lose.

"Now you have the whole doings: A. T. 10 beginning to show results, but not sufficient to prevent marriage. Won't de Chabenil insist on being married, even if his bride is a bedridden wreck? And won't the bride be fool enough to see the thing thru? Matters have got to be brought to a quick finish. Borosh again. Pure benzedrine. Just the trick. Chimes in perfectly well with Dr. Hornton's quite accurate diagnosis. Now for the cast.

"Tuesday afternoon. Patient won't see her brother-in-law. Horace knows who is with her. He might wait till another day, but he feels he can't. I believe when he slunk in round the side and up the stairs, meeting no one on the way, he may have had the plan of going boldly into the room, making a scene that would bring on another stroke, and saving himself the act of out-and-out murder. I also think that, passing the diet kitchen where a bottle of inflammable fluid has been left in full view, he gets a better brain wave and starts a blaze. At any rate we may be sure he saw some one coming and was obliged to duck into the lavatory opposite and lock himself in.

"The rumpus calms down, voices declare that by the grace of God, No. 10 didn't suffer any serious effects from the shock. When the coast is quite clear again Horace pokes his nose out—and sees his chance. The cup of soup, waiting to be carried in. Into it goes the benzedrine. He exits, still unobserved."

"And right after the post mortem Hortense tries to cash in."

"Exactly. And does do—to the extent of the notes you saw her counting, little knowing she has spiked her own gun. The man she holds in her power may be artistic. He is also a keen business man. He has no intention of letting any one draw life dividends from him—and having killed once he finds it not overdifficult to kill again. He has an additional reason for removing Hortense. Her own inheritance of a hundred pounds renders her nervous and likely to spill any amount of beans in the anxiety to save her own skin. So——"

"Stop! Horace can't have murdered Hortense. How could he, when he was playing backgammon with me?"

"One minute. Do you happen to recall what Horace's actions were on entering Hortense's room?"

"Do I recall! I can recite them backward. First, he said the door was locked—and it wasn't. Next, the light wouldn't come on, till Manx fixed it. Third, he stood over by the table, and the knob of the drawer fell off——"

"Hold that. We'll take the items in turn. The door was locked—till Horace slipped in the key, turned it, and put it in again on the other side. The light? He had unscrewed the bulb. Same game he worked on me a few evenings later, to keep me from spying the blood at the end of the passage. Now the knob; but first tell me this: who lit a fire in the study?"

"Why, Horace. Just before you came along at 1 in the morning. I went in and there he was, poking back sticks to——"

"Quite. He had just managed to burn to ashes a length of old window cord—the cord Manx thought he had seen punched down into Horace's pocket in the semidarkness of the bedroom. Know why that knob became loose? Screw broken by the strain put on it—yes, the heavy strain of a dead or unconscious body balanced three-parts over the window sill.

"A slip noose—understand? One end round the knob. The cord, of course, was badly frayed. Due to snap in two minutes, 10, possibly a little longer, to send the suspended body hurtling down into the court below. Just what did happen—with the man responsible seated in your company, a safe distance away."

I gaped. So that's how it had been done. . . .

"Outside," explained Miles, "it was dark and all the court blinds were drawn down. There was only an n'th chance of the swaying load being noticed. You didn't actually hear Horace enter the front door, I suppose? No, I thought not. He came in softly while you and Manx were holding that session in the study, walked straight back to Hortense, whanged her on the head before she could turn round, and there you are. Manx guessed. He's a clever old fox, only, as I say, he wasn't going to risk extinction by chattering suspicions it would be impossible to prove.

"Borosh? Nothing certain as yet. We conclude rather naturally that during the call at the Rue du Bac shop a rendezvous was arranged to take place that same evening. The river bank is a goodish spot if you don't want onlookers when you reach for a note case and dig up a serviceable cash. You can get down by stone steps alongside any bridge.

TRY CRANBERRY VELVET—A GOOD, SIMPLE DESSERT

Cranberry Velvet.

[Serves 4.]

- ½ pound cranberries [about 2 cups]
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ tablespoon cornstarch
- 1 tablespoon water
- ½ teaspoon vanilla

Wash and clean cranberries. Cook in the 1½ cups of water with sugar until they stop popping. Press thru a fine sieve. Return to heat and bring to a boil, Add cornstarch mixed to a smooth paste with the tablespoon of water. Cook five minutes, stirring to prevent lumping. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Serve cold, with cream.

TIME AND CARE WORTH WHILE IN CEREAL COOKING

Correct Methods Assure Tasty Breakfast.

BY RUTH COOK STEWART.

Cooking the breakfast cereal is a more important job than you may think. This food helps get the day off to a good start and shouldn't be turned down by any member of the family. Who wants a gummy, undercooked or flavorless paste?

The variety of breakfast cereals which are served cooked is not so great as the list of those packaged ones which are ready to serve, but the list is long enough to provide variety.

COOKED BREAKFAST CEREALS.

OATS: Rolled, steel-cut and meal.

CORN: Meal, both white and yellow.

RICE: Brown, wild and white [polished].

RYE: Rolled and ground.

BARLEY: Pearl.

Principles of Cereal Cooking.

Of course the proportion of water to cereal varies with each grain and grind, but the same principles of cookery apply to all. These principles follow:

1. Use enough liquid to insure maximum swelling of grains.
2. Season well.
3. Cook thoroly.
4. Stir as little as possible.

From these principles the cook works out her method of cooking. All cereals absorb water and swell on cooking, so that a half cup of raw cereal may make from 1 to 2 cups when cooked. It is easiest to measure one cup of water for each cup of cooked cereal desired, allowing a little extra for evaporation.

Cook Cereals Thoroly.

All cereals must be thoroly cooked. Most breakfast cereals improve in flavor with long cooking. By using a double boiler long cooking is possible without too much attention from the cook. The cereal should be cooked in the top part of the double boiler over direct heat for the first few minutes or until it swells and thickens somewhat. This cuts down cooking time considerably. Then it is placed over hot water and cooked until all raw flavor has disappeared. The time will vary with the fineness of the grind and the degree of refinement. The coarser, unrefined cereals require the longest time. It will be necessary to taste the cereal to determine the progress of the cooking. More salt can then be added.

While the cereal is over direct heat, it will require pretty constant stirring to prevent lumping and scorching. Only an occasional whisk of the spoon will be needed after it is placed over hot water. Over stirring gives a gummy product in which the grains of cereal do not remain separated and distinct.

Soaking Shortens Cooking.

This method is used for all the wheat, oat, rye, corn, and barley cereals. Pearl [whole] barley, whole wheat berries, and other unground cereals should be soaked overnight to shorten cooking time. Some of the finely ground cereals are processed for quick cooking on top of the stove entirely.

Polished white rice which requires a comparatively short cooking time is most frequently cooked entirely over direct heat. One of the goals in cooking rice is to keep the grains distinctly separate. Even a little stirring breaks the grains and tends to pack them together. For this reason rice is gradually added to a large amount of boiling water—about 1 cup of rice to 8 cups of water. The water is kept at a furious boil so that no stirring is necessary. When cooked it is drained thru a coarse sieve and washed under hot water. It may then be put in a slow oven or in a double boiler to reheat and dry out.

While not natural cereals, the macaroni products are cooked exactly as is rice. Macaroni products include all the odd shaped members of the spaghetti and macaroni family as well as egg noodles. They require no preliminary washing, but the large quantity of rapidly boiling water, the draining and rinsing are necessary as in rice cookery.

To vary the service of cereals dried fruits may be added in cooking. The cereals may be cooked in milk or part milk and part water to increase their nutritive value. Cereals which require a very long cooking time, may be cooked in a pressure cooker.

PROPORTIONS AND COOKING TIMES.

WHEAT: Whole berry, 1 cup cereal to 4 cups water; 3 to 6 hours. Cracked, 1⅓ cups cereal to 4 cups water; 1 to 2 hours. Finely ground, 1 to 1⅓ cups cereal to 4 cups water; 30 to 45 minutes.

CORNMEAL: 1 to 1⅓ cups cereal to 4 cups water; 1 to 1½ hours.

RYE: Rolled, 1 cup cereal to 4 cups water; 45 minutes to 1 hour.

OATS: Rolled, 2 cups cereal to 4 cups water; 1 to 2 hours. Meal [steel cut or Scotch], 1 cup cereal to 4 cups water; 1 to 2 hours.

PEARL BARLEY: 1⅓ cups cereal to 4 cups water; 2 to 4 hours.

QUICK COOKING CEREALS: Consult directions on package.

Uses for Cooked Cereals.

Cooked cereals may be put to the following additional uses:

1. Many cereals [oatmeal, cornmeal, wheat cereals] may be packed into dish or loaf pan and chilled; then sliced and fried in butter.
2. Small amounts of left over cereals may be added to meat stock and vegetable soups.
3. They may be served with meats in place of potatoes—are good in meat stews.
4. They may be added to cheese and egg dishes.
5. Cereals may be used to stretch leftover meats and poultry in creamed dishes and croquettes.
6. Many cereals [rice, refined wheat cereals] may be sweetened and combined with milk and eggs or fruits and served as dessert.

While not a cereal, tapioca should come into this discussion somewhere since it is cooked by the same methods. Pearl tapioca must be soaked before it is cooked and then is cooked in the top of a double boiler. Quick cooking tapioca requires no soaking and cooks on top the stove in a very few minutes. It requires constant stirring unless cooked in a double boiler.

Have You Recipe Friends Request? It May Win $5

BY MARY MEADE.

"I'm tired of writing this recipe out for all my friends. I'm going to enter it in your contest and if it wins a prize and is printed I'll just tell everybody who asks for it to look in THE TRIBUNE," wrote a cook recently.

Do you have a recipe for which your friends all ask? A favorite food which your family dearly loves? An old recipe, time tested, or an original, economical casserole dish? Then send it to the Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE, and perhaps it will win one of the daily $5 prizes to be awarded, beginning Nov. 17.

Type or write the recipe legibly, in standard recipe form [ingredients listed in order of use], and make directions clear and complete. State number of servings, oven temperature, and other information important to the cook who tries your recipe for the first time. Who knows? Maybe there'll be a $5 prize for you!

Fig Pudding Is Easy to Prepare

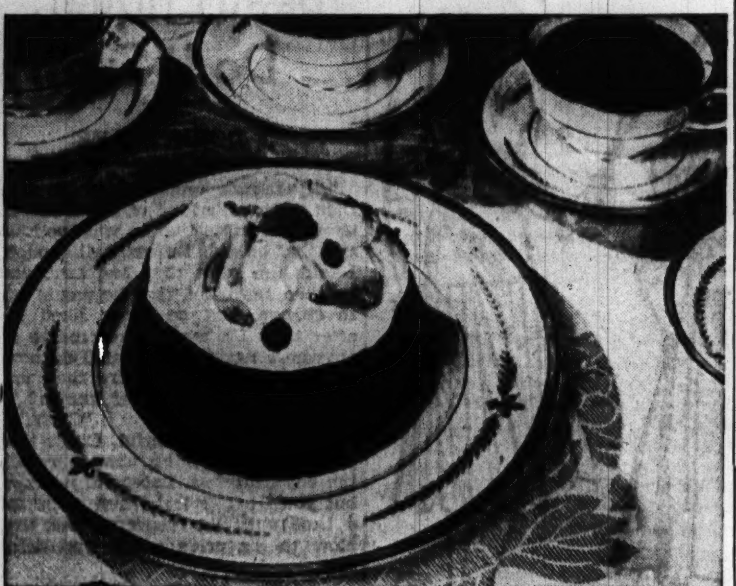

Fig pudding looks gay and festive on your Thanksgiving or autumn table. And it's no trouble at all to prepare if you buy canned fig pudding. Reheat the pudding according to directions given on label. Just before serving top with whipped cream or brandy hard sauce and garnish with bits of candied fruit. To make brandied hard sauce, cream ¼ cup butter until soft and gradually beat in 1 cup confectioners' sugar. Beat until smooth and add 2 tablespoons of brandy. Chill until cold, but not hard.

MACARONI LOAF! HERE'S HOW, AND YOU'LL ENJOY IT!

You'll find a place for this on your buffet table, and perhaps you'll serve it for the family lunch as well.

Macaroni Loaf.

4 cups cooked macaroni
1 cup bread cubes
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons butter
5 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 cup finely sliced cheese
1 egg or 2 yolks

Soak the macaroni with bread in the milk for five minutes. Melt butter and add flour. Add macaroni mixture and cook slowly until creamy. Add seasonings and cheese, simmering until cheese melts. Add egg and turn into greased mold. Bake in a moderate [350 degrees] oven for 50 minutes. Let stand five minutes in warm place before unmolding onto heated platter. Serve with any flavorsome sauce.

IF YOU'RE FOND OF VEAL CHOPS, READ THIS RECIPE

Smothered Veal Chops.

4 thick rib chops of veal
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
4 onion slices
4 orange slices
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ cup water
¼ cup orange juice
1 tablespoon butter

Sprinkle chops with flour and seasoning. Arrange in shallow, well greased baking pan. Top chops with onions, oranges, and spices. Add remaining ingredients and cover. Bake in a moderate [350 degree] oven for 1 hour, basting twice during baking. Remove lid during last 10 minutes of baking to brown top of meat.

Fruit Stuffing Favored for Duckling Dinners

Several stores have been featuring ducklings lately. And here's a wonderful stuffing for them should you buy a couple for your Sunday dinner.

Fruit Stuffing for Duck.

[Enough for two small fowls.]

2 cups sliced cooked prunes, unsweetened
1 cup cooked apricots, unsweetened
4 cups bread cubes
⅛ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon poultry seasoning
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon chopped onions
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup butter, melted
1 tablespoon minced parsley

Combine ingredients, tossing lightly with two forks. Stuff into fowl. This may also be used for goose.

$2,564,031 Pledged to Community Fund; More Units Over Top

Reports from industrial division chairmen in the Community Fund campaign yesterday brought the total to $2,564,031 or 70 per cent of the 1941 goal of $3,583,000. E. P. Brooks, industrial division chairman, speaking at the weekly luncheon in the Stevens hotel said more than 700,000 persons are contributing.

Two more divisions, rubber, J. D. Sharkey, chairman, and ready-to-wear, Harold Hirsch, chairman, went over their quota, making a total of five divisions over the top. Ten groups have collected more than 90 per cent of their quota, and 32 went over the 75 per cent goal which Brooks had urged the chairmen to meet this week.

Clarence Randall, vice president of Inland Cteel corporation, told the 800 workers "the extent to which you sell this campaign is the measure of your belief in democracy." Joseph D. Keenan, secretary of the Chicago Federation of Labor, assured the chairmen that labor is "at your service."

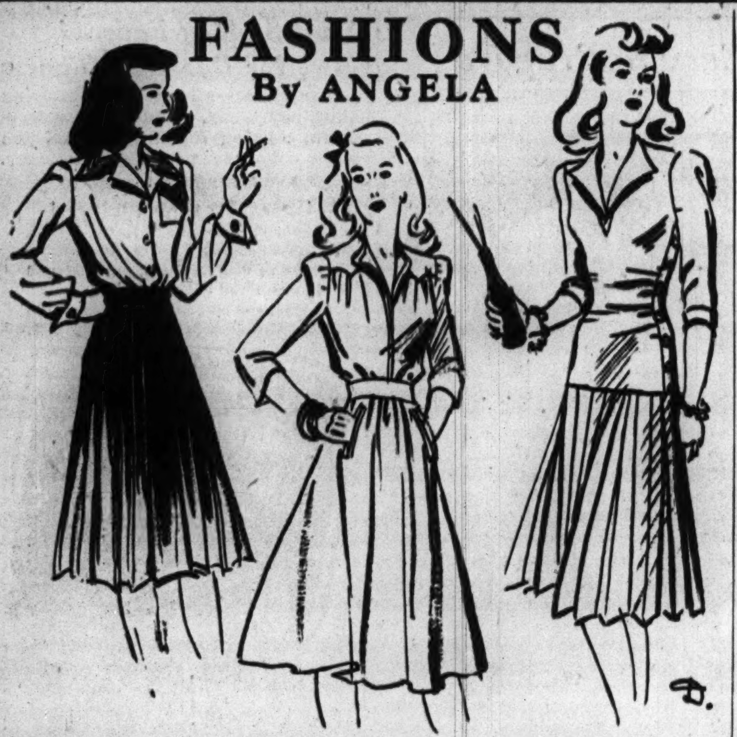
FASHIONS By ANGELA



Every girl has to have quantities of every day clothes. There are far more "every days" in a week than special days. So some attention should be paid to the overworked section of the clothes rack where sometimes we are inclined to think that anything goes. The clothes that have to take the most wear should be selected with the greatest care.

A good costume for school or office and very inexpensive is the shirt and skirt idea. They can be purchased separately and matched up in innumerable color combinations. The one sketched is a rayon crêpe shirt with stitching trimming the collar and pocket. The long sleeves terminate in a flattering French cuff. Less than $4.

With it we selected a navy blue rayon gabardine skirt, plaited all round. The skirt is a product of the fast growing California group of designers and dress manufacturers. Less than $5.

Casual flannel makes a casual dress. The material, a beautiful soft wool, is made by a nationally advertised house. [I'm not mentioning any names, but you know who.] And they've made it in a delicate chamois yellow, light icey blue, and soft yellow green. Notice, too, the deep V neckline . . . and I mean deep. Down to the waistline it plunges, but the two fronts being generously lapped over keep you well within the bounds of decency.

The most advertised dress in the country, I venture to say, is this one with the plaited skirt and the middy top. This model is in rayon crêpe. Everything that can be has been said about it in frequent department store advertising. The proof of the pudding is in the eating . . . or something.

If You Teach Beau Etiquet, Do It Subtly

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"My friends remarked to me that Dick wasn't the kind of boy I should know. They said that he was too loud and that he didn't dress well enough. I told him what they had said, and he then remarked that he would try to change. But he never liked me after that. He never asked me to go anywhere again. What can I do now, because I liked him more than any other fellow I have ever known?

"CISSY."

We are a bit doubtful, Cissy, that you can do anything now to regain the boy's interest. Later on, perhaps, but you'd better leave him alone for a time until he recovers from that blow to his pride which you delivered.

When you attempt to reform a youth, Cissy, you don't lunge at him the way you did. You don't tell him that others are criticizing him. No, there's a better way of going about remodeling the boy friend, a tactful way, a kindly way.

How would you take it if a young man were to tell you baldly that the boys he knew thought you were loud of manner and that you didn't know how to dress? You wouldn't take it, you couldn't take it, smiling. You'd be furious. Your vanity would suffer terribly, even tho the charges were absolutely true.

Well, boys are even more easily hurt. Their ego is a fairly substantial part of their makeup, and necessarily so, to compete in the business of making a living. So, as hinted, when you girls want to work reform in a boy's manner or dress, you have to go about it with all the tact you can summon. You just don't say: "The girls think you're loud. You don't dress well enough!" You should lead off with a compliment of some kind. If you're a real smoothie, you'll say you were glad your beau wasn't loud and crude.

You could, when walking past shop windows, throw a hint or two about your idea of a well dressed young man, without getting too personal.

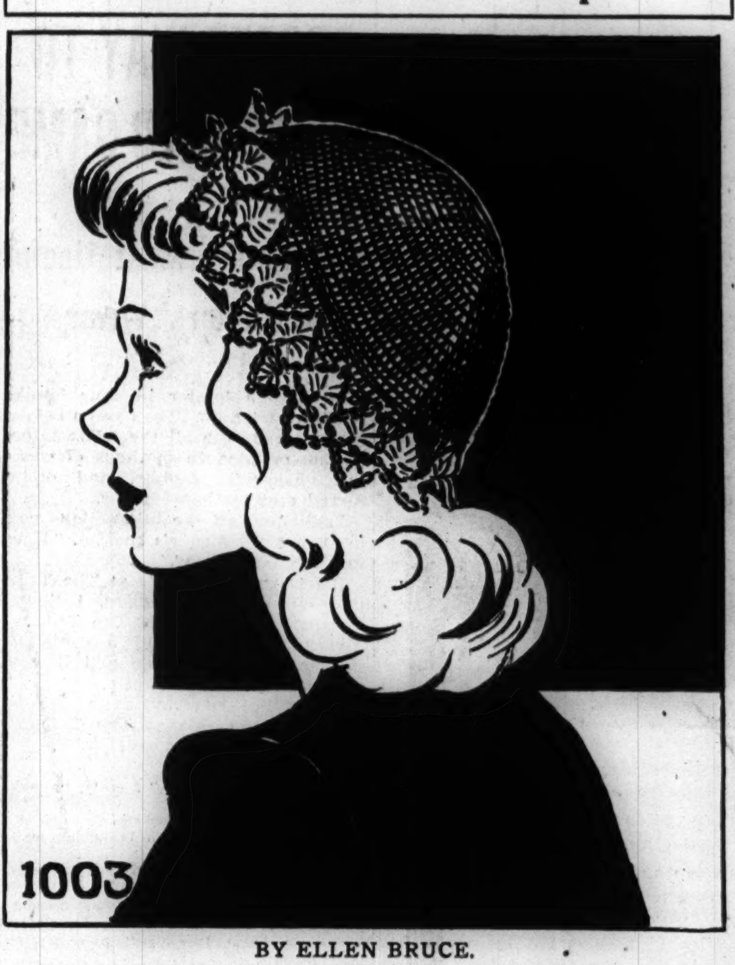
New, Crocheted Halo Cap



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This new crocheted halo cap, modeled on an old-fashioned bonnet worn by grandmothers of scores of years ago, is becoming to the teen ager as well as her mother. It is a quick and easy crochet job and the halo effect imparts a youthful air to those who imagine they need a "lift," and it affords a piquant touch to youthful faces.

For instructions in crocheting the halo cap, No. 1003, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

There's a charming new shade of nail polish out that you'll probably like immensely if you're simply unable to wear red tones with an orange cast. The new color is a different kind of a rose shade, rosy-red but somehow subdued.

It's a deep color but not gory. And it's not too blue. Being a somewhat neutral rose shade it's wearable with just about any costume color and flattering to almost every skin tone. It has a softness about it that is usually lacking in most deep colors; it's not a shocker. Even the most conservative women, who perhaps dislike any deep tone, will find themselves tempted by this. It makes the skin look whiter and more youthful by contrast. If you want to keep the same key tone but get an even deeper effect use two coats rather than one.

There is a lipstick to match this, and even cheek rouge in stick form. You can buy it in any one of three ways. The de luxe presentation is a heart shaped box with tufted taffeta top containing the new nail polish shade and the matching lipstick. Or you can buy the new enamel in combination with a top coat preparation that steps up the drying process and gives a diamond-like brilliance. Or, if you like those handy little cosmetic cases for your purse, look for one in satin or faille fitted with the rosy-tinted enamel and a bottle of remover. In any case, you'll be acquiring excellent polish, plus.

Progress in Church Merger Is Reported at Conference Here

Progress toward union of the Presbyterian church of the United States with the American Episcopal church was reported last night by Bishop Edward L. Parsons of San Francisco, Cal., after two days' joint sessions of the commission on approaches to unity of the Episcopal church and the department of coöperation and union of the Presbyterian church, at the Stevens hotel.

"We had a very successful two days of discussion of next steps toward unity between the two churches," Bishop Parsons said. "We have started new studies on which special committees will report at our June meeting. We will be able to announce the specific progress of the meeting just closed after changes in the plan have been put in final shape."

Joint studies looking toward union of Presbyterian and Episcopal churches, authorized by the general convention of the Episcopal church and the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, have been in progress for several years.

Met Opera Roll Contains 101 Singing Stars

New York, Nov. 6 [Special].—The artistic personnel of the Metropolitan Opera association will consist of 101 leading singers during the coming season, according to the prospectus made public today. There will be 36 sopranos, 13 mezzo-sopranos and contraltos, 22 tenors, 18 baritones, and 12 bassos.

The prospectus adds that "there may be additions to this list as some negotiations are still pending."

The war has affected the prospectus in the few days since it was sent to the printer, for the names of Jussi Bjoerling and Tito Schipa are listed among the tenors, but they have notified the management that they must be in Europe.

Among the names of artists missing from the prospectus the most eminent is that of Kirsten Flagstad. Others are Dorothee Manski, Elsa Zebranska, Nicholas Massue, Arnold Garbor, and James Wolfe.

Preview Tea Will Open New Lincoln Exhibit

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE trustees of the Chicago Historical society have cards out for a special preview of the Lincoln Dioramas on Sunday, Nov. 16, at 4 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy have invited the members of the society to tea in the senate chamber half an hour later. Mr. Cudahy, who succeeded the late Charles B. Pike as president of the society, is taking this opportunity of greeting for the first time the members whose interest and generosity have done much to make the historical society one of Chicago's outstanding institutions.

There are 20 dioramas, depicting Lincoln's life from childhood until that fatal night when he was shot as he sat in a box in Ford's theater. Two years have been consumed in their construction and extensive research was necessary, of course. Dr. Louis E. Warren of the Lincoln Life Foundation in Fort Wayne, Henry Pratt, executive secretary of the Abraham Lincoln association in Springfield, and Paul Angle, librarian of the Illinois State Historical society in Springfield, are all expected to attend the preview. They composed the board of consultants for the museum extension program, sponsored by the Chicago board of education, which built the dioramas under the supervision of the historical society.

Wives of Officials Among Those Presiding at Tea Tables

Mrs. Cecil Barnes, whose husband is treasurer of the society; Mrs. William McCormick Blair, whose husband is a trustee; Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, whose husband is second vice president; Mrs. Garfield King, whose husband is a trustee; Mrs. Arthur Meeker, Mrs. William R. Odell, Mrs. Potter Palmer [Mr. Palmer also is a trustee], Mrs. Albert A. Sprague, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, a trustee, and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine have been invited by Mrs. Cudahy to preside at the tea tables.

Frank J. Loesch is first vice president of the society and L. Hubbard Shattuck, the secretary-director. The other trustees are Charles S. Dewey, who is residing in Washington now; Robert C. Fergus, Marshall Field III., Col. Thomas R. Gowenlock, Dr. Clarence W. Hennan, Dr. James A. James, Sterling Morton, Mrs. Charles B. Pike, and Joseph T. Ryerson.

Invitations are out for a fall tea of the White Elephant Rummage shop committee, to be given at 3 o'clock on Nov. 18 at the Casino. "To gain admission you should have a package in your hand," guests are reminded on the invitation. Contents of all the packages will be sold at the rummage shop for the benefit of the Children's Memorial hospital. Plans for the tea, one of two large events sponsored each year by the committee, are in Mrs. T. Philip Swift's hands. Her vice chairmen are Miss Helen Gurley and Mrs. Orville E. Babcock Jr.

Dodging the Rain at Hunter Trials

Two sisters who look enough alike to be twins are Mrs. Harold Byron Smith and Mrs. F. Donald Bateman, both of whom reside in Barrington. Here they are avoiding the rain by sitting in a car as they watched the Wayne-Du Page Hunter trials, the only ones that have been held this year, due to bad jumping conditions. Both young women will enjoy Florida vacations this winter, for their mother, Mrs. H. Stillson Hart, also of Barrington, will open her Palm Beach home shortly after Christmas.

Surgeons Lay Pipeline, Drain Brain of Water

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP).—Brain plumbing, a new surgical operation by which a small rubber pipeline is buried permanently inside the gray matter was described to the American College of Surgeons here today.

The operation is done to relieve blindness, nausea, headaches, paralysis and worse complications that often lead to death in a disease known as hydrocephalus, or water head.

The report was made by Dr. James C. White, who served until recently in London as an American reserve naval medical observer, and Dr. Jost J. Michelsen. Both are of Harvard medical school. Michelson delivered the report.

Hydrocephalus is accumulation in the brain of the spinal fluid manufactured by a small organ high up in the middle of the brain. The passage by which this fluid goes to the spine and to bathe the whole brain becomes clogged.

In adults this leads to a high pressure in the brain and, if the blocking is bad, to death. In children it causes oversize heads.

The Harvard doctors gave credit to others for originating the pipeline, and reported five adults so treated are still alive and improved, and one, a navy yard worker, is back on his job.

The pipeline begins near the top of the brain, tapping one of the ventricles which act as cisterns for collection of spinal fluid. The pipe, of hard rubber, carries the trapped fluid to the back lining of the brain and then connects with the lower cistern lying near the base of the brain.

Projected Concert Tour Is Canceled by Kreisler

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Fritz Kreisler, world famous violinist, who recovered from severe injuries suffered last April 26, when he was struck by a truck at a crowded New York City intersection, will not make a concert tour scheduled to begin in January. It was announced today that 26 appearances by the 66 year old violinist will be canceled or deferred, but that Kreisler planned a tour for next fall. It was asserted that the musician had completely recovered from the injuries he suffered.

Verdi Authority.

Giovanni Cardelli is straightening out the background of Verdi's The Masked Ball, which opens the opera season tomorrow evening, for interested listeners in a lecture at the Arts club this morning. The plot of the opera was based on the assassination of Gustavus III. of Sweden at a masked ball, but for Verdi's opera the setting was made in Naples, and the hero an Italian nobleman. When the opera was in rehearsal in Rome in 1859 an attempt was made on the life of Napoleon III., and it was thought impolitic to present an opera with an assassination plot so near home. Thus the setting was switched to Boston and the hero made the governor of Boston.

Young Count Cardelli possibly is the best informed person on the life of Verdi in the world. He spent seven years writing a biography of Verdi. The Italian composer, who wrote Falstaff at eighty, and whose life was an unbroken progression of achievement, is a national hero to Italian boys, much as Lincoln is to Americans, according to Cardelli.

PROOF.

Silver dawn and sunset gold,
Summer's warmth and winter's cold,
A linnet's song from the marshy sedge,
The snowy whiteness of a hawthorn hedge,
A baby's smile, the lights of home,
A bright star in the heaven's dome—
All these and more are proof to me
Of God and His Divinity.

—Thomas Carter Law.

Cuff Notes.

Salcia Bahnc, well known artist of Polish birth who lived and painted in Chicago for many years, then went to Paris, is back in town with her French husband, Eugene Petit, and her child, after many months of struggle to get here. Petit was arrested when the Nazis took Paris because a copy, in French, of Wells' Outline of History was in his possession, and he was considered a communist. He was thrown into a concentration camp. . . . That little leather bag with a drawstring top Margalo Gillmore carried when she went thru town on her way to Kalamazoo to appear as Vinnie in Life with Father was not a bowling ball bag, altho it looked like it. It was a new kind of overnight bag. . . . That was Janet Blair, formerly singer with a band, now a movie star, hatless, her blonde hair flowing to the shoulders of her dark blue suit, on Michigan avenue yesterday.

U. of Chicago Alumni, Faculty Will Present 'The Beggar's Opera'

"The Beggar's Opera," which was first performed for the public in the London of 1728, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in Mandel hall by a cast drawn from the faculty and alumni of the University of Chicago.

The comic opera, which has not been played in Chicago during the last ten years, is for the benefit of the University of Chicago settlement. It deals with the adventures of a highwayman dodging the gallows and forced to decide whether he loves a crook's daughter or his jailer's daughter more.

Rachmaninoff Stirs Audience to Rising Salute

BY EDWARD BARRY.

To be honored in Orchestra hall is no novelty to Sergei Rachmaninoff. Many times during the last 32 years he has bowed his angular bow before a wildly demonstrating audience there after a session with the piano or the baton. Many more times he has been honored in absentia when his compositions have appeared on symphony programs or on the programs of other pianists.

Yet what awaited him in the same hall last night must have moved even his well disciplined spirit to a little rejoicing. The audience rose to its feet in his honor not once but twice. The Chicago Symphony orchestra gave him a brilliant fanfare. Palms pounded against enthusiastic palms at frequent intervals thruout the evening.

This was an all-Rachmaninoff program, with Frederick Stock conducting and with the composer cast in the rôle of soloist in a first Chicago performance of the revised version of his Fourth Piano concerto.

The evening opened with the Vocalise for Solo Violins and Orchestra [based on a textless song]. It was played with a tone quality so pure that the ear could detect no admixture of dross.

The Third symphony, in A minor, followed. As a whole, this is a work which it is easier to respect than to love. It is frugal, late Rachmaninoff, not the generous, flooding Rachmaninoff of the Second symphony.

The instrumentation is less voluptuous. The themes, for all their beauty and provocativeness, do not flow so intoxicatingly nor lend themselves so easily to those exciting summings-up at the end. Moreover, one movement [the third] persistently refuses to jell. Far from coming to seem natural and inevitable, its rhythms still surprise the listener and sometimes, it must be admitted, even the musicians.

The symphonic poem, "The Island of the Dead," which stood third on the program, is perhaps the most successful modern musical embodiment of the awful—the awful in the strict, not the coloquial sense of the term. The orchestra piled up the piece's grim sonorities competently.

The new piano concerto, played with a quiet expertness by the composer, should become a popular work. Here Rachmaninoff is concerned with his beautiful lost 19th century musical world. Altho the Fourth concerto lacks the fullness and the passion and the all-out quality of the Second and Third, its themes are sometimes reminiscent of an earlier Rachmaninoff in their rueful, down dropping character and in the darkness and richness of their tonal dress.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 6.—Salvatore Baccaloni, the Met's fat comedian, is a great hit in the local season of the San Francisco Opera company. At parties he sings what he calls blocked songs. He'll rumble about four bars of "Ol' Man River" and then stop. It's a gag retaliation for the way he gets paid in this country. All he earns—and he got more than $50,000 for his first year in the United States—goes into a government supervised blocked account. Uncle Sam lets him have only $500 a month and keeps the rest for him at pretty good interest. He's now dickering for an allowance of $2,500 a month so he can put up a front commensurate with his standing as an opera star. . . . Baccaloni's physical front is quite large. He's only 40, but was in the last war—and then he weighed 90 pounds. He was gassed, went to Switzerland to recuperate, and began gaining weight.

Salvatore Baccaloni.

Alan Hale, who at 49 has been a movie actor longer than anybody else still working steadily, gives off what sounds like a line of double talk when discussing chemical formulas. But people who know say he's a shark at chemistry. His real name is Alan MacKahn. His pappy manufactured patent medicines. Alan heads a company that manufactures fire extinguishers, has another one which makes theater chairs. His favorite gag is to tell some bug eyed listener, with convincing detail, about his newest invention—cement automobile tires. Going to revolutionize the motor industry, he says; but he's got to wait until we have rubber roads.

Having read in this column that Brod Crawford painfully burned his hand lighting a cigaret when a whole bunch of matches went up, a lighter manufacturer sent Brod one of his gadgets. It's a custom built affair with Brod's initials on one side and "It Can't Happen Here" engraved on the other.

When the ASCAP-radio quarrel was finally settled Sigmund Romberg pulled a Goldwynism that is almost classic in perfection. Somebody asked him how ASCAP came out in the deal. "We won hands up," said Romberg.

Ginger Rogers and Henry Fonda will play a bride and bridegroom in one of the episodes of "Tales of Manhattan." Their selection completes the cast, which is an all-time high for star names. . . . Metro is busy as anything on a movie of the Harvey railroad restaurant chain. It's a new angle on a historical western. Titled "The Harvey Girls," it will tell of five high class young ladies who tamed the wild and woolly with good food and good deportment. The rôles will be played by Lana Turner, Hedy Lamarr, Ruth Hussey, Marcia Hunt, and Patricia Dane—which is quite a cast, too. . . . Little Carolyn Lee will be starred by Paramount in a remake of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." First film version of this story had Virginia Weidler, Pauline Lord, and W. C. Fields. . . . Story is that Babe Ruth gets 25 g's for playing himself in Goldwyn's screen biography of Lou Gehrig.

When RKO brought 25 Taos and Jeme Indians from New Mexico for studio shots on "Valley of the Sun," it had its hands full keeping the boys happy. Once they went on a strike for more dough—and they just had to see a movie every night. The pictures were shown to the red men in the studio, and I instituted a poll on their preferences.

You could guess it, of course, westerns were favorites—cowboy-and-Indian stuff. Comedies were absolute riots. If the Americans of the Taos pueblo are any indication, drawing room stuff is on its way out. Most favored picture was Lupe Velez's "Mexican Spitfire Out West." High in the running were Richard Dix's "The Arizonian" and George O'Brien's "Arizona Legion." Given a choice one night of "Gone with the Wind" or "Hurry, Charlie, Hurry," they picked the latter, featuring Leon Errol.

The Indians have returned to Taos, and they think the one movie theater there should reduce its tap of 45 cents so that more Indians could see movies all the time.

I told you the other day about the shortage of Polynesian types for several south sea island pictures. Well, in "Son of Fury," Ray Mala, an Eskimo, is working as a Tahitian. So is Pedro de Cordoba. And so is one Virginia Hogan, whom a casting scout flagged down on Hollywood boulevard. She's a perfect Polynesian type—but she has a Mexican mother, an Irish father, and a red haired baby boy. Many of the real Hawaiians working in "Song of the Islands," "Son of Fury," and other pictures are beginning to grumble. They've been working steadily for two months—and that's too long for a real islander.

Laird Cregar, who wanted to be an actor and who was grubstaked by the Philadelphia Rotary club, plans to establish a scholarship in Philadelphia to help aspiring young players.

Lounge Gowns of Flannelette Smart and Cozy

BY REA SEEGER.

Wait till you see the newest flannelette lingerie especially designed for warmth and cozy comfort during the winter season before you automatically sniff just because of the "flannelette" part. It takes positive genius to cut and sew this warm fuzzy stuff and achieve beauty plus the pictorial effects of chiffon, satin, and lace lingerie. But it's been done and the results are really something. Long sleeved nightgowns fitted in around the waist and hiplines with the same cling as satin or crêpe are equal to any exacting demand of a shopper.

They are trimmed with cotton braid, cotton fringe, boast interesting floral designs, flattering high necklines and smart flared skirts. Some are smooth enough to be worn as indoor lounging outfits. Even the official name of these flannelette finds has glamor. Lounge gowns [the new name] are not only practical but gay and young looking. Floral prints against pastel and white backgrounds are appealingly dainty. All sizes are featured and the price marks are extremely easy to take.

These lounge gowns are designed and made for winter wear and for cozy lounging. They have been the special delight of the college crowd for months. Then the career girls took them over and now the entire feminine shopping crowd barges in to inspect the models, and it's a stubborn lady who doesn't succumb to their charm.

Two-piece pajamas made of the same soft cotton are other prize winning outfits for a chilly night out on the old sleeping porch. The pajamas are cut and seamed with the same youthful snap as the gowns, with the same pictorial appeal. Amusing appliqued designs such as kittens, small slap happy pups, and funny little cubs accentuate the appeal of flannelette gone gayly and provocatively frivolous.

Ugly Dandruff Is Unnecessary; Seek Source

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

On the street the other day we saw a woman whose extremely shapely legs were encased in the smart, dark-toned, but very sheer, chiffons and good looking, black suede shoes. Her suit was black, with black velvet shoulder and collar line, very 1942, and her hat was something smart to see, too.

My young companion said: "Isn't she stunning!"

I agreed. She was stunning. But we drew closer as the woman stopped to greet a friend, and the girl with me exclaimed: "Dandruff! Did you see that dandruff on her coat?" I had seen it, a veritable shower of it.

True, one doesn't see that sort of dandruff shower on coats or dresses often, but it is fairly shocking when one does notice it on a person who obviously could well afford professional treatment if she didn't feel equal to it herself. Anyway, it was pretty bad, and utterly destructive of that fine first impression.

Dandruff of that type calls for consultation with some one familiar with hair and scalp ills. In the meantime, however, a good shampoo would go a long way toward hiding the tendency. A good scalp unguent coud be used with benefit, but frequent shampooing when the hair is greasy, will be effective. To keep the hair and scalp clean, excessively clean, is the thing to do, and shampooing may be done once a week, twice a week, without fear of harming the hair. An emergency trick, when a shampoo isn't convenient, is to remove excess dandruff by parting the hair and rubbing the scalp with a towel, rubbing briskly, and then brushing with a clean brush.

the debutante festivities as soon as she arrives home for the holidays on Dec. 20 from Bryn Mawr college. On the following day, the 21st, her mother, Mrs. Le Baron Turner of Geneva, will give a luncheon for her at the Dunham Woods Riding club. Miss Turner made her debut in September at the Shoreacres club at a luncheon given by her aunt, Miss Margaret Thompson.

Prof. Thomas D. Eliot Goes East for Son's Wedding.

Prof. Thomas D. Eliot of Winnetka departed yesterday for Swarthmore, Pa., where he will attend the marriage tomorrow of his son, Thomas L. Eliot II., and Miss Mary Elizabeth Noyes. Illness will prevent Mrs. Eliot from making the trip. Miss Noyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Faber Noyes of Swarthmore, was graduated from the Baldwin school and from Wellesley college. Mr. Eliot attended the North Shore Country Day school and Harvard. He and his bride will make their home in Washington, D. C., where he is employed in the office of the secretary of the navy.

"Don't dress," members of the Casino club were told when they were invited to tonight's opening party at the club, for comfortable costumes are imperative for the old-fashioned square dancing which will follow dinner. Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer has planned the party with the aid of Mrs. Kent S. Clow, Mrs. John A. Stevenson, and Walter Frazier. About 135 guests have made reservations. Among those entertaining are the Clows, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. McCreary, Mr. and Mrs. Byron S. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus G. Hill, and Mrs. Clive Runnells, who will have Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Keith as her guests.

Junior School Trustees Giving Breakfast Today.

The board of trustees of the Chicago Junior school is giving a breakfast at noon today at the Arts club for the presidents of all groups and the committee members who are working to make a success of a benefit to be given in December for the school. It will be a concert by the St. Louis Symphony orchestra on Monday, Dec. 1, in Orchestra hall. Mrs. John Grant McDonald is in charge of arrangements for the breakfast.

Handicraft articles brought here from Labrador will be included in a Christmas sale which the Chicago branch of the Grenfell association of America will hold today in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Fremont A. Chandler, 1350 North State parkway.

Mrs. Harold C. Pynchon is in charge of the tea which the Cliff Dwellers will give this afternoon after the symphony concert. Assisting her will be Mrs. Byron S. Harvey Jr., Mrs. R. Winfield Ellis, Mrs. Ralph Chapman, and Mrs. Thomas I. Underwood.

At the Cordon club James Swann, secretary of the Chicago Society of Etchers, will be the especial guest at the weekly symphony tea. The tea will mark the opening of a memorial exhibit of the works of Bertha Jacques, who was identified prominently with the Chicago Society of Etchers. Mr. Swann will speak of Mrs. Jacques' work, and Mrs. Edward Schauffler will add personal reminiscences. Annette Thorn Anderson, soprano, and Tera Sells, accompanist, will give a brief musical program. The receiving line will be headed by Mrs. Roy Dickey, president of the club.

College Club Is Having Membership Tea Today.

The Chicago College club's regular Friday tea also will be a membership tea, with the membership committee serving as hostesses. Mrs. Thomas A. Banning, Miss Helen G. Johnson, and Mrs. A. E. McCordic will pour.

Dr. Dudley Crafts Watson will describe his "New Adventures in Old Mexico" with colored movies following dinner this evening at the Cliff Dwellers. Among those with reservations are Mr. and Mrs. Percy B. Eckhart, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Engerle, Dr. Bradley C. Downing, Mr. and Mrs. Marx Oberndorfer, and Mr. and Mrs. Percival Truman.

The Council on Foreign Relations usually has men and women at its speakers' tables at its luncheon meetings, but when Eugene J. Houdry speaks next Monday only men will sit with him and Richard Bentley, president. Mrs. Bentley will have a small table with Mrs. Houdry as her especial guest. Mr. Houdry, founder and president of France Forever, will talk on "Oil and the War."

Mrs. Edward Byron Smith is a new director of the Arts club, having been elected yesterday at the annual meeting. Officers are elected in the spring. Reëlected to serve as directors were Mrs. T. W. Badger, Mrs. Jacob Baur, William Darrow, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, W. Woodbridge Dickinson, John T. McCutcheon, Charles S. Dewey, Mrs. Potter Palmer, John Alden Carpenter, Paul Schulze, and Daniel Catton Rich.

Stage Note

The Dorothy Donnelly-Sigmund Romberg operetta, "Blossom Time," returns to this city once again, opening on Sunday, Nov. 23, at the Grand Opera house with Everett Marshall, Patricia Wing, Martha Errolle, Frank Hornaday and Douglas Leavitt in the leading rôles.

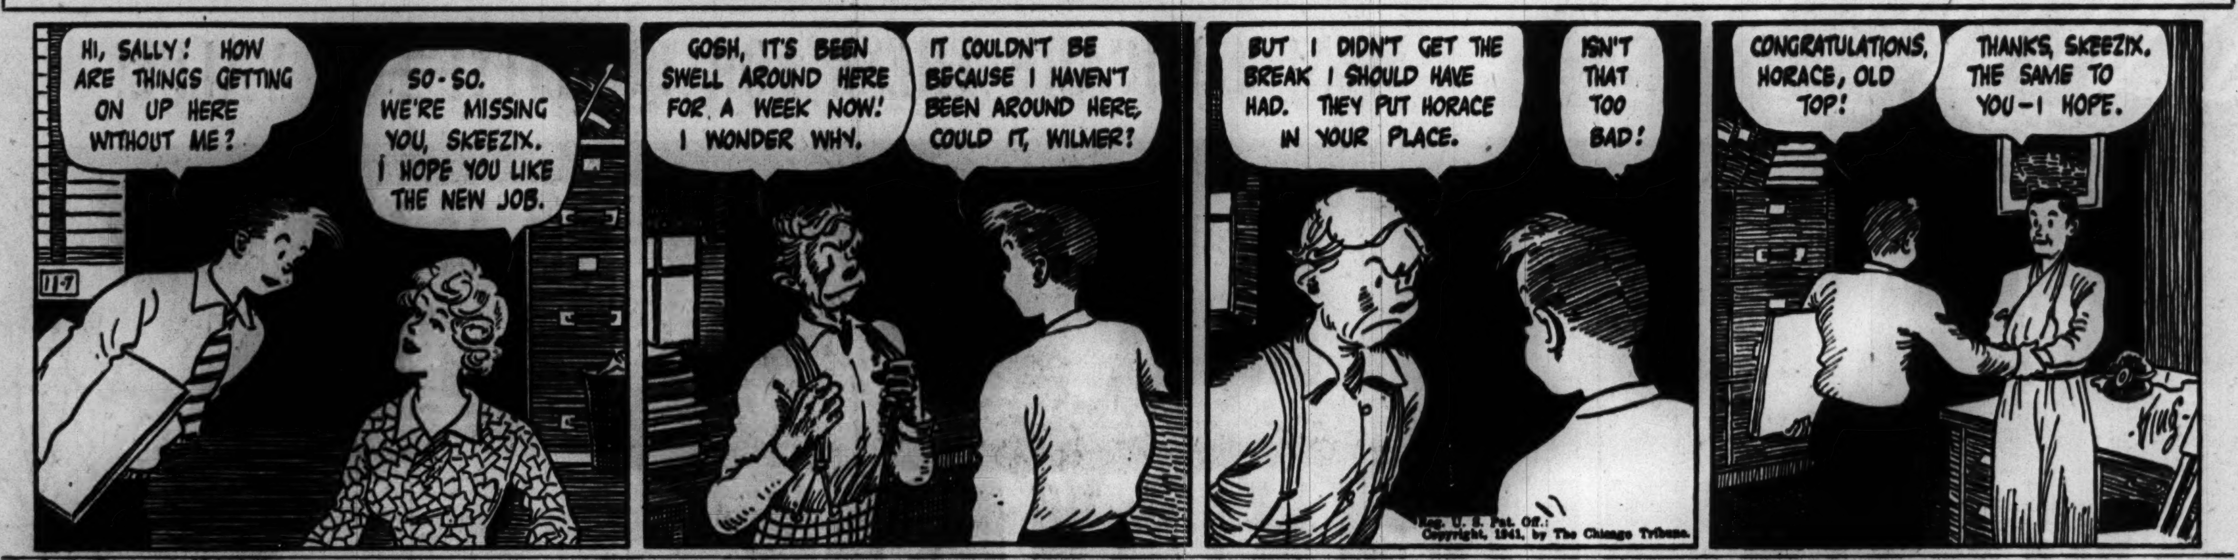
GASOLINE ALLEY—THERE AIN'T NO JUSTICE



HI, SALLY! HOW ARE THINGS GETTING ON UP HERE WITHOUT ME?
SO-SO. WE'RE MISSING YOU, SKEEZIX. I HOPE YOU LIKE THE NEW JOB.
GOSH, IT'S BEEN SWELL AROUND HERE FOR A WEEK NOW! I WONDER WHY.
IT COULDN'T BE BECAUSE I HAVEN'T BEEN AROUND HERE, COULD IT, WILMER?
BUT I DIDN'T GET THE BREAK I SHOULD HAVE HAD. THEY PUT HORACE IN YOUR PLACE.
ISN'T THAT TOO BAD!
CONGRATULATIONS, HORACE, OLD TOP!
THANKS, SKEEZIX. THE SAME TO YOU—I HOPE.

A Princess Style Jumper

CLEVER JUMPER COSTUME.

Princess lines, always comfortable and smart, are the foundation of this jumper model. The neckline is a low V front and back, the shoulders are wide and secure, and the model buttons down the side. A pocket is optional, and the blouse is a casual, practical, shirt model.

Style No. 3201 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20. Size 16 requires 1⅞ yards of 54 inch material for jumper; 2⅛ yards of 39 inch for long-sleeved blouse; 1⅛ yards for short-sleeved blouse.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

Nov. 7, 1941.

November—The symbol of the number eight is of a figure of justice with a sword in the right hand and balanced scales in the left hand. If we apply this to the events of this month and look ahead to when the world will be in an eight year, which will be 1943, we may hope for that justice to be applied. But remember that when justice is given we can't be wrong ourselves and hope to escape our own punishment. If we make the mistake of trying to assert our own power over others, we shall bring down the wrath of justice on our own heads. There is no place for hate in the working out of this number in the problem before us. That doesn't mean we have to let the bully eight dominate us, but we must deal impartial justice to all.

Her Husband Was a Stranger

HIS COOLNESS was hard to bear. She blamed it on everything but the real cause—her "ONE NEGLECT"—carelessness about feminine hygiene. You can prevent this threat to your romance. Do as modern women do. Use Lysol for your intimate personal care. Endorsed by many doctors, Lysol does more than cleanse and deodorize. It kills millions of germs on instant contact, without harm or discomfort to sensitive tissues. Economical. Small bottle makes almost 4 gallons of antiseptic solution for feminine hygiene.

School Hard for the Tired, Weary Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

If, at the moment, it's the quality of your child's schoolwork which worries you, look for tiredness as one factor in his trouble. The cure is largely in your hands, with help, perhaps, from both doctor and teacher.

Having crossed out definite physical origins, such as anemia or some other difficulty, by a doctor's general examination, you can now go at the cure. And cure the condition you must, because a child who is always tired can't enjoy school, do his work well, or play or live generally with zest.

First, your child's diet must be well rounded to supply him with the energy he needs. Next, he must have vigorous exercise. He must have lots of fresh air. And he must have rest, plenty of it. If you think he has what some "chart" may specify, and that should be enough rest, maybe it isn't. Maybe he's different, growing more, more intense than the non-existing "average" child. Give him more night rest, get it in in the daytime if you have to. Remember, too, that things other than these cause fatigue. Fear, anxiety, unhappiness all sap energy. By keen observation and doing something, cure your child's fatigue.

And don't gauge him by some other child. What one can do with ease, another can't. The fact that sturdy Mary-next-door can swing thru her day and be fresh as morning doesn't mean that your child can do the same. The fact that happy-go-lucky, objective Richard-across-the-street never "bats an eye" in the face of the most strenuous activity, doesn't mean that your son will or must. What Mary and Richard can do is not necessarily a rule or standard for you, altho we should have a general picture of what normal activity and endurance consist of.

The point is that your child is an individual, physically as well as in other aspects of his personality. Treat HIM and plan his day for HIM, not some other child.

Is spanking the best way to control a willful child? What ten rules will help you make your child an obedient one? Answers to these and other problems in rearing children are given in the new book, "You and Your Young Child," by Gladys Huntington Bevans, Tribune child training editor. On sale at Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 S. Dearborn St., and Tribune Tower, 435 North Michigan Ave. Price, 15 cents. Postpaid, 18 cents.

Preceding the meeting Miss Betty Browning, club editor of THE TRIBUNE, will address a school of instruction for publicity chairmen of districts and units.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

LAST FRIDAY'S QUESTION.

Question 15: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. You are South, the dealer, and hold:

♠ K Q J 10 9 6 2 ♥ K Q J 10 9 5 ♦— ♣—

What call do you make?

Answer: One spade. Any other call has serious defects. True, you have game in your own hand but you dare not open with a two bid, because, if partner holds several high cards in diamonds or clubs, where they will be worthless, you will land in a hopeless slam. Conversely, a preëmptive bid of three, four, or five spades or hearts can only be misleading to partner, who will have no conception of your actual holding. By starting with one spade and later jumping vigorously in hearts, you can give partner a good enough picture of your holding and very likely reach a slam, if it should be reached. [Twenty points demerit for 2 spades; 30 points demerit for 1 or 2 hearts; 35 points demerit for 4 spades; 40 points demerit for 3 spades; 50 points demerit for any other call.]

TODAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 23: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:

♠ A 10 6 4 ♥ 3 ♦ Q 7 4 3 ♣ 9 6 5 2

What call do you make?

Question 24: Rubber bridge; both sides vulnerable. The bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West

4 spades	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:

♣ A Q J 4 3

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 no trump	2 spades
3 clubs	Double [final bid]

The bidding is decidedly not recommended. North's response to one club should have been one diamond, not one no trump; and South's free rebid of clubs was no thing of beauty. However, South made up for this bid by the way he handled the dangerous contract.

West opened the spade king. The ace won, and a low spade was immediately ruffed with the club three. A diamond was led to the king, and dummy's last spade was ruffed with the four spot. Declarer now laid down the heart king. East won and returned a diamond. Declarer hopped up with the ace and led a heart to the queen. Having taken six tricks, the blank king of clubs in East's hand made it impossible for declarer to go wrong on his remaining A-Q-J and, thus, the contract was fulfilled.

The important feature had been that declarer had brought home his low, and losing, trumps by ruffing. At the end, West was in the annoying position of holding more trumps than he had any use for.

16,000 Mums in Bloom for Park Exhibits

The 750,000 buds and blossoms on the 16,000 chrysanthemum plants in the Garfield and Lincoln park conservatories are all groomed and ready for the opening tomorrow of the Chicago Park district's 29th annual chrysanthemum show — the world's largest exhibit of its kind.

Single blossoms 21 inches in diameter and others—dainty pompons—a quarter of an inch across are among the 750 varieties on display. There are grafted plants with 85 different varieties growing on a single stalk and plants with 500 blossoms.

The show will continue daily thru Nov. 30. There is no admittance charge and the conservatories are open from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m.

GARY BOXER TO SEEK HIS 18TH VICTORY IN ROW

Concedes Veteran Ten Pounds.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, will give Booker Beckwith his 18th professional test in a 10 round bout tonight in Chicago Stadium. Altho he probably will encounter the stiffest opposition of his two year career, the rangy Negro boxer is expected to keep his record clear. About 10,000 fans will see for themselves at a cost of about $25,000.

At 183 pounds, Pastor will outweigh Booker 10 pounds. However, this weight disadvantage will not be a new experience for the 21 year old Gary fighter. On six previous occasions—against Red Burman, Nash Garrison, Lee Oma, Erv Sarlin, Altus Allen, and Selman Martin—he gave away weight and still came out victorious.

Hopes for Title Bout.

Because of his success against these big boys, followers conclude Booker may be evading rivals in his own weight class in an attempt to earn a title match with Joe Louis. Beckwith has no such idea. He has invaded the heavyweight field because he has chased leading 175 pound rivals into hiding, including Gus Lesnevich, division title holder. He believes conquests of topnotch heavyweights, such as Pastor, eventually will force Lesnevich to risk his championship against him in the Stadium under the auspices of Promoter William R. Rand.

Beckwith is so hard pressed for work that he had to accept a mere 15 per cent of the gate receipts in order to accommodate his foe with a 32½ per cent share.

Beckwith Has Strong Record.

Pastor, who is 27 years old, believes he will snap Beckwith's string of triumphs and perhaps score his seventh consecutive decision. His chance of success seems to rest in his ability to outbox his opponent. If he elects to slug it out with Booker, as indicated in training bouts, Bob will leave himself open for a possible knockout. Ten of Beckwith's 17 victories were accomplished in that manner.

Jimmy Johnston, Pastor's manager, expects his protégé to score a knockout within seven rounds. Bob is a punishing hitter but not a knockerout. The majority of his 13 abbreviated conquests were of the technical knockout variety.

Hogue Faces Jessurun.

A 10 round encounter between Willis [Shorty] Hogue, San Diego, Cal., 156 pounder, and Andre Jessurun of New York will follow the Pastor-Beckwith contest. In matches of eight rounds Willard [Big Boy] Hogue, twin middleweight brother of of Willis, is paired with George Mitchell of South Chicago, and Joey Pirrone, Cleveland lightweight, is paired with Marcellina [K. O.] Borrado of Louisville. Jimmy Joyce, Gary junior lightweight, and Matt Daugherty, Milwaukee, will see action in a six round opener.

Three thousand five hundred tickets at $1.20 will be placed on sale this evening at 6:30 o'clock at gates 1, 3, and 6 of the Stadium.

BILLIARDS MEET ENDS IN TRIPLE TIE; PLAY TODAY

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6 (AP).—The 1941 world's pocket billiards round robin tournament ended in a triple tie tonight. As a result, Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia will meet Erwin Rudolph of Cleveland, O., in a play-off tomorrow afternoon, with the loser meeting Irving Crane of Livonia, N. Y. Then, tomorrow night, the two winners will compete for top honors in the $10,000 classic.

Crane and Rudolph joined Mosconi in the play-off by capturing their eighth victories against three defeats tonight. Rudolph, a four time winner of the title, beat Jimmy Caras of Wilmington, Del., 125 to 90, in 14 innings. Crane defeated Andrew Ponzi of New York, 125 to 123.

Rambling Rhyme.

He's never made the headlines and he's never yearned for fame, and outside his closest neighbors very few have heard his name. He's had his disappointments as the years have onward rolled, and when he quits this earthly scene he won't leave much of gold. But when at night his tasks are done and he comes home to rest, he gets a royal welcome from the folks who know him best. His home is not pretentious and his wants are rather few; he's never traveled very much, the way that some folks do. But when he has some leisure time he spends those extra hours in caring for a garden that's a masterpiece of flowers. And when others are in trouble and there's sickness and despair; when the shadows gather thickest you will always find him there. His life has been a battle and his tasks are hard, but say: Our whole neighborhood is better just because he's out our way.

Contrast.

You light a cigaret with studied calm
And blow thin wreaths of smoke into the air,
And look at me with cool indifference, and
Somehow I knew past doubting that you care.

Because you are the kind who will not wear
Your heart upon your sleeve for all to see,
While I just scribble burning rhymes of love
That tell the world just what you mean to me.

Sobs of a Substitute.

I asked the beauty on the street today
If she would visit that sick boy with me,
But she said they had taken him away
To a small hamlet out in Tennessee;
And when I asked who paid the railroad fare,
She blushed a bit and said she didn't know;
But she felt sure he'd be much better where
There weren't any winter winds or snow.

When I spoke of the watch I heard her moan,
She was quite penitent, or so it seemed;
She said she'd work her fingers to the bone
Until my watch and pin had been redeemed;
And then she murmured in a soulful sob,
"I'm leaving now to find myself a job."

Ten Years Ago Today—Northwestern took the lead in the Big Ten football race by defeating Minnesota, 32 to 14. . . . Notre Dame knocked over Pennsylvania's unbeaten team, 49 to 0. . . . Stan Fay's and Harry Newman's brilliant playing enabled Michigan to whip Indiana, 22 to 0. . . . The Chicago Maroons tied Arkansas, 13 to 13, and Wisconsin beat Illinois, 7 to 6.

WILDCATS FEAR HILLENBRAND, THE HOOSIER METEOR

They're Worried, Too, by Benson's Injury.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Grunts and groans echo around the training lot of Northwestern's Wildcats as they rehearse for their scheduled job with Indiana's footballers at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in Dyche stadium.

The groans are originating from the players who still are carrying aches and bruises as evidence that they had a hand in last week's struggle with undefeated Minnesota.

The grunting pours from the throat of Coach Lynn Waldorf, who now feels that the defeat by the Gophers might have been avoided had he worked himself into a more intensive state of worry last week. To make up this he is doing it now—to such extremes that he is picturing the Hoosiers as his superconcern of the season.

Benson May Not Start.

Possibly the aches and pains of the refugees from the Minnesota battle will have vanished by tomorrow but even if the worst happens, there probably will not be much of a change in the Wildcats' starting ensemble. The one exception is George Benson, who has been in at full back for all the opening kickoffs. The arnica experts have been attending him all week in hopes of restoring a Gopher—scarred leg to normal. If the ailment persists, Don Clawson will be dropped into the piledriver's seat.

Both Floyd Chambers, who looks after the right half back chores, and Ira Kepford, who works while Chambers is catching his breath, also are patients as the result of last week's banging but these are mild problems. Center Don Johnson also has physical souvenirs presented by the Gophers. Chambers undoubtedly will start, with the remainder of the back field made up of Bill De Correvont at left half, Dick Erdlitz at quarter and Benson or Clawson at full.

Watch That Hillenbrand!

In his effort to prove that his fretting over Indiana is legitimate, Waldorf continued yesterday to tell his boys that it will take more than a leisurely defense to hamper the travel tendencies of the Hoosiers' slippery Bill Hillenbrand. The Wildcats' boss also warned that an eye would have to be kept on Guard Charley Steele, who has slipped thru enemy lines so frequently this fall there no longer is any moaning about the injury suffered by Capt. Gene White in the Texas Christian engagement.

Steele, who, in his career at Indiana has run up a total of six broken bones, stuck for 55 minutes in the show that wound up in a 21 to 13 defeat for Nebraska. He was one of three Hoosiers who battled the full 60 minutes in the 27 to 25 setback at Wisconsin.

Advance sale of tickets indicates a crowd of 35,000. Several thousand $1.75 general admissions will be placed on sale in Dyche stadium tomorrow.

INDIANA ON WAY.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 6 [Special].—Working in rain, Indiana finished tuning its offense and defense today before leaving for Evanston to meet Northwestern Saturday. Rain Wrecks New Sod; Navy to Meet Notre Dame in Mud

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—As rain and fog swept over the Chesapeake shore today, followers of the undefeated Navy football squad were jubilant. For the Navy team, tested last week in the mud of Franklin field, where the Middies trounced Pennsylvania, is practically an unanimous choice in the east to beat Notre Dame under similar conditions.

Sixty-six thousand will watch the 15th game between the Irish and the Navy in the series that began in 1927. While Navy has won only three games, this seems the best opportunity for victory in recent years. Navy has the power and the replacements to plunge steadily forward over a muddy gridiron. Last Saturday in New York's Yankee stadium Notre Dame and Army wallowed in rain and mire to a scoreless tie.

Rush to "Save" Gridiron.

Forty-eight hours may change the present game conditions. There is slight doubt, however, but that the field will be slow, since the rains came just as a re-sodding job was begun in Municipal stadium. Whether this will prevent Notre Dame from capitalizing on its excellent forward pass attack remains to be seen. On this, as in few other games, the result of Saturday's encounter apparently rests.

C. Markland Kelly, chairman of the city park board's stadium committee, said continued showers would make the newly sodded center section of the gridiron mushy and that, "at the very least, it will be a mighty tough job to get the field ready for the game.

"The Navy insisted that we put in 10,000 square feet of sod where previous football games had worn the field bald," Kelly said. "They notified us yesterday and we began work immediately.

And Tarpaulins Don't Help.

"We had scheduled the completion of the sod laying for tomorrow morning, with a double crew on the job today and tonight. The rain makes it difficult to lay sod. It turns to mud in your hands."

Kelly said tarpaulins didn't help much because they had to be removed in order to lay the sod and "that gives the field a fine chance to become a swamp."

Heavy rollers were used to knit the sod blocks together, but Kelly said that "instead of the sod blocks joining to form a hard, fast surface, they disintegrate under a heavy rain." All that could be done, he said, was to keep rolling the surface.

In rain or fair weather this game will be the feature battle of the eastern seaboard, if not the entire coun-

INJURY WILL KEEP IOWA'S DIEHL OUT OF ILLINOIS GAME

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 6 [Special].—Capt. Bill Diehl, Iowa's center, will not play in Saturday's game against Illinois, Coach Eddie Anderson said today, as the Hawkeyes finished preparations for their trip to Champaign. Diehl has not recovered from injuries received in the Purdue game and George [Red] Frye, his senior understudy, will get the starting call.

Bob Penaluna, junior guard, probably will start instead of Gene Curran, who has been bothered with a touch of the flu, Anderson added. Curran has been a regular since the season opened. Following is the traveling squad list:

TACKLES—Jim Walker, Al Urban, Bob Knowlton, John Staak, Bob Otto.

GUARDS—Ross Anderson, Gene Curran, Del Dickerhoof, Don Twedell, Bob Penaluna, Joe Byrd.

CENTERS—Tom Hand, Bill Diehl, George Frye, Bob Lauterbach.

BACKS—Al Couppee, Ben Trickey, Jerry Ankeny, Bus Mertes, Henry Vollenweider, Jim Youel, Tom Farmer, Bob Bender, Bill Green, Bill Stauss, and Art Johnson.

ILLINI KEPT INDOORS.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 6 [Special].—Rain drove the Illinois football squad into the East great hall of the stadium today where it rehearsed plays designed for the Dad's day game against Iowa Saturday. Coach Bob Zuppke curtailed the workout, the last at the stadium, as the squad will move to the Champaign Country club tomorrow afternoon.

Don Griffin, sophomore left half back, appeared in uniform for the first time this week and was reported in good condition after the layoff Zuppke had given him. Griffin played 60 minutes against Michigan and the coach deemed it wise to give him a rest.

With Ray Grierson, sophomore left end, definitely out of the game Saturday, Dave Dillon, senior, will probably get his first chance of the season. Dillon played end his sophomore year. Elmer Engel and Bob Wilson, disabled linemen, probably will be able to play but Zuppke indicated he would start Nate Johnson and Tom McCullough at left tackle and left guard.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks last night got Chicago's 16th National Hockey league season under way in the Stadium with the entirely adequate but highly nervous score of 1 to 0 over a hard fighting and somewhat skilful New York American team. The winning goal was scored in the first period by Bill Thoms, last season's leading Hawk scorer, assisted by Mush March, the veteran of the Chicago team, and Doug Bentley.

A crowd of 12,639 attended the opener. The turnout was about 3,000 larger than the boys in the counting room anticipated as they beheld the constant rain thruout the afternoon and evening and about 3,000 smaller than the forecast made when good weather was in prospect.

Dispense with Didoes.

There were no opening night didoes, the management, after 15 years, knowing that hockey customers assemble to see hockey rather than celebrities making themselves ridiculous by skidding around sans skates to face off the first puck, bestow bouquets and the like.

Even the Hawk uniforms required no unveiling. Tho new and nifty, the outfits are no different from last season's costumes except the lads have a different portrait of Chief Blackhawk, their patron warrior, embroidered on their bosoms.

The two linesman idea, a new wrinkle in the National league, was given its first presentation and got a severe razz in the third period by fans who perceived it increased the long hated whistle tooting.

Game Speeds Up.

The game began to speed up several minutes before Thoms rang up the first Chicago goal of the season. In the first half of the opening period there were no scoring threats and not many well organized attempts, tho the Hawks had an advantage twice while the Americans were short handed because of penalties handed Pat Egan and Ken Mosdell. Seibert also got locked up early in the game but the Hawks, thanks to several smothering saves by Goalie Sammy Lo Presti, were able to avert tabulating.

As the game went into its 15th minute Bentley took the puck at the left end of the Chicago blue line and passed to Thoms in middle ice who relayed to March. March dashed in for a shot from the right. His shot seemed destined to go across the mouth of the cage when Thoms rushed in at maximum speed and steered the puck home at Goalie Robertson's extreme right. So great was Thoms' momentum that he had no chance to swerve around the cage. He plunked into the cross car atop the nets but was not injured.

Hawks Take Offensive.

The second period, tho scoreless, produced some rapid hockey. The Hawks when short handed while March was serving a penalty, reversed the usual strategy by rushing their short force forward instead of hanging back in their own defense zone.

The visitors were unable to tie the score in the third period despite mass play heroics and the removal of their goalie from the nets during the last half minute of play.

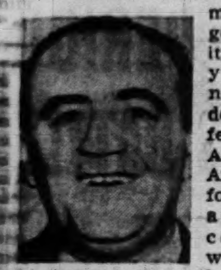
PGA, IT APPEARS, WILL MISS ITS RETIRING CHIEF

Name Walsh's Successor at Meeting Next Week.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Tom Walsh, a south side Irishman who has set course records for administrative diligence and sincerity during his two year tenure as national president of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, was not fooling when he announced recently that he would retire as head of the pros' governing group in our country.



Tom Walsh.

He reaffirmed his decision yesterday in the face of a number of telegrams, letters, and telephone calls from his constituents, urging him to serve another year, commencing with the national PGA convention in the Medinah club next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.

He's Not Fooling.

"I would like to make it plain that I am not quitting," the Westgate Valley pro said. "I appreciate the fact that the fellows would have me run again, but I have made my decision and I'm going to stand on it. I have served five years in the national group, three as secretary and two as president, and now feel that I should step aside and allow others to take the honor that goes with the presidency. It's a rather difficult position for any man, but I'm sincere in stating that I will not be a candidate for reëlection."

The convention will open Monday morning with a meeting of the executive committee, whose most important business will be the approval of the Ryder cup selections for 1942, as submitted by a cup committee consisting of Ed Dudley, chairman; Billy Burke, Olin Dutra, and Leo Diegel. The executive board will meet with equipment manufacturers in the afternoon. The PGA will conduct its educational conference Tuesday afternoon, and the annual dinner will be held Tuesday night, beginning at 8 p. m. The public is invited to attend the latter, tickets for which are $3.30. The annual election is scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Tom's Been a Good Leader.

Walsh's administration of the National PGA has been one of the most progressive in the organization's 25 year history. One of the first moves under Walsh was the introduction of a caddy educational program. Thru this, clubs thruout the country were supplied with charts by which caddymasters could initiate younger bag toters into the A B C's of caddying in a short time. At the inception of this program, Walsh and his committee pointed out that the world situation was bound to result in a shortage of older and experienced caddies. This warning was borne out last spring when hundreds of older boys quit to take defense jobs. The PGA educational charts prepared the younger and smaller boys in such a way that they were able to take over their elders' posts immediately.

Universities Taking Part.

The growth of the PGA educational program in the last two years was a highlight, particularly at such university venues as Purdue and Minnesota. The PGA convention next week is expected to approve an even larger program, by which younger professionals would attend classes in every phase of golf at large universities in every section of the country. Walsh said yesterday that J. Leslie Rollins of Northwestern university had contributed a number of valuable suggestions for the formation and conduct of such classes. If approved, the first school probably would be held at Northwestern in conjunction with the 1942 convention.

N. U., Hoosier Alumni to Hold Luncheon Today

North Central Faces Biggest Test: Millikin

North Central college's Cardinals face the strongest eleven they have met this season tomorrow when they entertain undefeated Millikin in Naperville. North Central holds second place in the Illinois college conference back of its rival of tomorrow. Millikin is unbeaten in six games and has scored 200 points against opponents' 7 thus far. It will be the third meeting between the two, Millikin having won, 3 to 0, in 1923, and 25 to 14 when the series was resumed last year.

While North Central was being held to a 6 to 6 tie by Lake Forest on a muddy field last Saturday, Millikin was romping to a 61 to 0 triumph over Charleston Teachers.

Good Back Fields.

The teams are represented by two of the best back fields in the Illinois conference. Ed Zachary is at quarter back for the Blue, Virgil Wagner and Ed Dahm at half backs, and Carl Hunt at full. North Central's co-captains, Bill Shatzer and Walt Anderson, are both backs. Shatzer, injured two weeks ago, is the Cardinals' leading ground gainer, and has been used sparingly of late so that he would be in top condition for tomorrow's battle. Hoot Gibson, Bill White, and Chuck Dailey are North Central's outstanding linemen.

None of Millikin's six foes has scored thru the line, and only one of them, Knox, connected on a touchdown pass. The Blue's big line will be at full strength for the North Central battle. Jean Mason, regular center, who didn't dress for last week's game against Charleston, will be ready, as will Tackle Bill Murray.

WHEATON OPPOSES CARROLL.

Wheaton college will travel to Waukesha, Wis., tomorrow to meet Carroll college. Wheaton has won one, lost four, and tied two; Carroll has won one and lost four.

Coach Harvey Chrouser last night said Co-Captain Ralph Glatfelter may not be able to play. Glatfelter injured his leg in the Elmhurst game and has been in the hospital since Monday morning.

HEIDELBERG AT ELMHURST.

Elmhurst college will meet Heidelberg college of Tiffin, O., tomorrow in Elmhurst. It will be the first meeting of the two teams. Heidelberg has recorded victories over Otterbein, Ashland, Capital, Kenyon, and Wittenberg. The Chicago Heidelberg Alumni association of 100 members will attend the game.

WILSON, WRIGHT MEET TONIGHT IN ANNUAL BATTLE

Wilson, defending Northern Illinois Junior conference football champion, clashes with Wright tonight on Spencer Coals field in the teams' annual homecoming game. Each has lost only one game—to Morton—and tonight's loser will drop out of the race for the championship.

Wilson's attack will be paced by Nate Freeman, left half back who leads the conference ground gainers, and Walter Flood, right end, who has scored four of Wilson's five touchdowns. The Wright mainstays are Jim Hansen, veteran triple threat half back; Sereno Zenkoff, guard, and John Peterson, right tackle.

Purdue Still Tries to Patch Up Back Field

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 6 [Special].—Coach Mal Elward, who has been faced with the problem of devising a new starting combination for Purdue every Saturday since the season began due to a prolonged siege of injuries and illness of key men, was still confronted with the same task this afternoon as the Boilermakers went thru a light drill in the fieldhouse in preparation for the last home game with Michigan State.

The left half back problem is exceedingly acute, with Kenny Smock and John Galvin definitely out of Saturday's contest due to injuries, and Bob Chester still confined to the hospital with a cold. Only Walter Cook and Marion Carter, just recovering from a cold, are available for the post.

The team physician said that he expected to release Chester from the hospital tomorrow in time to make the trip to Mudlavia with the squad for the final light drill tomorrow afternoon. There is a possibility that Chester may be able to see some action, altho he has been unable to drill all week.

It was definitely stated, however, that Pete Timperman, tackle, would be confined to the hospital over the week-end and that he stands no chance of returning to uniform until the Wisconsin game a week from Saturday.

TWO SPARTANS INJURED.

East Lansing, Mich., Nov. 6 [Special].—Michigan State completed preparations this afternoon for Saturday's game at Purdue. The Spartans may be without the services of two backs who were injured in the Missouri game last week.

Will Davis, regular quarter back, was disabled on nearly the first play of the game. The injury has not responded to treatment and it is feared that he will be lost for the Purdue game. Pete Fornari is the other casualty. He also has been on the sidelines during this week's practice.

Coach Charles Bachman will take 36 players to Lafayette. The squad will leave tomorrow morning, arriving in Chicago tomorrow afternoon. They will remain there tomorrow night and continue on to Lafayette Saturday morning.

Buckeyes Can't Be Calm About Badgers' Visit

Expecting the Badger offense to be functioning at top speed, the Buckeyes, handicapped by a slow back field, are placing their hopes for a victory on an airtight defense. In addition there is the absence of Lin Huston, star right guard.

Following a long drill on fundamentals, the Buckeyes went into a defensive workout. George Lynn may start at quarter back in place of John Hallabrin.

FOHR ENTERS AUTO RACE.

Myron Fohr returned yesterday from a successful invasion of the west coast and will be the top entry in the midget auto racing program, dedicated to the memory of Tony Willman, Sunday night in the International amphitheater.

MADISON A. C. TO HOLD ITS BOXING TRIALS TONIGHT

Chicagoland League Team To Be Picked.

The Madison Athletic club tonight will name the personnel of its team for first round competition in the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league next week.

Prospective members will be given a trial in a series of bouts this evening in the Madison A. C., 4711 Madison street. Those who qualify will represent the club in its first league match against the Catholic Youth organization White squad in the Madison arena next Friday.

The boxers seeing action tonight will include Matt Slobotnik, middleweight; Pat Maloney, welterweight; Carlo Rattazzi and Jimmy Baratta, lightweights, and John Mazzana, bantamweight. Their opponents have not been selected as yet.

Camp Grant to Fight.

Additional matches will bring together Bud Ryan, Springfield, Ill., welterweight, and Jimmy Crow of Danville; Bob Grunden, Danville flyweight, and Georgie Adams; Russ Linnie, Danville 147 pounder, and Inez Mendoza, and Glen List, Danville junior welterweight, and Vince Ortiz.

Other league bouts will involve Camp Grant and the CYO Green delegation in CYO center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, and Ashland A. C. and Illinois Athletic club in Social Turner hall, Belmont avenue and Paulina street, on Wednesday.

The Ashland A. C. and the I. A. C. already have announced their representatives. Camp Grant color bearers will be released tomorrow. Capt. Earl L. B. Clark, athletic officer at Camp Grant, said he will name 12 of the outstanding soldier fighters stationed at the camp to the army team.

Fighters Clash Monday.

Paddy Kane, CYO coach, will not designate his standard bearers until after a show in CYO center Monday night. The card is being sponsored by the Kenwood Parent Teachers' association. Eight contests between CYO boys will comprise the program, Mrs. Norman Adelson, chairman of the arrangements committee, said last night. Matches include the following:

Henry Nichols and Eddie Miller, 135.
Jack McBurnie and Harry Reid, 118.
Matt Kane and Sam Lopez, 145.
Dave Hernandez and Pat Ciangi, 126.
Jim Egan and John Reitan, 135.
Melvin Johnson and Al Reasoner, 147.

Marquette Frosh, Led by Freewalt, Beat Ripon, 31-6

WEATHER DRIVES CHICAGO'S 2 PRO TEAMS TO COVER

Bears Curtail Drill; Cards Go Under Stands.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The town's two big league ball parks yesterday were in about the same condition as on those off days during the city series last month, with the addition of a wintry wind blowing against any one unfortunate enough to be out in it.

Even the Bears, who count themselves as hardy citizens who practice no matter what the weather, cut short their gymnastics yesterday morning in Wrigley field. The champions can hardly wait to get a new winning streak started, which they hope will be no later than Sunday, when they meet Cleveland for the second time this season. They beat the Rams in the first one, 48 to 21, which gives the Ohioans the distinction of having scored more points against the Bears than any other National Football league team this season.

Cardinals Stay Dry.

The Cardinals, who do not play Sunday, didn't get at all wet. Coach Jim Conzelman excused all his players except a half dozen backs. This select group, stationed under the grandstand, then proceeded to give Fred Vanzo, blocking back recently obtained from Detroit, his first lesson on the Cards' strategy. The former Northwestern star proved an apt pupil, according to Conzelman, who believes he will be of more than a little help a week from Sunday against the Packers in Green Bay.

Another day passed without the Cardinals learning whether they will lose their exceptional guard, Joe Kuharich, to the army. Kuharich, well grounded in the Notre Dame system, having played with the Irish a few years ago, has been calling offensive signals for the south siders in the last few games.

The Cardinals announced last night that Ed Beinor, tackle, has been claimed by Washington on waivers.

Bear Ticket Sales Good.

Despite bad weather this week, the advance sale for the Bears-Rams game has been surprisingly good. It has been aided by participation of the Chicago division of the Denver sanatorium, which has set as its goal the sale of 10,000 tickets. Its share in the profits is turned over to the Colorado sanatorium for free treatment of indigent Chicagoans. The organization's office is at 343 South Dearborn street.

The weather prediction for Sunday's game is partly cloudy and cool. No matter how miserable the week days are, Halas usually gets a good day for the Sunday games. The low spot at the north end of the gridiron, which was muddy Sunday, has been resodded.

The newest set of National league statistics yesterday gave the Bears' George McAfee the leadership in another department of individual effort. George's 56 yard return of an intercepted pass in Sunday's game with the Packers was the longest run of its kind this season. He holds the 1941 kickoff return record with a sprint of 97 yards.

California Roller Derby Team Cuts Chicago Lead

The California team defeated Chicago, 11 to 9, last night in the Roller Derby in the Coliseum. The Pacific coast skaters now trail Chicago, 4 victories to 5. Peggy O'Neal attempted to break her world's quarter mile record of 40.3, but was clocked in :41 in the trial.

Chicagoland Prep Football Reaches Climax on All Fronts

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Argus, equipped with an umbrella and rubbers as well as his 100 eyes, would enjoy a perfect week-end if he sought to watch all the championship prep football games in various sections of the Chicago area. The three day period, biggest of the season, will start this afternoon when Wendell Phillips and Tilden Tech, unbeaten elevens in the central section of the Public School league, meet in Shewbridge field, 74th and Aberdeen streets.

Lenny Sachs, who a few days ago said Phillips would lose by two touchdowns, last night was ready to alter his prediction with the weather man's coöperation, contending his plucky band of 15 regular players would receive more benefit from a dry field than the addition of a couple of husky reserve tackles. Tilden Tech's possession of Eddie Uvodich, one of the league's leading ball carriers and the squad's reserve strength, are the reasons for Coach Sachs' gloomy outlook.

The title parade will continue tomorrow when Crane Tech engages Kelvyn Park in Key-Branch stadium for the west zone championship and the right to oppose Tilden Tech or Phillips in the semi-final round. Western suburbs also will hail title elevens about sundown tomorrow following the games between the undefeated Suburban league teams, Oak Park and Proviso, in Maywood, and the West Suburban conference's top squads, La Grange and Hinsdale, on the latter's field. Leo, already assured of at least a tie for the south section crown in the Catholic league, will travel to Joliet Sunday afternoon to oppose Catholic High.

Hoosiers in nearby Indiana will greet 1941 titleholders over the week-end. Tonight Lew Wallace, winner of seven consecutive games, meets Froebel in Gary in quest of its second successive championship in the western division of the Northern Indiana conference. Elkhart or South Bend Washington will be the eastern section victor, the former facing South Bend Central tonight in South Bend and Washington opposing South Bend John Adams tomorrow night. Culver Military academy hopes to capture the Midwest Prep conference crown by disposing of St. John's Military academy in Culver tomorrow afternoon.

Gov. Green will be the principal speaker at the annual All-State football party in Champaign Dec. 6. . . . The 33 players on the All-State squad are selected by Pat Harmon of the Champaign News-Gazette. . . . Sam Pecoraro, director of the Chicago park district's beaches and golf courses, will be one of the officials at the Leo-Catholic High game in Joliet Sunday. . . . Fenger is planning to celebrate its return to good standing in the Illinois High School association [come, come, boys, remember when you were suspended?] by defeating Calumet in Shewbridge field tomorrow afternoon. . . . Soldiers and sailors from nearby camps and naval stations will participate in the pregame ceremonies when the Catholic and Public School league winners meet in Mayor Kelly's All-City contest on Nov. 29. . . .

Paddy Driscoll, Chicago Bears' assistant coach, and Clint Frank, former Yale university star, are among the Evanston High alumni who will be in the stands when Evanston meets Moline tomorrow afternoon. . . . Stanley Dubicki, South Bend Washington half back, is the scoring leader in the eastern division of the Northern Indiana conference with 36 points. . . . Two points behind is Bill Hardy of Elkhart. . . . Rockford's schools, East and West High, will play their final games tonight and then will go on a two month vacation. . . . East Rockford will entertain West Aurora and West Rockford will meet East Aurora on the latter's field. . . . Tackle Billy Warden, Right End James Davis, Right Half Back Montell Davis, and Right Guard Earl Banks are Phillips High's iron men. . . . They have played in six games without substitution. . . .

Coach Floyd Brown (left) chats with Capt. Frank Policht of Crane Tech football team. Crane Tech, which hopes to appear in Mayor Kelly's All-City game on Nov. 29, will seek to win the west zone title in the Public School league by defeating Kelvyn Park in Key Branch stadium tomorrow afternoon.

Tigers Sign Neil Berry, Western Michigan Frosh

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 6 [Special]. —Signing of Neil Berry, short stop of the Western Michigan college freshman team last spring, by the Detroit Tigers, has taken the seventh prospective member of the 1942 Bronco baseball team. Berry, out of college this fall, had been expected to return the second semester. Three lettermen, including Ken Johnson, undefeated hurler in 1940, are among those who failed to return, the others being freshmen.

Star Bowlers, 102 of Them, Enter Tourney

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The deadline on entries still is 24 hours away and preliminary tournaments being sponsored by newspapers in several cities are not yet finished, yet the entry list for the All-Star eliminations and match game bowling championship tournament has passed the 100 total. The event is to be held in the Coliseum Dec. 7 thru 14.

Entries forwarded yesterday from Cleveland by Eddie Linsz, secretary of the Bowling Proprietors Association of America, which, with the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., is sponsoring the tournament, brought the total to 102. The expected last minute rush, which invariably develops in the handling of a tournament entry, is expected to run the final total to 125 or more.

Fans Want to See It.

With the increase in entries came word that the seat sale for the tournament is speeding up, demand for the box seats at evening sessions being particularly good. Greatest interest is being shown in the first night's show, in which Ned Day and Lowell Jackson roll the first 10 games of the final 40 game block of their championship match; Wednesday night, Dec. 10, when they conclude their match and the closing night when the 1942 challenger is determined.

Boxes for the complete show were ordered by a number of proprietors at yesterday's meeting of the Bowling Proprietors' Association of Greater Chicago. A number of sponsors of teams—particularly of teams in major leagues—also have placed orders for boxes for the entire event. Yesterday's orders also included one for 38 box seats for the closing night of the Day-Jackson match, sent in by the Plano, Ill., Recreation center.

Three More States In.

New entries yesterday added three states to the 14 already represented in the entry list. They are Utah, Tennessee, and Connecticut. The list of cities represented moved up to 45. Among the day's entries was that of Sykes Thoma, who is to meet Joe Wilman Sunday in the third of the special weekly matches at the Dearborn-Jackson center. The others included Mort Lindsey of Stamford, Conn., long known as one of the country's stars, and Johnny Ryan of Waukegan, high man in money won in the Petersen Individual Classic. Others were:

Doubles Match Arranged.

Another match of a series arranged as training events for the All-Star tournament will be a doubles affair to be rolled at 8 o'clock Sunday night on the third floor lanes of the Congress Recreation center. In it Wilman and Bill Hargadon, both of whom are entered in The Tribune event, will oppose Adolph Carlson and Carlson's pupil, Roy Hoegh.

A. A. U. SWIM MEET.

The first Central AAU championship swimming meet of the indoor season will be held in the Shawnee Country club Nov. 21.

SENATOR URGES NAVY TO ACCEPT COTTON BOWL BID

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 6 (AP).—Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.] suggested today that a Cotton bowl football contest in Dallas, Tex., be arranged between Navy and the University of Texas or Texas A. and M., but United States Naval academy authorities are not expected to make an announcement until after a conference with navy department officials.

In urging the postseason game Connally forwarded to Rear Adm. Russell Willson, academy superintendent, a telegram indicating Cotton bowl officers would invite Navy to participate regardless of the outcome of the Midshipmen's later games.

Adm. Willson wired Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, that his telegram would be answered "as soon as practicable."

TEAMS PLAYING DIME FOOTBALL STILL CHARGE $3

De-Emphasis Seems to Miss Box Office.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—The emphasis is on overemphasis of de-emphasis in college football this fall, and if Pittsburgh and Carnegie Tech haven't done anything else, which they haven't, they at least have taken the pressure off the game as a whole by providing a blueprint of just how horrible things can be when a school decides that a losing team is a badge of honor.

It may be such a badge, altho many an alumnus would just as soon not be wearing it when he comes into contact with loud voiced gents whose schools have not yet seen the light and take great pride in the fact that their football teams are more favorably known than their courses in medicine and law.

Yes, How About Ticket Prices?

It is an odd fact that when the cry for de-emphasis was sweeping the country in waves, and many schools were bleating to the effect that college football had gone commercial, these same schools made no mention of a possible de-emphasis of the price of admission to games.

A lot of fans always have felt that the price of football tickets for major games was not in keeping with the cost of production, and that asking the customers to pay $2.20 and up to see a bunch of inferior athletes is like putting a tax on sunshine. Which isn't such a good comparison, at that, as sunshine could be classed as overhead.

Coast Prices Go Down.

The idea that high class football cannot be presented at stock company prices is being refuted out on the west coast, where year in and year out the football stacks up with any in the country.

Stanford and California steadily have been lowering the cost of their tickets, and last Saturday Stanford and Santa Clara, two of the best teams out there, played before a crowd which paid either $1.50 or $1.10 for each ticket.

Stanford started its ticket price de-emphasis last year, and the reason possibly was that they saw something of a problem in trying to sell 10 cent football for carriage trade prices. The Cordinals had won only one game in 1939, and, with a new coach, they probably figured the chances for too great an improvement in 1940 were not so bright.

Stanford Surprises Them.

Much to every one's amazement Stanford came thru 1940 undefeated and went on to win the Rose Bowl game last January. On that record a return to generally accepted admission prices seemed to be in order for 1941.

The 1940 cut rate experiment had worked out even better than expected, however, so the price scale was retained for this year.

Many schools still are paying for their stadiums. The game has more income tax exemptions than the head of a big family and supports most of the minor sports.

With the exception of the "Naturals," however, which pack the stadiums regardless of price, the income would be just about the same if the admission prices were slashed to give the fan who has to budget his dollars a chance to attend.

GRANT LICENSE FOR NEW JERSEY RACING PLANT

Camden, N. J., Nov. 6 [Special].—The first horse racing track in Camden county, a license for which was granted in Trenton today, will be erected on a 300 acre tract about 9 miles from Camden and 10 from Philadelphia.

The construction plans announced today call for a race plant costing approximately $1,500,000. A steel and concrete grandstand seating 7,500, a clubhouse capable of seating an additional 1,500, and stabling room for 1,500 horses are said to be included in the present plan.

The plans to construct the track, when first announced some time ago, were followed by strenuous protests on the part of business and church groups in Camden, who carried their fight against the racing plant to Gov. Charles Edison and to the state commission, which granted the license today.

Battle Stations, Navy, Here They Come!

Rain Wrecks New Sod for Navy and Irish

try. Notre Dame whipped five opponents convincingly before the scoreless tie with Army. Navy also has won five games and its scoreless tie was registered in the Harvard game two weeks ago when the Middies outgained the Crimson but were unable to cross the Harvard goal line.

Strange Setting for Irish.

Prior to the contest with Harvard Navy defeated Cornell by two touchdowns and last week ran over previously undefeated Pennsylvania. It is true that Penn's reputation was based principally on successive victories over Harvard, Yale, and Princeton, but Navy's gain of 230 yards by rushing against Pennsylvania under unfavorable conditions must have the Irish badly worried. Moreover, the Quaker's could dent Navy's line for only eighty-six yards.

Saturday's game probably will mark the first time a Notre Dame team ever has come to Baltimore not enjoying odds that have ranged from decided advantage to prohibitive choice. While the passing skill of Angelo Bertelli of Notre Dame is item No. 1 in the situation, Notre Dame's lack of a smashing full back and Navy's large number of reserves are other important factors.

Dippy Evans, a reformed half back, is a fine full back for the type of running and passing game Notre Dame now is using. Once thru the line Evans is as speedy as any half back and far superior to Bertelli, who won his position mainly on passing. But on a slow field, or worse, in the mud, Evans is of no more value than a half back.

Weights Are Compared.

With the exception of John Harrell, 202 pound blocking quarter back, Navy's backs are not particularly heavy, but even so they will outweigh the Notre Dame men. William Busik and Sammy Boothe, the half backs, are 190 pounders. Alan Cameron, sophomore full back who came from the University of California, weighs 185 pounds. Notre Dame will have only three or four pounds weight advantage in the line, but this will mean nothing regardless of game conditions.

Navy strength stems from its tackles and guards. The Midshipmen have a quartet of capable tackles. Eugene Flathmann and Bill Chewning are the regulars, but they are nearly matched in ability by Fred Schurr and Dick Opp. Art Knox and Vito Vitucci, who has recovered from a leg injury received in Philadelphia, are the starting guards. Back of them wait Jack Hill and Joe Sliwka.

Navy's experience and the size of its squad are attested by presence of 29 letter men. Maj. E. E. [Swede] Larson, head coach of the Navy, today declined to discuss possibilities based on weather altho it was pointed out that last week's games in Philadelphia and New York needed no explanation.

Tickets At a Premium.

Navy and Notre Dame always have been Baltimore's football treat, but with both undefeated the game has reached a new high. Four thousand temporary seats have been constructed at the open end of Municipal stadium, so that the attendance will establish a new record. Scalpers' prices also will set a record. The few tickets available today commanded $25 each, with no questions asked concerning location.

IRISH SQUAD LEAVES

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 6 [Special].—Coach Frank Leahy herded a squad of 35 Notre Dame players to a Washington bound train late this afternoon at Lapaz, Ind. Tomorrow the Irish will make headquarters in Washington, D. C., before proceeding on Saturday to meet Navy in Baltimore.

The Irish were in good condition, and steadily increasing student enthusiasm, climaxed by a sendoff as the squad boarded a motor coach for Lapaz, paid tribute to the team. Four hundred students, including the 100 piece band and 60 members of the newly formed ROTC unit, will attend the game, leaving here tomorrow afternoon. The traveling squad:

Ends—Dove, Bolger, O'Brien, Murphy, Kovatch, Barry.

Tackles—Brutz, Ebli, Neff, Lillis, Rymkus, L. Sullivan.

Guards—Maddock, McBride, Walsh, Crimmins, Riordan, Laiber.

Centers—Ziemba, Brock, Lanahan.

Half backs—Bertelli, Warner, R. Creevy, Hogan, Juzwik, Earley, T. Miller.

Full backs—Evans, C. Miller, McNeill.

84 Bowling Teams Enter Sweepstakes at Pla-Mor

All of Chicago's better known teams, including the entire Classic league, and several fives from Milwaukee, are among the 84 teams that are to bowl tomorrow night and Sunday in the three-game sweepstakes that will mark the formal opening of the Pla-Mor Bowling Lanes at 79th street and Euclid avenue. Three full squads of 18 teams each are scheduled for 8:15 and 10:30 Saturday and 6 o'clock Sunday and only six teams are needed to complete Sunday's 11 p. m. squad. The one women's squad, which is to bowl at 8:30 Sunday night, is filled.

Donelli (Gridiron Finnegan) Is Off Again, On Again

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 6 [Special].—Aldo [Buff] Donelli has decided to return to Duquesne university as head football coach, if it doesn't snow.

Donelli resigned the post earlier this season to coach the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football league. The Steelers, who had lost two games, lost five more under Donelli. Meanwhile Duquesne stretched its winning streak to 11 games over two years.

Donelli evidently made up his mind today that he would prefer to coach the Dukes to a probable victory over St. Mary's at San Francisco, Cal., this Saturday than watch the Steelers absorb their eighth defeat Sunday.

Donelli's mind remained made up for almost 10 minutes while Buff inquired about air transportation to San Francisco. But the airline weather man told Buff that a heavy snowstorm blowing in from the west probably would cut off all traffic to the coast.

For a moment Buff seemed to be out of two jobs simultaneously, but he made up his mind again. "In the event I can't make the trip west, I may go back to the Steelers and lead them Sunday in Philadelphia," he said.

LAYDEN CRACKS DOWN.

Elmer Layden, commissioner of the National Football league, informed Donelli that he would have to quit the Steelers if he went to San Francisco and left the Steelers in charge of an assistant. Layden, who is en route to the Notre Dame-Navy game in Baltimore, Md., could not be reached last night for a statement on the sudden snowstorm development in the Donelli mixup.

GOOD NEWS FOR HUNTERS: DUCK ARMY ON MARCH

Colony in Illinois Valley Increases Daily.

BY BOB BECKER.

Mr. Duck Hunter, you can expect to see more ducks along the Illinois river this week-end. A week ago it was estimated that approximately 800,000 ducks had moved into the valley. Recent storms up north have sent down many more, until now the Illinois Natural History survey estimates that 1,200,000 are congregated in the valley. The trouble is however, most of the birds have parked themselves on a camparatively few favored lakes.

When we had the mallards swinging within gun range over our decoys last week, we noticed a big increase in these birds and a decrease in the number of pintails in the Sangamon river sloughs. This week-end there are around one million mallards along the Illinois, according to the most recent survey.

Mallards Like Lowlands.

This is about 30 per cent more than was in the valley last year at this time. Most of them are concentrated on bottomland lakes between Hennepin and Henry and Banner and Havana.

The pintails have moved out, leaving only about 15,000 along the river. When we hunted along the Sangamon last week, we saw several thousand pintails in the sky and we bagged a few in one slough. But these birds were greatly outnumbered by the mallards, a situation that the Illinois Natural History survey now confirms.

Other Species Are Plentiful.

DIVING DUCKS: Lesser scaup, ringnecked duck, canvasback, ruddy duck—more numerous at present in the Illinois River valley than at any time in recent years. High water has made the bottomland lakes of this region more suitable than usual for these species. It is evident, says Frank Bellrose Jr., of the Natural History survey, that these ducks, once seriously threatened with decimation by drought on the breeding grounds, have made a good recovery. Crane lake, Lake Chautauqua, and lakes above Peoria have large numbers of these species.

BLUEBILL AND BLACKJACK: On the Mississippi river above Fort Madison, some 10,000 of these species were reported, an increase of 90 per cent in the past ten days.

GEESE: Have increased slightly in the last week in the Illinois River valley.

Name Committee for Testimonial to Barney Ross

Members of the Barney Ross testimonial dinner committee were announced yesterday by Harry G. Green, committee secretary. The banquet will be held in the Stevens hotel Dec. 17. The committee will include Sheldon Clark, chairman of the Illinois Athletic commision; Pat O'Brien of the movies, Col. J. M. Arvey, Jack Dempsey, and Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE. Maj. Gen. John V. Clinnin, former head of the state athletic board and past president of the National Boxing commission, will serve as toastmaster. Proceeds will be given to the Chicago branch of the United Service organizations.

THE SOPHISTOCRAT OF CIGARS
Robt. Burns de Luxe
SINCE THE DAY the Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe set the style of a long, graceful, streamlined cigar, more of them have been smoked than all the panatelas of all other high class brands combined. It is still outstanding leader of the field of panatelas.

In smart circles, it is familiarly known as "The Sophistocrat", a tribute to its suave, inconspicuous shape. Service men are quick to see that its trim outline suits a man in uniform, never clashing with military bearing. Cigar stands at clubs and better hotels give it a place of honor among high-priced private brands and club specials. For men everywhere who relish fine tobacco, here is a delicious ultra-mild cigar with the imported taste and aroma of 100% Havana filler, slowly and expertly cured.

You see more panatelas than you did a few years ago. Credit their popularity to "The Sophistocrat". Ask your dealer for the Robt. Burns Panatela de Luxe and smoke the panatela at its best.

DEATH SWEEPS RINGLING CIRCUS ELEPHANT HERD

7 Die of Mystery Poison; 8 Others Stricken.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 6 (AP).—Death today struck down its seventh elephant within 24 hours on the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey circus lot and veterinarians worked desperately to save the remaining 40 in the immensely valuable herd.

A tragic keynote for the big show's Atlanta stay was struck yesterday when Milt Taylor, 47 year old clown, died in a hospital after an illness of a few hours.

Soon after that, Lizzie and Alice, two pachyderms in the prime of elephant life at 35 and 25 years, dropped over and died in the menagerie tent. Next victim was Puqua, one of the show's two African pygmy elephants.

Eight Others in Bad Way.

Three more died during the night and another this morning. Walter McClain, veteran animal man, held little hope of saving an eighth. Seven more are in a grave condition.

McClain said the deaths apparently were caused by some sort of poisoning, but he did not know how the elephants got it. An autopsy was performed today on one of the first to die in the hope its results would increase chances of saving the stricken ones.

After the autopsy the state chemist reported death was due to arsenic poisoning. Circus officials were unable to explain how the arsenic found its way into the elephants' food.

Worth $10,000 to $15,000 Each.

Henry Ringling North, circus executive, said the herd is priceless, in that it could not be replaced immediately. He added that untrained elephants can be purchased for $4,000 to $5,000, but are worth $10,000 to $15,000 each by the time they have had long years of circus training.

Frank Braden, publicity man, recalled that eight years ago 11 elephants became ill in Charlotte, N. C., after grazing in a lot near a large chemical plant. Seepage from the plant was blamed by circus officials for the illnesses. None died at that time. Braden said the circus played the same lot Tuesday, and there might be some connection.

BUNDESEN SEEKS SUBSTITUTES FOR HEALTH CHLORINE

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, responded yesterday to requests that the board go on record as favoring priorities for chlorine used commercially, by stating that the board will entertain suggestions for substitutes which may be used for health purposes.

"If the government thinks it needs chlorine to win the war, we won't try to change its mind," Dr. Bundesen said.

The requests were presented by the Chicago Laundry Owners' association, and by Oswald Lockeet, representing the Clorox Chemical company and the National Committee of Sodium Hypochloride Manufacturers.

WM. SULZER, 78, IMPEACHED N.Y. GOVERNOR, DIES

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—William Sulzer, 78 years old, former governor of New York, died at his home in Washington place today after a long illness. He was the first and only governor of New York to be removed from office on charges of misconduct.

Elected in 1912, Sulzer was impeached in August, 1913, on charges of diverting campaign contributions to his private use and swearing falsely concerning campaign receipts.

Always a Tammany man, he was elected to the governorship with that organization's support, but soon after his election rumors of his disagreement with Wigwam chiefs became current. Strife continued in the organization and reached its climax with the initial move for Sulzer's impeachment.

Before his election to the governorship he was representative in congress from the 11th New York district. In 1884 he gained considerable fame as a campaign orator for Grover Cleveland and thus attracted the attention of Tammany.

RETIRED BISHOP OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH DIES

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6 (AP).—The Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, 91, Protestant Episcopal bishop emeritus of Massachusetts, died suddenly today at his Readville home. The noted churchman, who had served as bishop of Massachusetts for 32 years, was stricken with a heart attack.

News of his death and of the election of his son—the Rt. Rev. William Appleton Lawrence, Springfield, Episcopal bishop of western Massachusetts—to the board of trustees of Mount Holyoke college were almost simultaneous.

The elderly cleric rose rapidly in the church and became a bishop in 1893. Upon his retirement in 1925 he was appointed to take charge of American parishes of the church in Europe. Bishop Lawrence often was called the "banker bishop" because of his financial acumen. He was held largely responsible for establishment of the church's pension system for ministers.

Hatchet Killer, 15, Gets Prison Term of 99 Years

Allan Thomas Foster, 15 years old, colored, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Edgar A. Jonas in Criminal court to 99 years in prison for the holdup murder last September of Albert M. Oliver, 58, colored, a retired chef. Foster and a companion, Kenneth Riddle, 11, colored, confessed they beat Oliver to death with a broken hatchet in Phoenix in order to get some money to buy beer. They took $5.16 from his pockets. Riddle is in custody of juvenile authorities.

Leyden Township Sued Over Relief Food Bills

The Chicago Macaroni company filed suit in Superior court yesterday, asking $8,735 from Leyden township for foodstuffs delivered to relief clients during the last three years, for which the township allegedly failed to pay the company. On Wednesday Nick Ricci, owner of a food store in Franklin Park, filed suit to collect $11,066 from Leyden township for goods delivered from Sept. 1, 1940, to Aug. 27, 1941.

OBITUARIES

William W. Walker.

Masonic funeral services for William W. Walker, Summit fire commissioner, will be held at 2 p. m. today in the chapel at 7446 Archer avenue in Summit. Burial will be in Fairmount cemetery. Mr. Walker died Tuesday in his home at 7520 West 58th place, Summit. He was 72 years old and a retired employé of the New York Central railroad. He was a member of the Summit police pension board and a former member of the Summit-Argo-Bedford Park school board. The William W. Walker school in Bedford Park is named in his honor. He leaves a son, Wallace.

Thomas F. Gavin.

Funeral services for Thomas F. Gavin, 1618 South 2d avenue, Maywood, will be conducted at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the funeral home at 201 Lake street, Maywood. Mr. Gavin, who was 63 years old, died Tuesday in Jefferson, Ia., where he was visiting. He had been a resident of Maywood for 21 years and for the last 35 years was associated with the Clark & Barlow Hardware company. His widow, Maude; a son, John W., and a daughter, Mrs. E. R. Paff of Bangor, Mich., survive.

Dr. Enoch A. Bryan.

Pullman, Wash., Nov. 6 (AP).—Dr. Enoch A. Bryan, 86, president emeritus of Washington State college, died today. Dr. Bryan was president from the early '90s until 1916, when he was succeeded by Dr. E. O. Holland. He remained on the faculty several years. A brother, Dr. William Lowe Bryan, is president emeritus of Indiana university. Before coming to Washington State college Dr. Bryan was president of Vincennes college in Indiana.

Dr. Richard Dana Skinner.

Norwalk, Conn., Nov. 6 (AP).—Dr. Richard Dana Skinner, 48, financial and industrial analyst and consultant, former newspaper and magazine writer and editor, died today. He was the grandson of Richard Henry Dana Jr., author of "Two Years before the Mast."

Mrs. Anna Felt.

Funeral services for Mrs. Anna Felt, 4019 Monroe street, who died Wednesday in the county hospital, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at Harrison street and Ogden avenue. She was 89 years old. A native of Germany, she had resided in Chicago for 64 years. A daughter, Mrs. May Williams, survives.

Mrs. George H. Earle Jr.

Ventnor, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP).—Mrs. George H. Earle Jr., mother of George H. Earle III., former Pennsylvania governor and now United States minister to Bulgaria, died of pneumonia at her home here last night.

Harry C. Ransley.

Edward J. Brown.

The funeral of Edward J. Brown, Saugatuck, Mich., real estate dealer and former associate of F. M. Heggie, Chicago produce broker, will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in Resurrection church. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery. Mr. Brown, who was 54 years old, died of heart disease Monday in Spokane, Wash., while en route to Seattle for his health. He leaves his widow, Mary; a son, Michael, who was with his father when he died, and two daughters, Mary Jane and Ellarita. The family home is at 321 North Central avenue.

Mark R. Sherman.

Mark R. Sherman, a Chicago attorney for more than 50 years, died yesterday in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Lester M. Barrett, 8646 Euclid avenue, where he made his home. He was 76 years old. Mr. Sherman was a graduate of the University of Michigan. He leaves his daughter, a son, Mark Jr., and a sister, Miss Althea Sherman, ornithologist, educator, and author. Services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 4227 Cottage Grove avenue, with burial at National, Ia.

Thomas H. Kullujian.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—Thomas H. Kullujian, 68 years old, long an unofficial envoy-at-large for the Armenian peoples, died today of a heart attack. Escaping a Turkish massacre in 1895, he came to America and so deeply appreciated his freedom here that he spent a fortune carrying a 100 year old oriental rug he valued at $100,000 to places where famous personages could walk on it. This became known as the "peace treaty rug" after the treaty of Versailles because it was under the treaty table.

John C. Hayes Jr.

John C. Hayes Jr., of 6815 Merrill avenue, combustion engineer for the Freyn Engineering company, died yesterday in Mercy hospital. He was 56 years old. Mr. Hayes helped found the Freyn concern 26 years ago. He was a member of the Western Society of Engineers, and of the Association of Iron and Steel Engineers. Surviving are two daughters, two sons, and a brother. The funeral will be held at 9:30 a. m. Monday from the chapel at 77th street and Jeffery avenue to St. Philip Neri church.

Mrs. Barbara U. Stanton.

Mrs. Barbara Uttley Stanton, lifelong resident of Chicago, died yesterday in Mercy hospital. She was the widow of Michael James Stanton, attorney and a director of Rand, McNally & Co. Her home was at 3648 Lake Shore drive. She leaves a daughter, Mrs. Otto Schilling, and a son, Harker Stanton. Services will be held at 10 a. m. Monday from the home to Our Lady of Mount Carmel church.

Frank L. Farnham.

Funeral services for Frank L. Farnham, a Milwaukee railroad engineer for 40 years, will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 51 Center street, Elgin. Mr. Farnham, who was 80 years old, was retired four years ago. He was employed by the railroad for 50 years. His widow, Nan, and five sons and daughters survive.

STRICKEN TROLLEY PASSENGER DIES.

Joseph Dent, 67 years old, 1314 South Spaulding avenue, died yesterday in county hospital after he suffered a heart attack on a street car at 26th street and Francisco avenue. Efforts of a fire department rescue squad to revive him were futile.

NOTED ARTIST, ILLUSTRATOR DIES SUDDENLY

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Charles Edward Chambers, 58, a leading illustrator whose work has appeared in many magazines, died last night of a heart attack.

Chambers was born in Ottumwa, Ia., and started his art career there by drawing a realistic-appearing dollar bill on the menus of the Ottumwa Dollar Luncheon club, a work he afterward discovered constituted a violation of the counterfeit laws. Later he studied art in Chicago.

Chambers' first wife, Fanny Munsell, an artist, died in 1920. In 1924 he married Pauline True, a model for some of his work. His widow and a son, Richard, by his first marriage survive.

Only 123,484 on Relief; Roll Cut 14 Months in Row

Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief commissioner, reported yesterday that only 123,484 persons in Chicago obtained CRA relief in October—a new low mark. With 58,367 cases on the rolls, October was the 14th consecutive month which showed a reduction. Lyons said that 1,430 cases were closed because the recipients obtained private employment. The Illinois State Employment service obtained jobs for 298 reliefers, he said.

POWDERED EGGS FOUND TO BE OF AMERICAN ORIGIN

N. Y. Firm—Not British—Is Offering Product.

A fortnight ago Chicago bakers and confectioners learned that an egg substitute powder was being introduced thruout the country. A London firm, they were told by letter, was prepared to supply the powder—containing dried egg yolks and skim milk—in large quantities.

The letter, coming at a time when there is an acute egg shortage in England, when American lend-lease eggs are being sent there by the millions of dozens, and when housewives are paying 50 cents a dozen for fresh eggs caused considerable speculation among Chicagoans to whom it was addressed. It also attracted the attention of the British Press service office, 360 North Michigan avenue.

Product Made in New York.

Yesterday in New York it was established that the Silver Hill Products company, maker of the egg powder, is an American corporation, registered at Albany, N. Y., March 5, 1941. It is not a "London firm" as the Chicago letters said.

A. Gessler, director of Silver Hill, exhibited invoices and other evidence that the eggs and skim milk used to manufacture the product were purchased in this country and that the powder is made at 113 Hudson street, New York City. He did not make clear, however, why Silver Hill was represented as being a British concern.

Gessler stated he is a partner in two British companies that manufacture the identical product under the same name—"Baker's Pride"—and from the same recipe. He said there is no connection between Silver Hill and the British concerns—whose names he declined to divulge.

Firm Miscalled a "Branch."

Gessler said he is a Czecho-Slovakian citizen and that he lived some time in England before coming over last spring to launch Silver Hill. At least some of his English partners wanted to join him, but as British subjects were not permitted to leave the country, he stated.

The misunderstanding that Silver Hill is a British concern undoubtedly arises from its being a twin, Gessler said. He added that the New York company has been referred to as a "branch" of a British firm, with "head offices in London." He did not say why this was done, but insisted it is all wrong.

These expressions were used in letters from the New York office to prospective representatives and jobbers in other cities. The expression "London firm" was used in the letters mailed in Chicago by M. A. Paul, 80 North La Salle street, who represents Silver Hill here.

No Food Leaving England.

These were the expressions that aroused the interest of Graham Hutton, Chicago director of the British Press service. Yesterday he was notified officially that no eggs or egg products are being exported from England.

No manufactured food products or foodstuffs have left England since last June 30, British authorities informed him. June was the month lend-lease foodstuffs began reaching the isles. All food and food product exports had been curtailed sharply since the middle of last year, Hutton said.

"Not even a pin can leave England in wartime without being record there," he added.

EXTEND PRIORITY RATING ON TRUCK MANUFACTURING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson, priorities director, today ordered preference ratings on production of heavy and medium trucks and truck trailers extended until Jan. 31, 1942.

Under terms of the extension, manufacturers may place January steel orders immediately.

Allowance of the additional month of preference ratings on needed materials means that, for the period from Sept. 1 to Jan. 31, producers may manufacture about five-sixths of the number of medium trucks, truck trailers, and passenger carriers produced during the first half of 1941.

No limit has been placed on such vehicles or on heavy trucks manufactured to fill arms program orders.

Davies Hints Army's Oil Needs May Cause Civilian Shortage

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—The question of a possible future shortage of civilian oil supplies was raised anew today with the disclosure that military authorities had asked the industry to determine whether it could produce 5 million barrels of crude oil daily as compared with the present record 4,100,000 barrel rate.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum coördinator, told the American Petroleum Institute of the 5 million barrel query, but did not name the military source.

Urged to Trust Ickes.

The oil executives were advised by Davies that they should take Coördinator Harold L. Ickes at his word that control of the industry is for duration of the emergency only.

He also asked them to stop building service stations for a while, be prepared to adjust operations to shortages of materials, and expand refining facilities.

Davies told interviewers the production of 5 million barrels daily from present wells might call for inefficient methods which would cause a loss of 20 per cent of the estimated 20 billion barrel total reserve in American fields.

Favors Cut in Consumption.

"Personally," he said, "I would favor a curtailment of consumption rather than to resort to practices not in keeping with good conservation methods."

He said there was no present shortage but that there was no certain way of foretelling future demands. A blanket 10 per cent cut in the civilian supply, he added, would go a long way toward making up for whatever additional demands might be made for military use.

The institute abolished the offices of executive vice president and assistant secretary today and reëlected William R. Boyd of New York president. All other officers were reëlected, as was the entire executive committee.

NONSMELLY GASOLINE.

Philadelphia, Nov. 6 (AP).—A new refining process which removes the obnoxious odor from gasoline and steps up its octane rating was announced today by Robert H. Colley, president of Atlantic Refining company. The process, an inexpensive operation using caustic soda and methanol, removes from gasoline practically all its sulphur, which creates the bad smell. When sulphur and its compounds are removed the amount of tetraethyl lead needed for the production of anti-knock high compression motor fuel is considerably reduced.

GRAINS WEAKEN AS PRICE BILL IS HIT BY WALLACE

Soy Beans Slump, Then Wipe Out Losses.

Reports that the price control bill as drafted by the house banking committee did not meet administration approval and a statement by Vice President Henry Wallace expressing opposition to a ceiling on agricultural products above parity prices had a depressing effect on the grain markets yesterday.

At no time were wheat prices above the finish of the preceding day and closing sales on the Chicago Board of Trade were at losses of ⅝ to 1 cent, with December at $1.16 a bushel. Corn was off ⅛ to ⅝ cent and oats lost ⅝ to ¾ cent. Rye was ¾ to 1¼ cents lower.

Soy Beans Recover Loss.

Commission house and speculative selling stemmed an early upturn in soy beans and a break of around 4 cents from the top followed. Reports late in the session that rain was falling steadily at many points in Illinois and Indiana brought in short covering and commission house buying and the close was 1⅛ cent higher on December and unchanged to ⅝ cent lower on the deferred deliveries.

A report that the Surplus Marketing association had temporarily withdrawn from the market as a buyer of soy beans had some effect on the market early, but it was said that purchases by the government agency have been relatively light.

Binned Grain Deteriorating.

Wet weather over a large part of the grain belt is resulting in deterioration of grain held in farms bins as well as that remaining in the fields, it was reported. A Wichita, Kas., grain firm said that large quantities of grain sorghum and other live stock feed had been lost in the southwest recently, and that barley held in farm storage was turning black as the result of absorbing moisture from the air.

REPORT GENERAL MOTORS TO MAKE LIGHT TANK, TOO

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6 (AP).—A light type of army tank, weighing not more than 14 tons, probably will be added to the General Motors production program.

This was learned today in reliable sources, altho corporation officials declined to discuss any plans they have beyond those already announced for the manufacture of medium and heavyweight tanks.

The lightweight models, according to information here, will be put into production in the Cadillac plant in Detroit. The number to be constructed is unknown. It has been reported in authoritative quarters, however, that General Motors tank orders may come to about 350 million dollars and output at peak operation probably a year hence, may exceed 600 units a month.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

CIGAR WRAPPERS.

What is the position of American Sumatra Tobacco in the industry? In 1939 I was considering an investment in this company but gave up the idea when a loss was shown for that year. A recent market letter recommending this stock has revived my interest so I would appreciate a report on latest earnings and the company's record of dividends and losses since it was incorporated.—S. B. D.

Answer: American Sumatra Tobacco corporation is considered the leading domestic producer of tobacco leaves for cigar wrappers. It accounts for about 17 per cent of the total domestic acreage given to cigar wrapper production. Property is owned in Massachusetts, Connecticut, Missouri, Georgia, and Florida.

American Sumatra showed a loss of $294,695 in the fiscal year ended July 31, 1939. The following year there was a profit of $316,326, but net income declined to $186,200 in the 1941 fiscal year. Since its incorporation in 1926, the company also had losses from 1930 thru 1932.

The company has 192,351 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. The initial dividend was paid in 1928. With the exception of the years 1931 thru 1933, payments have been regularly made in varying amounts. In 1939 and 1940, $1 was paid each year. Three 25 cent quarterly payments have been distributed thus far in 1941.

FUNDED DEBT.

What bonds or debentures does American Gas and Electric company have outstanding? What is its total funded debt? On the average, what has been its coverage of fixed charges?—G. N.

Answer: Total outstanding funded debt of the American Gas and Electric company is approximately $226,500,000. This includes $6,700,000 of 2¾ per cent debentures, due 1950; $9,800,000 of 3¼ per cent debentures, due 1960, and $11,760,000 of 3¾ per cent debentures, due 1970. The remainder is made up of obligations of subsidiaries.

For the 10 years thru 1940, the company and its subsidiaries combined covered fixed charges an average of 1.95 times. American Gas had an average of 6.12 times for the 8 years thru 1940. The parent company is a holding organization owning the entire common stock of its principal subsidiaries.

FIXED ASSETS.

What do fixed assets include?—T. G. R.

Answer: Fixed assets include such tangible assets as land, buildings, and equipment, intangibles such as patent rights, franchises, rights of way, and goodwill, and investments in other companies for purposes of control.

People and Events

Alvin W. Vogtle.

The fifth annual conference of the National Association of Shippers Advisory boards will be held Monday and Tuesday in the Stevens hotel. John J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, will be one of the principal speakers. Alvin W. Vogtle, Birmingham, Ala., is president of the group.

G. H. Smith has been appointed general sales manager of the Hotpoint company, Edison General Electric Appliance company, Inc., at Chicago. He formerly was general merchandising manager for Hotpoint.

Whitney Faulkner, Chicago, yesterday was elected vice president of the Appalachian Mills at Knoxville, Tenn. Faulkner, who has been in charge of the firm's Chicago office, will act as general sales manager at Chicago.

Oliver R. Hogue, manager of lighting and wiring sales for Commonwealth Edison company, received the congratulations of his fellow employés yesterday upon the completion of 45 years of service with the company. Hogue is president of the Chicago Lighting institute.

James H. Watters, president and general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel company, Marion, O., yesterday was installed as president of the Union Asbestos & Rubber company, Chicago, succeeding L. L. Cohen, who has been named chairman of the board.

L. S. Reid, formerly district traffic manager at Chicago for Northwest Airlines, Inc., has been named sales manager.

WAR IS SHIFTING INCOME GROUPS, SAYS MOULTON

Radical shifts in the income of various segments of American society are being produced in the war period, Harold G. Moulton, president of the Brookings institution, said yesterday. He addressed the American Finance conference in the Palmer House.

Farmers' income will rise about a third this coming season, he said, whereas city families depending on fixed incomes and salaries will discover that their buying power has dwindled 20 per cent because of higher prices and taxes. He said increases in wage rates in manufacturing industries have thus far preceded the rise in living costs and have been a contributing factor to price increases.

J. W. R. Tennant, president of the Tennant Finance company, Chicago, was elected secretary-treasurer of the sales finance company group, and Victor Brown, president of the Motors Acceptance company, Milwaukee, Wis., was named chairman of the executive committee.

REALTORS URGE INCREASED USE OF IDLE PLANTS

Demand Easing of Curbs on Home Building.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 6 [Special].—Allocation of the small fraction of total scarce materials required to maintain home building on a reduced scale and the utilization of idle plants for armament expansion were proposed today at specialists' sessions of the realtors' national convention here.

David B. Simpson, Portland, Ore., realtor, was unopposed as candidate for the presidency of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. His nomination was tantamount to election. John C. Bowers, Chicago, was nominated for reëlection as treasurer.

Urges Gradual Reduction.

"Giving civilian home building enough toe-hold to carry on, even tho with gradually lessened quotas, as has been done in the automotive industry, is vitally important to our entire economic and social life," Hugh Potter, Houston, Tex., realtor, told the association's Home Builders Institute of America.

Potter warned that unless the government relaxes its curb on civilian building "in a few weeks or months" normal home building will have to be discontinued entirely after the exhaustion of current supplies.

Noting that 600,000 dwelling units costing 2⅛ billion dollars are expected to be built in 1942, mostly for arms workers, Potter urged that building contractors with private funds should be permitted to erect these homes instead of having them constructed with government funds by large industrial contractors.

Asks Use of Old Buildings.

A suggestion to conserve steel and copper thru better use of existing commercial and industrial buildings was made at a session of the Society of Industrial Realtors by Ormonde A. Kieb, Newark, N. J.

"Why should we as a nation go into debt to build new plants," he said, "at $5 or $6 a square foot when we can acquire usable existing buildings at $1 or $2 a square foot? The government policy of financing and erecting new buildings is a very costly one."

An outline of post-war redevelopment construction to reclaim city slums with private funds was presented by Mayor Carl F. Zeidler of Milwaukee before the brokers' division.

OPA DOUBLES TOP ALCOHOL PRICE FOR 1 PRODUCER

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—On the ground that there is danger of a shortage of anti-freeze and industrial solvents, Price Administrator Leon Henderson approved today the production of nearly 4 million gallons of high cost ethyl alcohol from raw sugar.

Permission was granted the Publicker Commercial Alcohol company of Philadelphia to manufacture the alcohol and sell it at prices double the present maximum.

About 75 per cent of all industrial ethyl alcohol produced in the United States is made from blackstrap molasses, a by-product of cane sugar mill operations. Little if any from the 1940-'41 sugar crop remains unsold and new supplies will not be available until early 1942.

The company will be allowed to produce from raw sugar 3,950,791 gallons of alcohol in excess of contract commitments for the final quarter of this year.

OPA will permit the company to sell this excess at a maximum of 49½ cents a gallon in tank car lots. The present maximum is 24½ cents.

BANKERS OFFER 30 MILLIONS IN ARKANSAS BONDS

Halsey-Stuart Heads Big Underwriting Group.

A nation-wide investment banking syndicate of 166 dealers headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. of Chicago will offer today 30 million dollars in Arkansas highway refunding bonds which the bankers purchased yesterday and Wednesday from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

The bonds are part of a $136,330,557 issue bought by the RFC last February when private banking syndicates declined to bid on the Arkansas obligations because they said they could not meet the RFC offer. The RFC now has sold $122,190,557 of the total, and has made a profit of $3,399,295, according to Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator.

Jones said the Halsey Stuart group paid 106 per cent of face value plus accrued interest for its 30 millions of bonds and that the profits made by the agency amounted to $1,800,000.

Offered in Several Series.

The banking group is offering the bonds in several series, at prices to yield the buyer 0.90 to 3.07 per cent, according to maturity.

Smith, Barney & Co. and 26 other investment firms will offer 160,000 shares of capital stock of the Pennsylvania Company for Insurance on Lives and Granting Annuities, Philadelphia, subject to stockholders' prior subscription.

The stock, of $10 par value, is priced at $28 a share to both stockholders and the public. Stockholders have until Nov. 17 to exercise their rights to buy additional shares on a pro rata basis.

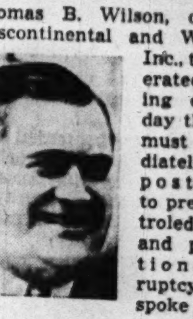
Two Issues Distributed.

Secondary distributions of stocks after the close of the market yesterday included 2,800 shares of American Can company common by Blyth & Co., at 77⅛, and 2,512 shares of William Wrigley Jr. company offered by Glore, Forgan & Co. at 67¼.

Chesapeake & Ohio railway accepted a bid of $71,735 from Hallgarten & Co., New York, for 67,484 shares of Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad common stock in a move to dispose of its remaining C. & E. I. holdings. The price was about $1.06 a share.

The Interstate Commerce commission authorized receivers of the Seaboard Airline railway to sell to the Reconstruction Finance corporation $3,552,000 of equipment trust certificates in connection with the purchase of 13 Diesel locomotives and 750 freight cars.

PLAN POST-WAR INFLATION CURB, WILSON ADVISES



Thomas B. Wilson.

Thomas B. Wilson, chairman of Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., told the Federated Advertising club yesterday that America must plan immediately for the post-war period to prevent uncontroled inflation and perhaps national bankruptcy. Wilson spoke at a luncheon in Hotel Sherman.

"With the government alert to the dangers of uncontroled inflation, we can expect additional taxes," he said. "And history proves that the days of reconstruction are lean days for the tax collector."

Wilson said the air lines will be expanded vastly and rapidly during the period of national rearmament and will extend service to many communities of moderate size. He urged the advertising groups to assist clients with studies of shifting populations, markets, and purchasing power for use in post-war commercial activities.

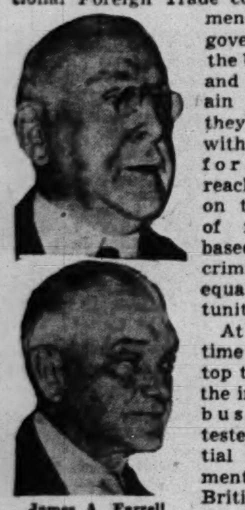
FOREIGN TRADE COUNCIL RAPS BRITISH PACTS

End Discrimination to Fight Axis, Plea.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—The National Foreign Trade council recommended to the governments of the United States and Great Britain today that they "seek now—without waiting for peace—to reach an accord on the principle of freer trade, based on nondiscrimination and equality of opportunity."



James A. Farrell [top] and Eugene P. Thomas.

At the same time the council, top trade body of the import-export business, protested preferential trade agreements within the British commonwealth of nations as not in accord with the general aim of United States policy for world-wide elimination of restrictions on foreign trade.

The council suggested early conferences on existing American-British, American-Canadian, and British-Canadian trade agreements.

Cites Atlantic Accord.

James A. Farrell, chairman of the council and former president of the United States Steel corporation, said freer trade relations with the British nations was implicit in article 4 of the Atlantic accord reached in meetings at sea between President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

This article committed the two governments to "endeavor, with due respect to existing obligations, to further enjoyment by all states, great or small, victor or vanquished, of access on equal terms, to the trade and raw materials of the world."

Eugene P. Thomas, president of the council and chairman of the exporters advisory council of the federally-owned Export-Import bank, said:

"We cannot view with indifference the continuance of the preferential tariff system in force thruout the British empire. Trade agreements entered into by the United States with Canada and the United Kingdom are at best a compromise of America's reciprocal trade policy which aims at the elimination of all discriminatory measures affecting foreign trade.

Aim to End Pitfall.

"With the establishment of such an accord between the British commonwealth and the United States, it should be possible, when the war ends, to avoid the pitfalls that led to international chaos after the World war.

"It should then be possible for the British commonwealth and the United States, with the support of other free nations, to lay the economic bases of peace on broad and coöperative lines.

"The people of the axis nations and those of the presently conquered nations have everything to gain by the acceptance of a new world order such as the Pan-American and British nations can underwrite from their dominant position in resources, shipping, trade, and finance.

"It is vital that the nations opposed to Hitler establish their ability to work together in winning the war and rebuilding the new economic world. Otherwise it is conceivable that we might gain the mastery over the axis and yet lose the fruits of victory thru inability to work together in harmony."

Some Restrictions Ended.

The council said that while British-American trade agreements now in effect have removed some of the restrictions in earlier treaties, they still fall short of reciprocal trade policy objectives.

It concluded that the United States and the commonwealth nations, by revising their trade relations now, could accomplish two other important objectives:

"Serve notice on the world they are determined to back the commercial declaration of the Atlantic charter with their combined economic powers—both now and after the war.

"Make it possible to delete from the 4th article of the charter its sole qualification, 'with due respect for existing obligations.'"

Bank Clearings Maintain Wide Gains Over Last Year

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Bank clearings in the week ended Wednesday maintained wide gains over a year ago in all reporting centers, Dun & Bradstreet announced today. The total of 23 cities for the five day week was $7,022,727,000, an increase of 24.1 per cent over the 1940 period, which also had but five business days, but $106,671,000 less than in the preceding full week. Chicago clearings were $433,200,000, an increase of 46.8 per cent over last year.

American Can Strike Ended by Union Vote

Acquiescing to a request of the Defense Mediation board at Washington, D. C., the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing committee announced yesterday that it had called off its three month strike against the American Can company at Chicago with the proviso that the board would hold hearings on the case as soon as possible.

About 2,300 men have been affected by the strike which was called when negotiations broke down between the company and the union over wage differentials in Chicago and Pacific coast plants. The union had sought elimination of the differentials.

In Chicago minimum wages paid men have been 60 cents an hour and for women 51 cents. On the west coast the minimums have been 77½ cents and 68½ cents, respectively. The affected plants are at 6017 South Western avenue and 1841 Clybourn avenue. It was reported that the union membership had voted to return to work Monday.

STRIKE DEVELOPMENTS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The strike of welders at three California aircraft plants was denounced yesterday by Sidney Hillman, associate director of the Office of Production Management, as "an outlaw, wildcat proposition and a definite interference with national defense."

He announced that a conference of the AFL metal trades unions would be held in Washington, D. C., Nov. 17, to discuss the grievances of shipyard welders whose strike he placed in a different category from that of the aircraft welders.

The shipyard welders, organized as the United Welders, Cutters, and Helpers of America [independent], contend that on some jobs they have been required to take out cards in two or three AFL unions because the AFL has refused to charter their union.

Charge "Goon" Beatings.

The shipyard strikers—estimates of the number varied from 5,000 to 20,000—agreed Wednesday to go back to work. However, some Los Angeles area welders returning to their jobs yesterday charged they were beaten by AFL "goon squads" and demanded government protection.

The aircraft welders are on strike at the Lockheed and Vega plants in Burbank, Cal., and the Consolidated plant at San Diego.

Knox Asks Strike's End.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 6 (AP).—The navy said tonight Secretary Frank Knox had urged AFL building tradesmen to terminate their strike at the naval training station and the marine's Camp Elliott, where work on $10,500,000 in navy projects was halted, with 1,435 employés on strike.

A news release from the 11th Naval district indicated a general building trades strike involving more than 3,500 employés threatened and would involve additional naval projects.

G. M. Workers Walk Out.

Linden, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP).—Frank Caul, who identified himself as a member of the strikers' committee, said tonight the night shift of 2,000 employés at the General Motors corporation assembly plant here had walked out in protest against working conditions. Caul said the company had refused to meet United Automobile Workers' [CIO] representatives to discuss grievances, principally the reported discharging of older men, who were replaced by new workers.

Issue Near Showdown.

Kearny, N. J., Nov. 6 (AP).—The issue whether the CIO held maintenance of membership powers under naval operation of the huge Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock company approached a showdown today when the industrial union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America, local 16, called on Rear Adm. Harold G. Bowen to invoke the clause.

The union asked that seven union members delinquent in dues be dismissed under recommendations of the National Defense Mediation board for settlement of the 16 day strike of last August.

MAKERS OF JUKE BOXES MAY TURN OUT WAR GOODS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 [Special].—Office of Production Management officials disclosed today that they are working on plans to shift the 20 million dollar a year juke box industry into the manufacture of incendiary bombs and other war equipment.

They indicated the OPM is preparing to force a cut in juke box output by making a drastic slash in the industry's raw material supplies. Last year 5,000 tons of steel, copper, rubber, lead, and zinc went into manufacture of the music slot machines.

It was indicated that juke boxes are going to be placed at or near the end of the priorities list as a nonessential product. For the immediate future, the industry faces the necessity of using substitutes for metals. Eventually, OPM officials said, the industry might be able to make bomb sights, incendiary bombs, and signal corp equipment.

Ordnance Orders in Chicago District Top Half Billion Mark

The army's awards of ordnance contracts to manufacturers in the Chicago ordnance district passed the half billion dollar mark three weeks earlier than had been expected, Col. Donald Armstrong, executive officer of the district, reported yesterday.

He announced that the district's receipts of ordnance awards now total $544,050,000, of which northern Illinois [Chicago industrial district] obtained $280,600,000; Wisconsin, $121,450,000, and northern Indiana, $92,600,000.

Totaled $1 Million Year Ago.

A year ago the awards totaled $80,900,000 and at the end of last September, $432,130,000. He said contracts have been let recently at the rate of 90 to 100 million dollars a month except for a lull in September.

Col. Armstrong observed that he had previously estimated the half billion dollar level in ordnance awards to the district would not be reached until Thanksgiving.

He predicted that a larger share of ordnance work will be given the Chicago area because ordnance producing capacity in the district is only 25 per cent utilized, while in the east the munition factories are approaching their saturation points.

Industries in the east, he said, entered the munitions industry earlier than those in the Chicago area, and have approached capacity levels earlier. He said that new plants probably will be constructed in the Chicago district to handle large contracts that cannot be assigned to existing facilities.

Discussing the efficiency of Chicago district armament plants, Col. Armstrong reported that inefficient management has caused delay in only five or six of the 426 prime contracts. Rejections of manufactured items are scarce, he said.

A BOOMING INDUSTRY.

Washington, Nov. 6 [Special].—A jump in deliveries of critical military items in October to 80 times the rate shown in May, 1940, was reported today by Maj. Gen. Charles W. Wesson, chief of ordnance. He predicted that the rate of multiplication over the base period would rise to 265 in March, 1942, and to 360 by next June.

AIR TRANSPORT FUTURE BRIGHT, SAYS PATTERSON

The pattern for the future of the air transport business and the aviation industry generally is similar to that of the automobile industry prior to the World war, W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines, told the Junior Traffic club of Chicago last night.

W. A. Patterson.

"We saw mass production of the automobile after the war," Patterson said, "and that generation grew up with the desire to own and ride in an automobile. Today we see the identical pattern in the aviation business. A generation that was about five years old when we started operating our transcontinental route is reaching maturity. That generation has grown up building airplanes and airplane models, and having the desire to ride in an airplane. That is the potential air travel market."

Patterson was the principal speaker on the club's "air transportation night" program in the Palmer House.

RAIL FREIGHT TRAFFIC DECLINES AGAIN LAST WEEK TO 894,739 CARS

Revenue freight loadings by railroads during the week ended Nov. 1 totaled 894,739 cars, a decrease of 18,866 cars, or 2.1 per cent, from the preceding week, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

Altho considered less than seasonal, the decline carried shipments below the 900,000 car mark for the first time since the Labor day week ended Sept. 6. Loadings last week increased 99,942 cars, or 12.6 per cent, over the corresponding 1940 week.

PRIORITIES WILL HIT HARDEST IN NEXT 3 MONTHS, SAYS ODLUM

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 6 (AP).—Floyd B. Odlum, head of the contract distribution division of the Office of Production Management, predicted today that priorities for arms production would hit small industry hardest in the next three months.

If we can get by that period, and I believe we will, there shouldn't be an idle plant in the country," he said in an interview upon his arrival for the opening of a five day midwest arms clinic and exposition.

Odlum outlined what he termed a simple formula for keeping small factory pay rolls going. It is, he explained, a matter of breaking down armament buying into smaller orders and putting market places all over the country with samples of what the government wants.

Department store sales in the 7th [Chicago] federal reserve district last week were 22 per cent larger than a year earlier and 1 per cent larger than in the preceding week, the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday.

Chicago sales were 19 per cent above a year ago, but almost 2 per cent lower than in the preceding week. For four weeks ended Nov. 1 district sales were 11 per cent and Chicago sales 9 per cent above the levels of the corresponding period last year.

Last week's sales thruout the country were 18 per cent higher than a year earlier, against a gain of 8 per cent shown in the preceding week. The average gain over 1940 was 11 per cent in the last four weeks.

FAIR STORE BUYS MORE OF ITS SITE

BY AL CHASE.

One of the largest loop real estate transactions in several years was closed yesterday when The Fair store bought part of the land under its 11 story building from the Stearns estate for $625,000. The property at the northeast corner of Dearborn and Adams streets fronts 190 feet on Dearborn and 61.9 feet on Adams.

This rounds out a land purchase program started two years ago when 104 feet of Adams street frontage, east of and adjoining the property bought yesterday, was acquired from the Stearns estate for $625,000. Altogether The Fair has paid the estate $1,175,000 for land under the store.

Remainder of Site Leased.

The rest of the land under the store, east of the property bought from the Stearns estate and extending to State street, is owned by the Otto Young estate and the Ogden Sheldon estate, and is occupied by the store under a lease expiring in the year 2020.

The Fair, of which James S. Schoff is president and A. C. Gay, secretary, paid $195,000 cash in yesterday's purchase and gave a purchase money mortgage for $430,000, for 20 years, negotiated thru the Prudential Insurance company of America, for the balance.

Price $53.14 a Square Foot.

The Fair paid $53.14 per square foot for the 11,761 square feet bought yesterday. On a front foot basis $1,009 per foot was paid for the Adams street frontage. Figuring it from the Dearborn street side the price was $3,289 per front foot.

The Fair was founded in 1875 by the late E. J. Lehmann with a 16 foot store on the west side of State street, just north of Adams, on part of the present store site which fronts on State, Adams, and Dearborn.

HENDERSON ASKS STOVE AND RADIO PRICE FREEZING

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6 (AP).—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today asked manufacturers of stoves and radios not to raise prices above those prevailing Oct. 24 and Oct. 15, respectively.

Henderson said he took the action to hold prices firm pending determination of the effect on the two industries of production curtailments.

He said he expected to ask manufacturers of glass making machinery, printing presses, and other printing machinery not to increase their prices above July 29 levels.

RAILWAY LABOR MARKS TIME ON WAGE PROPOSAL

One Group May Act at Meeting Today.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Railroad labor leaders were marking time last night on action to be taken on the recommendations of the Presidential fact finding board for settlement of the railroad wage dispute. There were these developments during the day:

1. Executives of the Big Five operating brotherhoods met in the Morrison hotel with their general chairmen but recessed to convene again this morning. A spokesman said there was "some possibility" of a decision being reached today.

2. Officials of the 14 nonoperating unions called their general chairmen to attend a meeting in Chicago next Wednesday. Bert M. Jewell, spokesman for the group and president of the American Federation of Labor's railway division, said that no official comment on the recommendations would be made until after the meeting.

No Strike Date Set.

Meanwhile union officials had nothing to add to their previous sharp criticism of the board's report, issued Wednesday, and railway management representatives were silent after their brief statement expressing "disappointment" with the settlement. No strike date was set.

The five man fact finding board, headed by Wayne L. Morse, dean of law at the University of Oregon, recommended to President Roosevelt that the operating employés be granted a wage increase of 7½ per cent. For nonoperating employés, the board proposed an increase of 9 cents an hour, equivalent to an average increase of 13½ per cent, and a week's vacation with pay each year.

The operating brotherhoods [engineers, trainmen, and switchmen] had asked a 30 per cent wage boost. Nonoperating unions [representing most of the carriers' other employés] sought a wage increase of 30 cents an hour, with a minimum of 70 cents an hour, and two weeks' paid vacations each year.

Two Points of Criticism.

Labor leaders criticized the board's recommendations on two grounds, that the increase was insufficient, and temporary rather than permanent. [The board recommended that the increases terminate Sept. 31, 1942, unless extended by agreement.]

Railroad executives said the increased costs entailed in the recommendations would impose a severe financial burden on the carriers. Including increases for railway express workers, the recommended wage boost would cost the railroads 270 million dollars, the fact finding board estimated. This would be about half the 550 million dollars in annual fixed charges which the roads must pay.

Opposition also was expressed to the board's suggestion that freight and passenger rates might have to be raised to meet the increased costs.

Bryan Opposes Boost.

Expressing the views of the shipping public, J. E. Bryan, president of the National Industrial Traffic league, said:

"It is difficult to see how American industry could stand an addition of 270 million dollars to its transportation cost should the public be made to pay the wage increases."

About 1,200,000 workers are involved in the dispute. Under the railway labor act neither party to a dispute may take an overt step until 30 days after a report has been rendered by a Presidential fact finding board. Should the railroad workers decide to strike, as has been indicated by some of their leaders, the strike could not take place under the law before Dec. 5.

Raps Pretense Seaway Would Help Defense

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6 [Special].—The Roosevelt administration's effort to shove thru the St. Lawrence seaway project in the guise of a defense measure was assailed here today by Lachlan Macleay, president of the Mississippi Valley association.

Lachlan Macleay.

In an address before the St. Louis Women's Chamber of Commerce, Macleay declared that the plan is sponsored by selfish interests seeking to provide power for New York state, that the seaway could not be completed in time to be of any use in the armament emergency, and that it would seriously hamper the arms program by diverting materials and manpower.

Calls for Defeat of Bill.

Macleay, observing that the administration has sought to win votes for the project by including it in the rivers and harbors bill, called for defeat of the entire bill, if necessary, to prevent approval of the seaway, saying:

"Usually the rivers and harbors bill is a good bill. This one contains authorizations for a few projects which the Mississippi Valley association is supporting. These few projects would contribute directly to the armament program. But we are so strongly convinced that the St. Lawrence seaway is not only a bad thing for this country, but a dangerous project at this time, that we would rather see the entire bill defeated than to have congress approve the seaway."

Calls Cost Prohibitive.

The financial load which the project would impose on taxpayers also was cited by Macleay.

"We are scraping the bottom of the barrel to find money to finance the arms program," he said, "and we are devising new forms of taxation which will be the heaviest in our history. We are badly in debt and chronically insolvent. Why, then, should we divert our man power, our time, and our money from defense problems when every ounce of our energy and every dollar of our revenue is needed to deal with our enemies and our debts?

"Seaway proponents realize their defense argument is weak, and they attempt to bolster it by predicting a long war. But the best engineering judgment is that the seaway could not be completed before 1947, and we believe that long before that this war will have been decided."

BUYING OF METAL FURNITURE SETS PACE FOR SHOW

Percy Wilson, managing director of the Merchandise Mart, reported that furniture manufacturers in the mart have begun to adjust allotments of goods to their customers on the basis of purchasing power in the retailers' districts. Dealers in areas where armament projects have boosted buying power are receiving a larger proportion of their year ago purchases than dealers in districts not affected by the armament boom.

Chicago Firms Get More Army Supply Contracts

War department contracts awarded yesterday included the following to Chicago companies: Automatic Transportation company, trucks, $66,960; Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, telephones, $25,875; Western Electric company, Hawthorne works, cords, $18,900; and American Automatic Electric Sales company, switchboards and equipment, $20,400.

BORG-WARNER, RCA EARNINGS UP FOR QUARTER

Auto Parts Maker's Net Much Larger.

Borg-Warner corporation last night reported an estimated September quarter profit nearly twice as large as in 1940, while Radio Corporation of America disclosed its September quarter earnings were only slightly higher than a year ago after setting aside approximately five times as much to meet soaring federal taxes.

Borg-Warner, Chicago manufacturer of automotive parts, household equipment, and armament items, estimated its quarter earnings at $2,343,385, or $1 a share, compared with $1,294,248, or 55 cents a share, last year. The company set aside $2,846,089 for federal and Canadian taxes in the 1941 period.

Nine Month Net Up 2 Million.

Estimated net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30 was $6,350,930, or $2.71 a share, compared with an indicated net income in the first nine months last year of $4,125,231, or $1.76 a share. Set aside in the 1941 period for federal and Canadian taxes was $8,159,049.

Radio Corporation of America, which has varied activities extending into virtually all branches of the radio field, had third quarter profits of $2,063,671, compared with $2,023,822 in the 1940 period. Earnings in each quarter were equal to 9 cents a share.

The company's tax bill for the 1941 period was $4,729,900, more than twice its net income, compared with $944,000 set aside in the three months ended Sept. 30, 1940.

For the nine months ended Sept. 30 the company earned $7,370,165, or 36 cents a share, compared with $5,209,043, or 20 cents a share, in the first nine months last year. The nine months tax bill was $9,469,900, against $2,523,900 a year earlier.

Mack Truck Earns More.

Mack Trucks, Inc., earned $1,207,810, or $2.02 a share, in the third quarter compared with $353,559, or 59 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period. Federal taxes totaled $1,465,000, against $150,000 in the third quarter last year.

United Gas Improvement company, large Philadelphia utility holding company, reported its September quarter profit was $3,963,778, or 13 cents a share, compared with $6,547,351, or 24 cents a share, in the corresponding 1940 period. Yet the company had to set aside for federal taxes $3,979,534, against $1,676,856 in the 1940 third quarter.

Reliance Manufacturing company, Chicago garment maker with army contracts for parachutes and clothing, reported third quarter profit of $242,311, or $1.01 a share, compared with $66,523, or 21 cents a share, in the 1940 September quarter.

RAIL STOCKS HIT BY PROFIT SALES; LIST ENDS LOWER

Treasury Tax Plans Curb Rest of Market.

New York, Nov. 6 (AP).—Rail stocks switched to the losing track in today's market and carried many industrial leaders with them.

Scattered favorites managed to edge upward at the start and cling to modest advances thruout, but declines of fractions to 2 or more points far outnumbered gains at the close.

The reversal of the strong carrier trend of Wednesday was attributed principally to indications that brotherhoods were dissatisfied with the wage boost recommendations of the President's fact-finding board. Most believed a strike hardly was likely, but it was recognized as a possibility. Quick cashing of profits on the previous day's run-up was the consequence.

Index Off Half a Point.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell .5 of a point to 40.6, biggest drop in this barometer since Oct. 16. Dealings, fast for a while in the forenoon, slackened as the session proceeded. Transfers totaled 673,940 shares, compared with 919,300 yesterday.

Good earnings statements and favorable dividends were plentiful. Announcement the treasury would ask congress for new multibillion taxes on personal incomes, however, tended to offset cheerful business statistics.

Railroad bonds took a mild beating today but the rest of the market was steady and a number of issues emerged with small plus signs. Transfers of $8,161,000, face value, compared with $13,893,375 the day before.

CHICAGO PRICES DROP.

Prices slumped yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Twenty-three issues advanced, 55 declined, and 22 closed unchanged. Transactions totaled 32,000 shares.

Volume leaders were Chicago Corporation on turnover of 5,600 shares, closing unchanged at ½; Commonwealth Edison, 4,500 shares, off ⅝, to 22¼, and Libby, McNeill & Libby, 3,300 shares, up ⅛, to 5¼.

BUTTER AND EGG PRICES AT STILL HIGHER LEVELS

Wholesale egg and butter prices recorded new gains yesterday. Fresh first grade eggs advanced a cent to 36 cents a dozen and top qualities continued at 37½ cents, the highest in 11 years. Butter rose ¼ to 1 cent with the best grades at 37½ cents a pound.

Vast government buying of dairy products once more was the dominating factor in the butter and egg markets. The Federal Surplus Commodities corporation, government purchasing agency, announced it had purchased 5,694,200 pounds of cheese for England this week along with 801,520 pounds of dried milk and 997,750 cases of evaporated milk.

The rise in the wholesale market stimulated an upturn in futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. Eggs for future delivery rose more than ½ cent a dozen and butter futures advanced about ¼ cent a pound. Wholesale egg prices in the cash market have advanced as much as 3½ cents a dozen this week and butter about 2 cents a pound on some grades.

Urges Illinois Truckers to Answer Inventory Poll

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6 (AP).—Illinois bus and truck operators were urged today by Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes to make a return this week in the nation-wide inventory of highway transportation facilities. Approximately 250,000 truck and bus owners in this state were polled by mail in the survey.

Commodities

Cotton futures declined 15 to 30 cents a bale yesterday on hedge selling and scattered liquidation. Trading operations were said by brokers to have been restricted because of price control legislation uncertainties. It was reported that late cotton in northwest Texas had been caught in a killing frost.

Cottonseed oil closed 0.04 to 0.09 cent a pound lower, and coffee was unchanged to 0.06 cent a pound lower. Cocoa and hide futures were moderately higher.

World sugar closed irregularly higher after early gains to new seasonal high marks. The domestic contract was inactive. Wool was unchanged to 0.4 cent a pound higher.

SPECIAL 20 CENT DIVIDEND VOTED BY BORG-WARNER

Long Lapse Broken by Pan American Airways.

Directors of the Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, yesterday declared a special dividend of 20 cents and a regular payment of 50 cents, bringing this year's dividends to $2, against $1.50 in 1940. The company at mid-October was reported to have received more than 72 million dollars in government armament program orders.

Pan American Airways corporation authorized a $1 dividend, the first since Nov. 1, 1938 when 25 cents was paid. An extra dividend of 25 cents was declared by Central Aguirre Associates, Boston sugar company.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator company authorized an extra dividend of 25 cents and the regular quarterly payment of 50 cents.

Year's Payments Doubled.

Dividends of $1.50 on the common stock and $1.75 on the preferred were authorized by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company. The Western Maryland railroad announced a $7 dividend on first preferred shares to apply against accumulations, duplicating a payment of November, 1940.

BANKS' EXCESS RESERVES STILL OVER 3 BILLIONS

Hike in Requirements Cuts Nov. 5 Total.

Reserve system member banks still had 3 billion 410 million dollars of excess reserves against deposits on Nov. 5, in spite of the Nov. 1 change in reserve rules which boosted the legal requirements, the federal reserve board reported yesterday.

The Nov. 5 total of excess reserves, constituting idle lendable funds, represented a drop of 1 billion 190 million dollars from the amount reported Oct. 29, before the new requirements went into effect. The reserve board ordered the reserve requirements increased so that the banks would have less idle money on hand to act as a potential inflationary influence.

The board's report follows:

It Would Take TWO SOLDIERS' FIELDS and the Cub Ball park for the overflow to hold all of Community Motors more than 200,000 satisfied customers.

The reason for this tremendous sales volume is because Community Renewed cars are not only different from ordinary used cars on the outside but on the inside as well. And it's amazing to know that they cost less than average used cars.

Every Community Renewed car is completely reconditioned with our exclusive check over system and you also receive Community Motors Good Will Bond written in plain English and we cheerfully live up to it.

Before you buy a used car it will pay you well to inspect our fine selection of Fords, Chevrolets, Plymouths, Pontiacs, Buicks, and other popular makes. Prices are attractively low. Your present car will undoubtedly act as a down payment.

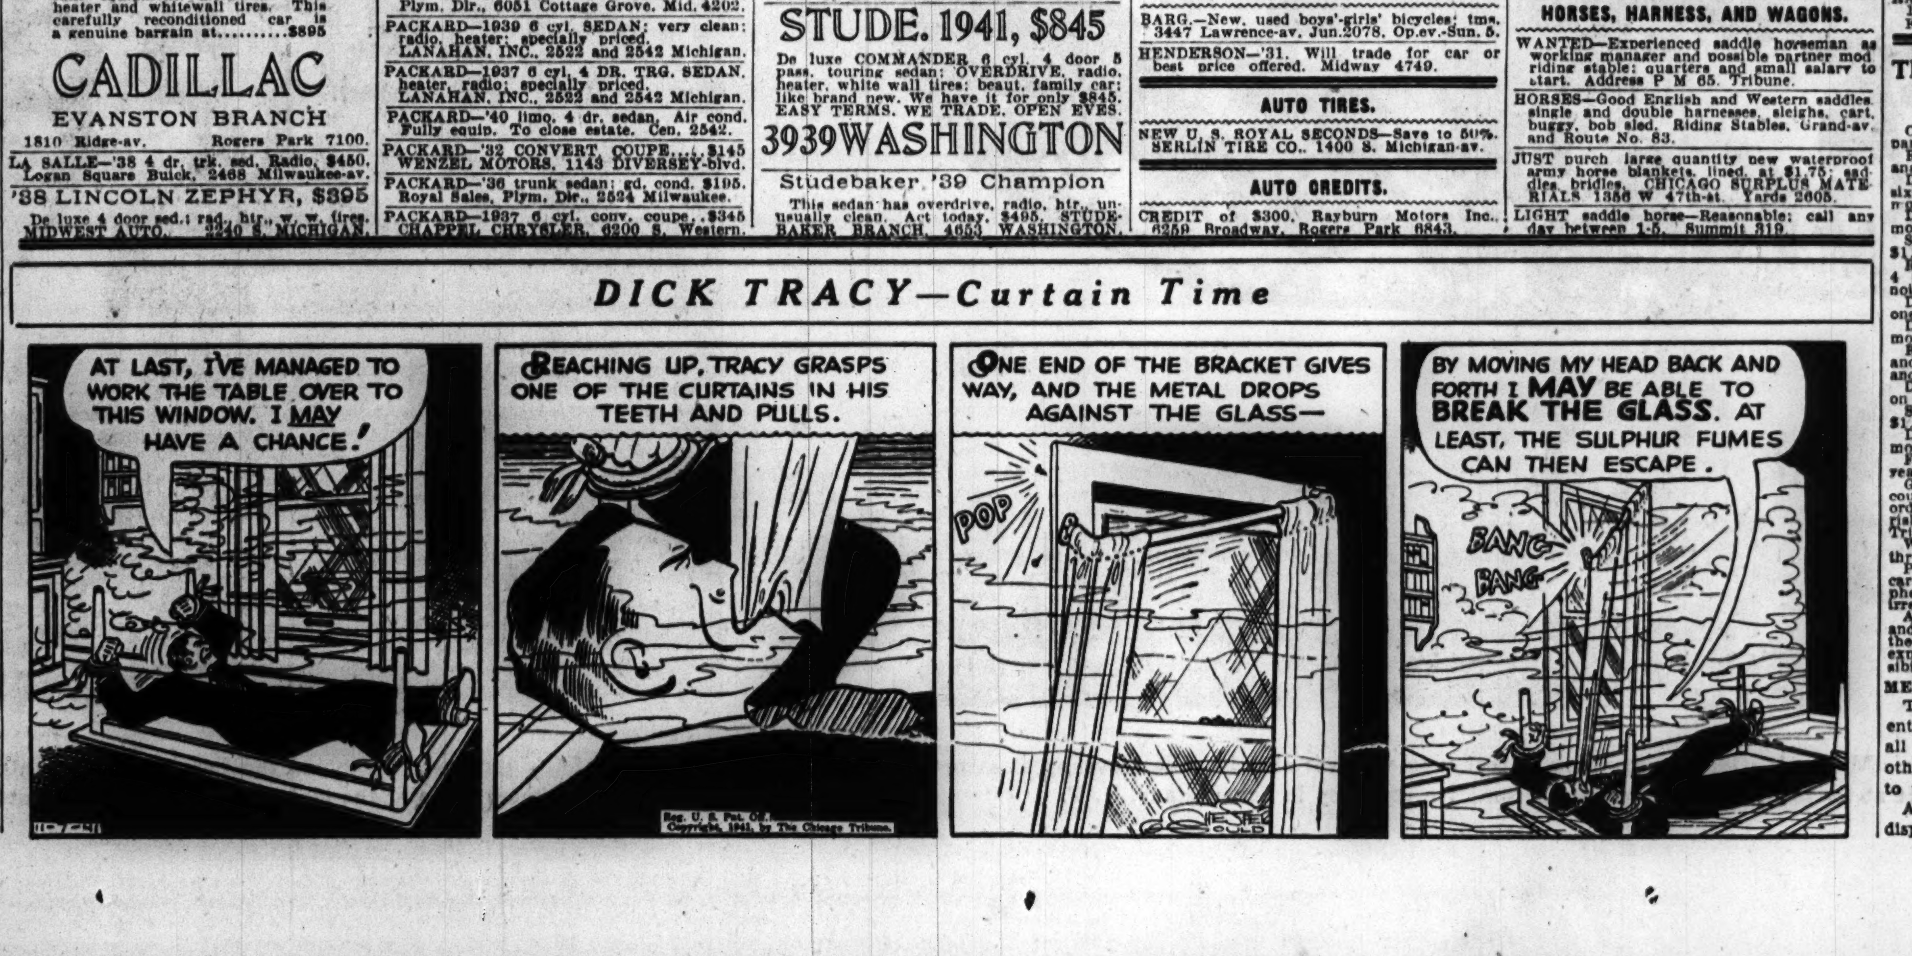
DICK TRACY—Curtain Time



AT LAST, I'VE MANAGED TO WORK THE TABLE OVER TO THIS WINDOW. I MAY HAVE A CHANCE!
POP
BY MOVING MY HEAD BACK AND FORTH I MAY BE ABLE TO BREAK THE GLASS. AT LEAST, THE SULPHUR FUMES CAN THEN ESCAPE.
